

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, APRIL 7, 1866.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

FAST DAY, fell on a most fortunate time; every thing was in favor of its general observance, in such way as to incline and feeling might prompt. Nature put on her best smiles. Our churches were well attended—and the soft, balmy air, and the curls of the early songsters invited many abroad in pleasure rides or visits to the sea shore. In the evening, the lovers of the Drama and Muse, assembled in large numbers at the Town Hall, to enjoy an entertainment provided for them by the HANCOCK GLEE CLUB. It was the largest social gathering, (with one exception) that has honored that place this season. Every seat was occupied, and the aisles and gallery filled, and when the curtain rose, a series of anxious faces were presented. The Wet of the Fish-ton—the first piece in the order of the programme, was brought out in excellent style and taste. The lives and characters of the Red Man and his White Brother, who took so active a part in the drama enacted at that period, were many of them finely personified. The other entertainments that followed were interesting, and afforded a fund of amusement. The band discoursed some of its best music—and Mr. Galen Bowditch, Jr., in one of his popular songs, brought the house down in rounds of applause. The evening's entertainment closed with a social dance. The CLUB, in bidding adieu to their friends for the present, to recuperate their energies for another season, carry with them the best wishes of the community.

FIRE. A very old barn situated near the Stone Church, Railway village, was destroyed by fire on Saturday evening last. We learn that about fifteen tons of salt hay and an express wagon, belonging to Mr. Olin Bates, were also destroyed. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

FAREWELL ADDRESS. Mr. Lysander S. Richards, who is about moving to the city, delivered a very interesting farewell address in Rodgers' Chapel on Sunday afternoon last. His remarks were mainly to the society, but partly to the Children's Progressive Lyceum, which was organized through his earnest endeavors and has up to this time continued to "progress." He spoke encouragingly of the free platform that the society had erected and hoped it would continue to be maintained, where all the reforms of the day could be spoken fearlessly and boldly. He said the old religious societies were growing more and more liberal and gave examples of the same. Also, that the society worshipping at that place must expect to be persecuted, as all new societies before them had been. He spoke earnestly nearly an hour, to a full house, and was listened to with much attention.

SAD ACCIDENT. On Friday evening Mr. John Bicknell, of Neponset, while descending a flight of stairs, with a kerosene lamp in his hand, fell and was burned so badly that he died on Sunday. Mr. Bicknell, was about 75 years of age, a mason by trade, and one of the oldest residents of Neponset village.

Charles A. Spear, of this town, this week slaughtered a calf five weeks old which was sold in Boston market, for $29.80 cents. Who speaks next?

NORFOLK AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY. At the recent annual meeting in Dedham, of the Norfolk Agricultural Society, the following were elected officers for the year ensuing:—

President—Hon. Marshall P. Wilder, of Dorchester; Vice Presidents—Amos A. Lawrence of Dedham, Olin Cary of Foxborough, John Gardner of Dedham, Stephen W. Richardson of Franklin, Elijah Tucker of Milton, Henry Green of Dorchester; Corresponding Secretary—Charles C. Sewall of Medford; Recording Secretary—Henry O. Hildreth of Dedham; Treasurer—Chauncey C. Churchill of Dedham; Executive Committee—Marshall P. Wilder of Dorchester, Cheever Newhall of Dorchester, Aaron D. Weld of West Roxbury, Joseph H. Billings of West Roxbury, H. Hollis Hunnewell of Weymouth, William R. Mann of Sharon, Truman Clarke of Walpole, Charles Brock of Milton, Francis P. Denny of Brookline.

Those in want of good onion and squash seeds will find some of the best quality at the stores of Messrs. Whitney & Nash and Geo. L. Baxter & Co., raised by Geo. H. Arnold of this town.

Those in want of fine pear trees will do well to call on Mr. Eli Hayden. He has some excellent ones for sale.

Those intending to set out strawberry plants this spring, will find the best varieties for sale by Wm. Gardner Prescott.

LARGE ARRIVAL. About 12000 tons of coal arrived at Neponset, on Wednesday last.

Farmers and others visiting the city for garden or field seeds or any kind of agricultural implements, will find an excellent place to trade at Whittemore, Belcher & Co., 39 & 40 South Market St., Boston. They are energetic young men, determined to give good bargains to their customers, and we would invite our readers to give them a call.

WING'S FARINA CRACKERS. Every one has heard of them, the most healthy and delicious nourishment ever made. They are advertised in our paper to-day, and all dealers keep them, or ought to. None are genuine but those having the name A. WING stamped upon them.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

BOSTON, APRIL 5, 1866.

LOCALS

This being Fast Day, every thing wears the appearance of Sunday. The man of business rests from his labor; and one is deeply impressed with the solemn associations of the Sabbath as he walks "about town." In the evening matters will be different—fun, frolic and plays will close another anniversary, set apart by the Pilgrim fathers as one of prayer and humiliation. In good truth, our modern "Fasts" are mere holidays, by which piety and morals are rather injured than benefited. The business record of this week shows an improvement compared with the closing of March. The diffusion of millions of dollars from the semi-annual dividends paid on Monday last, increases the surplus of capital and continues the money market easy for borrowers. The prospects of remunerative business for the industrial classes, are not auspicious; and mechanics here are making up their minds for a dull spell. To meet the present wants of tenantry, two thousand houses are needed for erection in and near Boston at the present moment. With the high prices of labor and materials, few buildings will be erected.

The case of Green, the Malden murderer, was decided by the Supreme Court on Tuesday. The Court deny the prayer of the petitioner for a writ of error, and decide that the penalty of the law must be inflicted. The execution is to take place on Friday next. The result was in accordance with the public mind.

WASHINGTON ITEMS

The rejoicing over the late Connecticut election among many Republicans is very great. Others of the same party see but very little in the result of the election to rejoice. The Peace Proclamation, though expected for some time, creates quite a sensation. It says nothing about restoring the writ of habeas corpus to the South, but it is supposed that the declaration, stating that peace exists, carries all rights with it. The military will be drawn from the interior and placed elsewhere. Secretary Seward favors the Proclamation. It is now uncertain whether the Civil Rights Bill will pass over the veto. The chances, say the Baltimore Sun, "are that the radical movement will succeed, and that the Senate will soon be enabled to hold the rod of impeachment over President Johnson." Strong and we should think injudicious language. The talk about impeachment of the President and the apprehension of a forcible entry into the halls of Congress by the new members of the late rebel States are coined for sensation capital.

GOVERNMENT TAXES

It is said that a new Tax bill will be reported soon, reducing the present taxation from fifty to seventy-five millions. That taxes on labor will be greatly lightened. Income tax to be 5 per cent., and all below one thousand dollars to be exempt. A union of sentiment between the Executive and Congress is vital to the speedy and complete pacification of the country. As time passes we hope the acrimony between the President and Congress will fade away. Mr. Johnson but a few days since stated, that his only aim was to carry out the policy of reconstruction laid down by his lamented and honored predecessor, Abraham Lincoln. Why should the union republican party that holds so strong the political power of the country desert him? On all great and vital points which underlie the question of reconstruction, the President agrees with Congress. Both are identified with the grand union organization which has carried the country safely through the war. The platform of reconstruction is wide enough to admit differences of opinion which the minds of large-minded statesmen could harmonize. As in the dark days of the rebellion, when the very existence of the Union flickered in the socket—so now; the Government, which means the Executive and Congress, should be sustained, more especially as both are aiming to bring all the States into an indissoluble bond of union and perpetual peace, on the never dying principles of justice and equality to all.

NEW ENGLAND PULPITS. It is reported that not less than three hundred pulpits in New England are vacant for want of proper support, and that eight hundred are so poorly supported as to yield a bare subsistence to the clergy.

One day last week, while in Boston, we accepted an invitation from our advertising friend, Propeller Davis, to dine with him. In company with our friend we visited the City Hall Dining Rooms kept in an excellent manner by C. D. & I. H. Preshe, on City Hall Avenue, within a few feet of the New City Hall. We enjoyed our dinner much, and would advise ladies and gentlemen, when visiting Boston, to call at this genteel Saloon, where everything the appetite may suggest, is cooked with skill, and served in the neatest manner at reasonable prices. The proprietors are gentlemen who appear to understand their business to perfection.

We would call the attention of our readers to the change in the Old Colony and Newport running time, which takes place on Monday next. See advt.

Those in want of agricultural implements, seeds, fertilizers, &c., will find the largest and best selected stock at Parker, Gannett & Osgood, 49 North Market street, Boston, to be found anywhere in New England. All the new and best patent implements are sure to be found there. Those in want will do well to call on them.

We learn that Mr. Henry Edwards now in San Francisco, has signified his desire to become a member of the Quincy Charitable Society, and has contributed two dollars thereto. The thoughtfulness and genuine charity of heart which prompt such little acts as these are well worthy of imitation.

PRUDENTIAL COMMITTEES.

Section 7 & 8, Chapter 39, General Statute, seem to contain the only satisfactory explanation as regards the peculiar powers and prerogatives of the Prudential Committee. The first of these authorize the town to choose a Prudential Committee for each district, whose duties are defined as "Citizen" has explained; and one of these is, that "He shall keep the school house in good repair at the expense of the district." And Section 8 leaves this power of appointment to each district if the town shall so determine. The jurisdiction seems to remain the same whether the town elects these agents or permit their districts to do so. No other part of this Chapter relates to or qualifies these Sections—accepting in the case of negligence of districts to carry out its provisions to elect, &c. And these, I apprehend were intended to explicitly point out to what limit the rights of these agents shall run, no matter in what respect the town shall stand with the district, as regards ownership of school houses.

For is there really any difference in the ownership? If the district does not build the school houses, the town will; and the amount of taxation will fall equally upon the people as a general thing—whether the town votes to build school houses or the district. Each district in proportion to its numbers and wealth will in any case secure the same kind of house, and its tax-payers will have to pay the same amount of taxation. So whether the town votes the appropriation to build, or the school meeting does it, the school house belongs always to the people of the district, subject to the negative of the town. And even when the town votes to abolish this district system, by assuming this negative, they cannot take away the property of the district, without going through the form of appraisal and assessment, and remuneration to the tax-payers of that district as prescribed in Section 3d, in Chapter 39.

Section 18, same Chapter, reads "The legal voters of any district at a meeting called for that purpose, may raise money for erecting or repairing school houses in their district for purchasing or hiring any building to be used as school houses, and land for the use and accommodation thereof, and for purchasing libraries, school apparatus, fuel, furniture, and other necessary articles for the use of schools; they may also determine in what part of their district such school houses shall stand, and choose any committee to carry into effect the provisions aforesaid." And Chief Justice Shaw in a case in the 21st of Pickens, uses the following language: "We know of no law which prevents a school district when their school house is in their opinion too small or ruinous * * or when from any cause unfit, to vote to build another."

Section 19 qualifies Section 18 as regards school houses alone, and leaves it to the town if it thinks best, to carry into effect its provisions at the common expense of the town.

I see by the recent Quincy Town Report, that the incidentals are charged and paid by the town. Here the whole expense of this district system rests in the town. So the Prudential Committee are chosen by the districts, to carry out their limited instructions at the town expense; thus rendering the district but mere trustees to the town, to hold for the town, or for themselves independently, all the additional things they care to vote upon their own shoulders.

But this assumption of the town does not curtail the Prudential Committee's power; he must keep the school house in good repair, and has no way of putting this responsibility upon the School Committee; neither would it change. I do not believe, if the town should vote to build new houses, in different districts, that as far as the town can go, it is a simple saving to the district. "We prefer to give you at our expense a school house"—and for this they cannot take away any of the Prudential Committee's powers in the face and eyes of a Statute that commands what in all cases their jurisdiction shall be.

So it seems to me, that as the powers of the Prudential Committee are explicitly laid down, they cannot be departed from—whether the district or town pays for it, or whether the school is a private gift. He is the servant to regulate these distinct instructions. The office is instituted for that purpose, and impart statutory regulations—there can be no change; for it matters not to him, as the district's agent, whether the district owns or not—its people use it, and the Prudential Committee cannot or need not enquire into it; his business is to abide by the Statute and his district's vote.

PRESENTATION.

The friends and former scholars of Miss M. A. Holbrook, late teacher of the Adams Intermediate School of this town, paid a Surprise Visit to her on Tuesday last, at her present school-room, (the Coddington Primary, No. 1.) and presented her with a beautiful silver cake basket and fruit knife, as tokens of their regard for her, and appreciation of her faithful services as teacher of the school first named. The presentation was very prettily made by Misses Lizzie Mitchell, and Maggie O'Neil, pupils of the Adams Intermediate. Messrs. Barker, Mitchell and Pratt, of the School Committee were present by invitation, and made short remarks. There was a very full attendance of the members of the first named school. It was one of those occasions long to be remembered by both teacher and scholars, and was affecting in the extreme. No one who was present could fail to see the profound friendship that had grown up between the members of this school and their teacher—and it was no little source of regret that one who has served so long and faithfully in public schools should fall a victim under the new administration.

The cost of assessing and collecting the internal revenue of the United States for the last year was $4,769,666, or about 2 1/2 per cent. on the amount collected. Massachusetts stands first in point of economy, as well as in the amount collected.

ADAMS LITERARY ASSOCIATION. At a special meeting of the Adams Literary Association, held on Friday evening, March 30, the following Resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, One of our oldest and most valuable members is about to leave us for a new sphere of influence and usefulness, and being unwilling that he should leave without some testimonial of our regret, therefore be it

Resolved, That in losing L. S. Richards, Esq., the Adams Literary Association is deprived of one of its most valuable members, a faithful friend to its interest, and one whose place it will be hard to fill.

Resolved, That the good wishes of the Association accompany Mr. Richards in his new field of labor.

Resolved, That a copy of these Resolutions be tendered Mr. Richards, and also, that they be inserted in the Quincy Patriot.

He enlisted under Capt. E. A. Spear, Co. D, 39th Mass. Regiment, and served with credit three years, the term of his enlistment was discharged with the company. He was the only support of a widowed mother, whose loss no one but her son can tell. May God be with her in these trying moments and guide her in the path of peace and pleasantness.

The Cholera Among Us.

If the conclusions of our scientific men prove correct the Cholera will soon visit this section of the country. Wherever it prevails it is no respecter of persons. None are safe. The strongest and most healthy are often first to fall victims.

The city and town authorities among us are looking after the sanitary affairs of their cities and towns. The physicians are educating themselves in the nature and character of the disease. With these facts plainly before us every wise man will lose no time in securing a Life Policy for as many thousand dollars as he can afford to pay. The young men at the age of 25 years, can, by paying an average of 8 cents per day secure to their family in case of his death $2000, or for 12 cents per day $3000, by the Mutual Benefit Co., which is only about $25 or $38 per year. There are but very few who cannot save this much from their wages which are unnecessary and needless. What an inducement!

Fathers and mothers who have in your care and training the rising generation this subject invites your serious attention. You cannot discharge your duty to these little ones only by providing them with all the comforts and advantages of life in your power against all contingencies. Now is the time no company will be likely to insure when the trouble comes. As an investment there is no place where money is so sure to go to a large return.

Selected Poetry.

THE BEST THING.

Rainbow flowers are sweet to see,
Early in the sunny Spring;
Pansies are blue, and fair and gay,
But I know a purer thing.

Bright-eyed birds go flitting by,
Borne along on tireless wing,
Here-and-there through all the air,
But I know a lovelier thing.

And the sun goes mounting up,
O'er the world his smile to fling,
Bringing light, so rich and bright—
But I know a brighter thing.

Purer than the little flowers,
Gentler than the bird's delight,
Brighter than the noonday sun,
Is the heart that hears aright.

Let us pray for such a heart,
While our lives are glad and gay!
And in childhood learn to love,
What will bless life's latest day.

Farmers' Department.

APRIL ON THE FARM.

We abridge from a long editorial article in the Massachusetts Ploughman, one of the best agricultural papers published in New England, the following excellent advice to farmers:—

"Everything now betokens the rapid advance of spring. The buds begin to swell, the 'cuckins' to hang gracefully on the willows, the grass along the water-courses to grow green, and the soil and mellow air to grow more and more genial. The plow will soon start in the furrow, and the land must soon be put in order for the spring grains.

"A full supply of manure is perhaps the most important requisite for comfort and satisfaction, at this season of the year. With plenty of manure the farmer seems to have command of the situation, so to speak. He can do what he wants. Manure will give him crops that will make the heart rejoice to look at. But don't try to make it too far. Better manure one lot thoroughly than half manure the whole farm. Not that we would treat one lot to a bountiful supply to the neglect of other parts of the farm.

"Stock is scarce, and is going to command a high price for some years to come. If, therefore, you have any heifer calves from first rate cows and pure bred bulls, you may venture to raise them, even at considerable expense, and be sure they will pay well for raising. There never was a time in the history of our modern farming when it was so important to raise the best of your heifer calves. No farmer who gives his attention to this, in a proper manner, can fail to make it pay this season.

"And so, too, now that meats of all kinds are enormously high, it cannot fail to pay to raise all the poultry you can. Indeed, we fully believe there is no kind of stock that pays so well, in a small way, as the raising of poultry. In the summer the country is full of city visitors. They want poultry. They want your earliest and largest and fattest spring chickens, and they are willing to pay for them, too. You might as well cater a little to their delicate appetites. And you can make them pay better than you can your corn.

"As to the root crops, the onion, which pays so well under good treatment, should be got in as early this month as possible. Put on ashes, if you can get them, and bone-dust, anything but organic or barnyard manures full of the seeds of weeds. Soon after the little threadlike plants show themselves above ground, sow on a light coating of fine saw dust. The fumes of turpentine will keep off the fly. Then in a week or so, sow on another thin coating of the same. This costs but little and the labor of applying it is trifling, and it may save you from the devastations of the maggots.

"As to carrots, there is a difference of opinion as to the best time to sow them, some taking the ground that they do as well sown late, and claim that the trouble of weeding is less. But no weedy land should be selected for carrots, any how. We go in for early sowing of carrots. We should say as soon after the middle of April as the ground is in readiness. We are then sure of a larger growth and a longer growing season. They come slow and we give them more time."

REMEDY FOR CHIR-BING. Get a piece of tin, an old wheel tire, say one and three-quarters or two inches wide, and raise it in a parallel position about an inch above the edge of the front and back side of the feed box, by fastening it at the end, and bracing it in the middle; and placing in this position the animal has nothing but the sharp edges of the box to catch hold of.

Jneedotes.

A storekeeper the other day stuck upon his door the following laconic advertisement:—

"A boy wanted."
The next morning, on opening the door, he beheld a little urchin in a basket with the following label:—
"Here he is."

"Digby, will you have some of the butter?"
"Thank you, marm, I belong to the temperance society, and can't take any thing strong."

"Pa, what is meant by raw recruits?"
"It means soldiers who have not stood fire, child."

"Oh, I know—same as chestnuts, after they are roasted, they ain't raw."

"Pa" was done brown.

When is a wave like an army doctor?
When it is a surging.

CLOSING OUT SALE
—OF THE—
NEUFCHATEL WATCH CO.,

Owing to the failure and sudden close of the works and business of the

a large number of Fine Watches, manufactured especially for the United States, being heavy, first-class time-keepers, intended to stand hard usage and sudden change of temperature, are left in our hands for immediate sale. As agents of the Company, we are obliged to dispose of this Stock for Cash, in the shortest possible time. We have, therefore, decided on the plan annexed, as the one that will be productive of the desired result. This plan gives every one an opportunity of obtaining first-class time-keepers at a price that all can command. As every Certificate represents a Watch, there are no blanks, and every one who invests in this sale gets a Watch at half the retail price at least; and, if at all fortunate, one to wear with pride through life. Remittances may be made at our risk, in Registered Letters or by express, or Post-Office Orders and Drafts payable to our order, and we guarantee a safe return. This INSURES safe delivery and sure return to every patron.

We warrant every Watch as represented, and satisfaction is guaranteed in every instance. Knowing the worth of the stock, we can give a warrant to every purchaser. The price has been placed at the very low figure in order to insure immediate sale; and all who desire to improve the opportunity should make early application.

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]

We are gratified to hear of the continued successes, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T.

Helmbold, Druggist. His store, next to the

Metropolitan Hotel, is 25 feet front, 220 feet

deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly

a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of

the merit of his articles. He retains his Office

and Laboratory in this city, which are also modest establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this

statement from the fact that his remedies, although

advised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,

And knowing that the intelligent refrain from

using anything pertaining to Quackery or the

Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simple prescription,

much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical

preparations.

24 BROAD STREET, BOSTON.

[From Ex-governor Holbrook, of Vermont:]

Bradley's X L, Nov. 28, 1865.

Wm. L. Bradley, Esq., Dear Sir: For several years past, I have usually used your

Super-Phosphate of Lime. In field cultivation, I have used it extensively for corn, and

potatoes, putting a tallow-spoonful in each hill,

and also, when sowing clover to grass, with a grain crop, sowing from 250 to 300 pounds per acre, broadcast.

The healthy growth, and abundant crop

of grain, and the superb catch of grass, in each instance resulting from the broadcast use of the Super-Phosphate, have but not a word of complaint escaped her lips. So one day the husband ventured to enquire of her how she liked the wood. "Oh, it is beautiful wood," said she; "I wish you'd get another load, for it lays round the pot so complete."

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, APRIL 14, 1866.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

ENTERTAINMENT. The Mt. Wollaston Lodge of Good Templars, advertises a grand dramatic and musical entertainment at the Town Hall, on Thursday evening next. They have procured new and beautiful scenery from Boston; and intend to offer our citizens one of the best dramas ever performed in this place. It is very affecting, and shows, step by step, how fast our young men can go down to disgrace and ruin. The Braintree Glee Club, who have called forth on former occasions many applauses from our citizens, will be present to enliven the occasion. Signor Gomez and Professor Crane are expected. Beautiful tableaux and excellent singing will intersperse the entertainment.

AUCTION. Our readers will notice by referring to our advertising columns that the valuable estate on Sea Street, the homestead of the late Alpheus Spear—is to be sold at Auction on Thursday next. It offers a grand chance for capitalists to invest their funds; or any one wishing a small farm in the centre of a flourishing village to raise early vegetables, will find this just the place. The land is excellent and will produce large crops.

WE learn that the Rev. William A. Fuller of this town, (formerly Unitarian) and the Rev. J. G. B. Heath, (formerly Universalist) have applied for admission to orders, and will assume the duties of their vocation in the Episcopal church.

For the Patriot.

WHO CAN ANSWER?

To the Publisher of the Patriot.
It is in order, I should like to enquire, through your columns, under what pretence or shadow of right a teacher of long experience, and who is commonly confessed to be one of the most acceptable of the town has ever been favored with, has been summarily dismissed from the position which she has so satisfactorily filled. I ask, not in her interest, but in the interest of truth and justice. It is right that the town should know whether such acts as these have any justifiable cause, or are merely the offspring of personal pique.

TRUTH.

WE learn that the house occupied by Rev. E. P. Thwing, corner of Hancock and Greenleaf streets, has been purchased by Mr. Noah Curtis.

MASSACHUSETTS. The Augusta, Ga. Chronicle says the power of this little fanatical State in our Government, at home and abroad, may not be generally known. No other State in the Union enjoys equal honors.

Out of the twelve leading foreign missions, Massachusetts holds three, to wit: to Great Britain, Austria and China. Massachusetts Senators are the Chairman of two leading Committees in the Senate to wit: Mr. Sumner on foreign Affairs and Mr. Wilson on Military Affairs.

Five leading committees of the House, have Massachusetts men for their chairmen, to wit: on Elections, Post-office, Naval Affairs, Foreign Affairs and Freedmen.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

BOSTON, APRIL 12, 1866.

LOCALS.

General business is improving. In the foreign line there is a large amount of merchandise in Boston and other of our principal seaports, for which there is little demand. In many cases British goods have been re-shipped for want of a paying market here. Government bonds now rank among the best securities for investment and periodical income; and bid fair in due time to bring their par value in gold. Bank stocks and the shares in the leading railroads are bringing satisfactory prices. The city has a very lively appearance. Large numbers of strangers are here, but they have not yet found the famous new hotel, that is so much talked about. A charter has been granted to build it, and Boston has given its assent for the removal of the old burying ground on the Neck on which to locate it. But the hotel has not got along yet. The latest audit is that it may find a resting place on Beacon street, opposite the Common.

The steamship China which sailed hence for Liverpool on Wednesday, took out one hundred and eighty-three passengers, a large number of Bostonians who go abroad for the purpose of business or pleasure. She carries $50,000 to Halifax, but none to England, which is somewhat significant. It is cheaper now to make a European tour, than to travel to Montana or the far distant territories of the great West.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

The matter of equalizing the bounties of soldiers is I think disposed of at present. The Committee to whom the subject was referred have reported unanimously against it. Our present war debt of the State is over seventeen millions of dollars. There has been paid for bounties $13,061,000. For State aid $8,600,000. Even to pay the interest of the issue of scrip for the proposed bounty bill would require $2,600,000 a year, and the ordinary State expenses at a million dollars more. This would involve a tremendous tax. The Legislature has acted wisely on this important matter, and its members will be sustained by their constituents. The Usury Bill is not yet disposed of, but it is probable, if any legal standard is fixed, it will be 7 per centum. In the State Senate on Wednesday a bill was reported to convert a part of the State Almshouse at Bridgewater into a State Workhouse. A running debate came off in considering the bill relating to the right to serve on juries in criminal cases and of challenging them. Mr. Morse of Norfolk made a very able speech on the subject, opposing that feature in the bill which allowed the prosecuting officer to challenge peremptorily two jurors. The bill however passed by a vote of twenty to five. This bill has a direct bearing on liquor prosecutions; thus offering another bar against the sale of spirituous liquors. The opponents of the prohibitory law both in Washington and here have displayed great activity and talent worthy of a better cause. The fiat has gone against them and it becomes them with good grace to submit to the majesty of the law. The friends of temperance have the inside track and mean to keep it.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.

The veto by President Johnson of the Civil Rights Bill disappointed and sorrowed many of his strong supporters. As an offset to this, the President says he shall promptly execute the law. He can do no less. In fact the Civil Rights law as now passed, will exert itself through the Federal Courts. The first section of the law is now in force, declaring who are citizens of the United States, and it will remain in force until either repealed or set aside by the United States Supreme Court.

The Reconstruction Committee will in a few weeks report a plan for the early restoration of the Southern States.

For the Patriot.

LIGHT WANTED.

I am anxious to have some legal and definite opinion upon the question lately raised, viz: Whether our School Houses, being, as I am informed, town, and not district property—do not rightfully come under the charge of the town's agents; i. e., of the General Committee?

As for the Communication of 'Cypres,' in your last issue, I have to confess myself stupid enough to be unable to fathom its meaning. A translation of it into every-day English, for the benefit of the common reader, might throw some light upon the subject.

CITIZEN.

EXECUTION OF GREEN. The last scene connected with the terrible murder in Malden, perpetrated something over two years ago, was enacted in the jail yard, in East Cambridge, yesterday forenoon. Edward W. Green, the confessed and convicted murderer of Frank E. Converse, there paid the penalty of the law for his crime, by yielding up his life on the scaffold. There were about three hundred admitted to witness the solemn scene.

WE would call the attention of our readers to the new confectionery store, opened by Mr. Grover, on Washington Street. All kinds of choice confectionery, manufactured by himself, are kept for sale at reasonable prices. Ladies and children will find this an excellent place to buy sweet-meats.

JACKMAN & MERRILL are quite jubilant at their ability to meet their customers on the same accommodating terms, as in times when money was money, and speculation had not run mad. This welcome tidings they are enabled to announce in advance of the trade, as will be seen by their card in another column.

West Bridgewater has raised $1780 for a soldier's monument in that town.

Summary Intelligence.

A writer in the Western Recorder says, in a neighboring State, I learn that there is one preacher who has charge of four churches, edits a newspaper, is President of a Female College, runs several pedlar wagons, keeps a farm, and owns several patent rights which he farms out.

A living horse was sold by auction for a cent a pound at Springfield on Saturday.

The Legislature of Maine have passed a law imposing a fine of ten dollars for killing a mink, sable, otter, fisher or muskrat between June 1st and Oct. 12th.

The Erie despatch says that a well in that city has come so near striking oil as to send up two codfish tails, a dead rat and a very bad smell, and that a further yield is highly probable.

A railway company in France was lately compelled to pay $200 damage to a passenger for detention, the train being so behind its time as to cause him to miss a connection which it was necessary he should make in order to complete a business transaction.

Gas made from peat is said to be every way superior to that made from the best coal.

The estimate expense of re-modeling the state house at Boston, so as to give better accommodations for the various departments and committees, is $100,000.

An English Journal contains an advertisement announcing that a pew in a certain church is to be raffled for.

Mrs. Ellen Judd, residing near Indianapolis, Indiana, walks two miles and cuts a cord of wood every day, by which means she supports a large family of children.

By keeping steadily drunk for one year in Missouri, you can be divorced without fail. Isn't this a premium on drunkenness.

The Commissioners of Pensions having been asked whether pension money can be attached for debt, has replied in the negative.

Milk is now sold by some of the dealers in Salem at seven cents a quart, with the promise that in the course of a week or ten days customers shall be supplied for six.

United States greenbacks are current in Canada at 77 cents on a dollar.

The death of a Mormon bishop is thus announced in a Salt Lake paper: "He was thirty-seven years old, and leaves an interesting family of eleven wives and forty-seven small children to mourn his death."

San Francisco is talking about a new water front, to be made by filling in a large area of flats. With the projects for making new land here and there it would seem that though "the whole boundless continent is ours," it is not broad enough.

The prospect for fruit in Wisconsin was never better. An examination of buds has shown that the frost did no harm.

Flocks of wild pigeons are flying northward—precursors of warm, spring weather.

There are sixteen hundred forty-three National Banks, with a circulation amounting to $261,630,920, and with a total capital of $412,633,236.

A BARGAIN. Houses appear to be scarce and from all accounts it will be next to an impossibility to procure a good house in a month or more. For this reason it gives us pleasure to call the attention of those in pursuit of a dwelling, to a modern built house at Quincy Neck, owned by Mr. Smalley. It will be sold cheap if called for soon. There is a fine orchard also, capable of bearing thirty barrels of apples the present season, besides pears, cherries, peaches &c. There is no better bargain in real estate offered in Quincy to our knowledge.

THE TAX ON INCOMES. A Washington dispatch states that the Ways and Means Committee have agreed to let the exemption of tax on incomes stand as it now is, at six hundred dollars, adding fifty dollars exemption for every child in a family up to fifteen in number.

VOLUNTEERS RELEASED. The President has issued a Proclamation allowing all the volunteers, officers and enlisted men, to withdraw from the army.

There were formerly 700 churches in Moscow, but the Emperor Nicholas considered this too many for a respectable community, and 300 were by his order torn down.

INSURANCE COMPANY. The following gentlemen were chosen Directors of the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Company at their annual meeting, held on the 4th instant.

The Cholera Among Us.

If the conclusions of our scientific men prove correct the Cholera will soon visit this portion of the country. Wherever it prevails it is no respecter of persons. None are safe. The strongest and most healthy are often first to fall victims.

The city and town authorities among us are looking after the sanitary affairs of their cities and towns. The physicians are educating themselves in the nature and character of the disease. With these facts plainly before us every wise man will lose no time in securing a Life Policy for as many thousand dollars as he can afford to pay. The young men at the age of 25 years, can, by paying an average of 8 cents per day secure for his family in case of his death $2000, or for 12 cents per day $3000, by the Mutual Benefit Co., which is only about $25 or $38 per year. There are but very few who cannot save this much from expenses which are unnecessary and needless. What an inducement!

Fathers and mothers who have in your care and training the rising generation this subject invites your serious attention. You cannot discharge your duty to these little ones only by providing them with all the comforts and advantages of life in your power against all contingencies. Now is the time no company will be likely to insure when the trouble comes. As an investment there is no place where money is so sure of so large a return.

Selected Poetry.

FORGET NOT THE UNHAPPY.

Forget not the unhappy,
Amid the bright and gay,
It will not take you nothing
The world can give you nothing
It will not take you nothing
Make much then of the moments
You never can renew,
And forget not the unhappy,
For, oh! their friends are few.
Their friends are few, and faintly
They whisper comfort now;
And offer scant assistance
With cold and cautious brow;
Each minute they are gazing
Upon their watch to go;
Oh! forget not the unhappy,
For kindness cometh slow.
Forget not the unhappy,
Though sorrow may annoy,
There's something then for memory
Hereafter to enjoy.
Oh! I will not forget my friend
Some flowers for others strew;
And forget not the unhappy,
For all their friends are few.

Farmers' Department.

FOOD FOR THE GARDEN.

Flowers are gross feeders, and if you keep no domestic animals, you fancy, perhaps, that you have no manure. You never were more mistaken. Every human dwelling is a centre of fertilizing agents, mostly wasted as times go, rich enough to make the whole plot around it blossom as the rose. Tell the soil that you have nothing to give it! Give it what you have and it will laugh in your face. The suds from the laundry is a store of liquid wealth. Never waste a drop of it in drains or sewers. It is a floating currency promising to pay roundly in grass and vegetables and fruit. Invest it in your home laud, which never surrenders payment. These grassy suds are greenbacks, whose issue is as good as gold. Carpet sweepings are manure in a concentrated form. Dig into your flower borders they weave a richer pattern than the one from which they were worn. Those old bones that deform the premises, if buried beneath the grape vine, will be "health to the bones" of all your friends. Old boots and shoes, those most unsightly wrecks, are the favorite food of the raspberry and all its palatable kind. Tainted brine, if such unhappily is yours, is a treasure for the plum trees and the asparagus bed; slacken lime with it, and it will make a rich dressing for any garden soil. Every household should have its compost bed, be it only an old packing box, where woolen rags, bits of paper, apple parings, refuse of vegetables, slops from the kitchen, chips and sawdust are storing up the elements of a glorious growth. Let not yours be one of the homes where all these bright possibilities arrive only at "burning instead of beauty." We have named but a part of the fertilizers of every household. Generally speaking, whatever is offensive to the sight or smell is urging the appeal to our revolved tastes—bury me and I'll do you good.

TALKING WHEN MILKING.

We have seen it noticed somewhere, that talking while milking is not good—that a cow will give less milk, etc. We think we can say we have had experience in this way. It comes under the head of quick milking. A fast milker is better than a slow. Talking is very apt to retard milking; not only that—a skittish cow will be uneasy where too much ad is, where another person is present, especially a stranger. We think we have seen a decrease of milk where a talking person was present. We prefer milking alone, and as fast as possible. Quietude and contentment are great qualities in a cow. A wild cow is not generally a good one. If she is, she will be much better when tamed and domesticated.

LICE ON FOWLS.

Do not let your hens grow poor and cease laying, because they are covered with lice, when a remedy is in almost every house—we mean kerosene oil.—Take each fowl and rub a small quantity under each wing, and we will venture to say they will thank you, whether the lice do or not.—J. L. H.

We tried the above on our fowls, but found that pure kerosene oil was too strong. It turned the color of the skin, which soon peeled off. It should in all cases be diluted with a little water, and applied with great care. We found the use of sulphur well dashed into the plumage, an effectual remedy.—Eds. Am. Farmer.

Incidents.

A doctor was summoned to a cottage at Harwood, in England, and found a boy in need of his services.
"Show your tongue," said the doctor.
The boy stared like an owl.
"My good boy, let me see your tongue," repeated the doctor.
"Talk English, doctor," said the mother, and then turning to her son, said:—"Hopen thy gobbler, and push out thy jolker."
The mouth flew open and the doctor was terribly "taken in."

Why is a carpenter's wife likely to be an unhappy woman? Because her husband is most commonly a joiner, (jawn-ier.)

"If," said an Irish apothecary, "you find three tumblers of whiskey punch disagree with you over night, don't take 'em till the next day, and then leave 'em off entirely."

NEUFCHATEL WATCH CO.

Owing to the failure and sudden close of the works and business of the

a large number of Fine Watches, manufactured especially for the United States, being heavy, first-class time-keepers, intended to stand hard usage and sudden change of temperature, are left in our hands for immediate sale. As agents of the Company, we are obliged to dispose of this Stock for Cash, in the shortest possible time. We have, therefore, decided on the plan annexed, as the one that will be productive of the desired result. This plan gives every one an opportunity of obtaining first-class time-keepers at a price that all can command. As every Certificate represents a Watch, there are no blanks, and every one who invests in this sale must get a Watch at half the retail price at least; and, if at all fortunate, one to wear with pride through life. Remittances may be made at our risk in Registered Letters or by express, or Post-Office Orders and Drafts payable to our order, and we guarantee a safe return. This is the only safe delivery and sure return to every patron. We warrant every Watch as represented, and satisfaction is guaranteed in every instance. Knowing the worth of the stock, we can give a warrant to every purchaser. The price has been placed at the very low figure in order to insure immediate sale, and all who desire to improve the opportunity should make early application.

mended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism,

a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of

the merit of his articles. He retains his Office

24 BROAD STREET, BOSTON.

[From Ex-governor Holbrook, of Vermont:]

Brattleboro' Vt., Nov. 28, 1865,

WM. L. BRADLEY, Esq.,—Dear Sir: For several years past, I have annually used your

Super-Phosphate of Lime. In field cultiva-

tion, I have used it extensively for corn, and

potatoes, putting a table-spoonful in each hill;

and also, when sowing land to grass, with a grain crop, sowing from 250 to 300 pounds per

acre, broadcast.

The healthy growth, and abundant crop of grain, and the superb catch of grass, in each instance resulting from the broadcast use of the Super-Phosphate, have paid well for its application; when applied in the hill, for corn,

it hastens the crop, giving it a deep green

and luxuriant growth.

In the garden, I use the Super-Phosphate

with marked success, for peas, beans, beets,

and other roots, sweet corn, early potatoes,

cabbages, &c., applying it in the hill or drill,

or broadcast on the garden beds. Its effects are striking and excellent, and particularly valuable on all such vegetables as one may desire to force along to early maturity.

I should be quite unwilling to dispense with the Super-phosphate, either in the garden or field.

I should state that manure is generally applied broadcast in the land, in addition to the use of the Super-Phosphate, excepting in the case of sowing to grass, when Super-Phosphate is sown broadcast on all such lands as are about taking a good catch of grass.

Very truly yours,

FREDERICK HOLBROOK.

THE ENTERTAINMENT. The performances at the Town Hall this week by the Mt. Wollaston Lodge of Good Templars, surpassed everything of the kind that has been given in this town this season. The very long but beautiful drama, entitled Ten Nights in a Bar Room, was performed most admirably. The audience, which was a perfect crowd, was not obliged to wait five or ten minutes between each part for the actors to get ready, but each one appeared to be "up and dressed." Some parts of the drama were very touching in the extreme and so well were they performed that many of the eager eyes of the attentive audience were moistened with tears. The Braintree Glee Club did exceedingly well; and so did Signor Gomez and Prof. Crane, and received unanimous applause. We would be pleased to mention the names of some of the actors, they performed so perfectly, but room will not permit.

BODY FOUND. The dead body of a man, apparently about thirty-five years of age and about five feet four inches in height, was found in the water near Preston's Grove, last Tuesday. Upon the body was found a pocket-book containing a small amount of currency, a knife, a piece of gold chain and a watch guard of hair. The body was well dressed in plaid pants, dark cloth coat and vest, woolen undershirt and drawers and a good overcoat. Coroner Vose was called to view the body, which was taken in charge by Undertaker Sarell Glensom, at the Post Office.

GRANULAR FUEL. The modus operandi in the manufacture of this cheap and convenient article of fuel, is very simple and rapid. The young growth of oak, birch, hickory, etc., from one to three inches in thickness, and varying from six to twelve feet in length, untrunked and unshorn, are thrown into the hopper of one of Daniel's patent "Granular Fuel Cutters," and passes under the knife of the great chopping machine, which is secured firmly to a revolving cylinder, and comes out at the other end in pieces which may be gathered up in a small vessel. It takes but a few seconds to make a bushel basket full.

Steam has been used, in times past at the establishment, as a propelling power, but Mr. Lee, the proprietor, has made a change—substituting horse power—as more economical and portable—as he intends in future to go through with the whole operation of preparing his fuel on the ground where it is gathered—a saving of time and expense. Another feature connected with this establishment, is worthy of mention; wood, for domestic or other purposes, is cut to any desired length, and returned to the owner. A step in the march of improvement that will be appreciated by many a lord of creation.

SPRING, which has been lingering on its way, has at last overtaken us. The thoughts of the people are all turned out of doors; the garden and farm now claim their attention. The ribs of the crust-brown earth is being broken by the plough, hoe and shovel, and made ready for the reception of seed. Every thing looks encouragingly for the husbandman, and from present appearances, there is a promise that the season will, in some things, be a very fruitful one.

SAD DISASTER ON THE SOUND. The steamer City of Norwich of the New London and New York line, came in collision with a schooner off Huntington, on the morning of the 18th inst. The schooner struck her amidships cutting through. The water rising in the steamer lifted her fires so that they communicated to the wood work, and the steamer was entirely destroyed. She had about fifty persons on board, about forty of whom were saved by boats from the steamer Electra, from Providence. The remainder are supposed to be lost. The schooner was abandoned sinking, and the captain and crew taken on board the Electra.

THE SHOE TRADE. The Shoe and Leather Reporter says that the history of the trade cannot show the time when such large losses have been made on manufactured goods as during the present season.

CRIMINAL AFFAIRS AT DEPHAM. The April term of the Superior Court at DePham commences next week on Tuesday, and the Grand Jury will probably report on Friday. Among the prisoners awaiting examination are Dennis W. Daly, charged with the murder of Pat Rooney on the 23d of October last. John Moran, charged with the shooting of Miss Kearney in Roxbury, March 19. F. T. Sloan, F. E. Skins, and S. G. Thayer, charged with robbery at Blue Hills. Francis Schreier, forger. Peter Gately and Michael McGreevy, rafe. C. B. de la Vergne, false pretences. W. B. McGrover, and Charles Porter, breaking and entering. There are now forty persons in the House of Correction, and thirty-six in Jail, a somewhat small number. Some thirty of the former are employed brush-making in an upper room of the building, under a contract which commenced operations on the first of the month, and proves quite successful. Of twenty-four cases that will be sent to the Grand Jury, half have served in the army or navy. The whole establishment is in the best condition—Traveller.

BOSTON, APRIL 19, 1866.

POLITICS IN WASHINGTON.

A prominent indication for changing party tactics is the withdrawal by Mr. Seward, the Premier, of Government patronage from many of the Republican party; finding, as he says, none but Democratic journals which support the President's re-construction policy. "Phillips," the regular correspondent of the Boston Traveller, compliments Secretary Seward as follows:

"The events of the last year have aged him amazingly. He is in some respects a broken man and unfit for his place. His temper gives way at the slightest strain. But he is the President's favorite. Mr. Seward and Mr. McCulloch are both of them very earnest advocates of the President's re-construction policy."

No small portion of the union republicans are disposed to leave the President out in the cold; and some of its editors denounce him in bitter terms. The dominant party should sustain the President, Cabinet and Congress in considering the great problem of re-construction. They all have the good of the country at heart, and a passage-at-arms now and then, on a difference of opinion among those high functionaries will do no harm. As the case now stands, the President would seem to have one advantage over Congress. The former has a definite plan for re-construction; the latter has failed so far to fix upon any plan. It cannot be doubted, that Mr. Johnson in his differences with Congress, feels the force of public opinion, and would unite in a friendly and courteous spirit on a plan of restoration; so that the several Southern States as fast as they give in their specified adhesion, would become once more fully recognized as members of the Union. A gentler spirit is wanted between the President and Congress to bring the country into a more satisfactory condition for pacification. The Government must be sustained now, as in the days of the rebellion.

LEGISLATURE—PASSAGE-AT-ARMS.

The present Session of the State Legislature is approaching the evening of its existence; and we can tell better what has been done, when the Governor has completed signing the Bills and Resolves sent to him. The session for the most part has been quiet and orderly, even to tameness; but on Monday last, p. m., a breeze was raised in the House during the debate on the "Soldier's Bounty Bill." Mr. Pierce of Dorchester, Republican, charged Mr. Spofford of Newburyport, that he had aided and sympathized with secession and rebellion. Mr. Spofford exclaimed in an exciting manner, "the gentleman lies." The Speaker immediately told Mr. Spofford, that he had used insulting language to the House and must take his seat. Great excitement followed among the members and spectators in the galleries; there being many soldiers in the latter. After much discussion on this breach of legislative etiquette, a calm succeeded the tempest, and Mr. Spofford was allowed to conclude his remarks. Mr. Spofford is a prominent Democrat, and Mr. Pierce, of that class called radical Republicans; both are talented men. This question of equalizing the bounties has been made a political one by the debate, and the minority party hope to make capital for future investment. The intelligent people of Massachusetts are not prepared to shoulder an additional debt of sixteen millions of dollars, until our finances are able to bear it. Justice must and will be done to her noble soldiers who went forth to save the Republic. But the time has not yet arrived for the Commonwealth to reward her soldiers who crushed the rebellion. It is but a work of time, and full justice in the end will be awarded them.

THE CHOLERA. The expected advent of this dreaded visitor to our shore is this early realized, and in so virulent a form as to startle our most serious apprehensions for the future. The terrible state of things on board the steamer England which lately arrived at Halifax reporting 160 cases of the disease, 50 of which had proved fatal within a week, tells us what we may expect with the arrival of every emigrant ship from Europe. Young and old will do well to read the advertisement of E. A. Hill, headed "The Cholera among us."

MAINE BANK BILLS. It may not be generally known that the time when the old issues are redeemable expires this year, for all the banks in this State. And as they are plentifully in circulation just now, our readers should be cautious in taking them, as a third part of their bills are already worthless, while only one—the Oakland Bank—will run till December. Then all the bills of this description will be outlawed.

LECTURES ON AGRICULTURE. This is a very neat and interesting little book, from the French of George M. Ville, Professor of Vegetable Physiology at the Museum of Natural History, Paris. The Professor appears to have devoted much patient study to the subject, and presents the result of his investigations, finely illustrated, in a course of six lectures. His theories, many of them are new, and created quite a sensation in Parisian circles. Much he says is yet to be learnt, and by applying scientific principles to the industrial pursuits of agriculture, much to be gained. He is a warm friend of the agricultural interest—considers it the handmaid of civilization and national independence, and that every government should extend to it its fostering care. Our farmers should read it. By remitting thirty cents to A. Williams & Co., 100 Washington street, Boston, it will be forwarded to them by mail.

TO THE LADIES OF QUINCY AND VICINITY. If you want a stylish hat or bonnet at a reasonable price, please call at Miss Hussey's near the Quincy Post Office, and examine her new styles.

PRESENTATION.

The former scholars of Miss M. A. Prescott, late teacher of the Coddington Intermediate School met at the Grammar School Room, last Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of taking farewell of their teacher who has been elected to one of the public schools at Newtonville. The room was nearly filled by Miss Prescott's scholars, together with many of her friends, who improved this occasion to congratulate her on her promotion, and to thank her for her faithful and arduous labors in years past. S. Morse, Jr., Esq., in a very neat and caustic speech, presented her with an elegant watch-chain and pin, on behalf of her former pupils. Miss Prescott responded with some well chosen and feeling remarks. The meeting was presided over by Charles Marsh, Esq. The exercises were interspersed with singing by a portion of the school. It was obvious to the most casual observer that Miss Prescott had succeeded in securing the esteem and friendship of her scholars, and the confidence of the patrons of the school. There seemed to be a general feeling on the part of both parents and scholars, that great as is their present loss, they are peculiarly fortunate in securing the services of a successor of established reputation as a teacher.

TO-MORROW—SUNDAY—the Rev. S. T. Aldrich, pastor of the Universalist Society of this place, will discourse both morning and afternoon upon the subject of "Religious Revivals," including a photograph of the revival now in progress at Park street church, Boston.

REMEMBER. That beautiful estate of George R. Smalley at Quincy Neck is still in the market. Those in want should not wait too long, for you may lose the best chance to purchase, that will be offered this season.

Mr. Conway writes to the Commonwealth that Charles Francis Adams is openly quoted in London society as endorsing President Johnson's policy.

EXHIBITION. The Sabbath School connected with the Universalist Society in this place propose giving one of their favorite exhibitions on Monday evening, April 30th. Full particulars next week.

WARLIKE MOVEMENTS. Major General Meade and his staff passed through Boston, Wednesday last, on their way to the Maine border, to look after the Fenians. The entire command at Fort Warren, some 400 strong, received orders to be in readiness to march at a moment's notice.

A FEARFUL FALL. On Wednesday afternoon last a man employed in taring the roof of the new six story building No. 15 Otis street, Boston, made a mistake and fell into the street, striking upon a pile of laths which had been dumped but a few moments before he fell. No bones were broken, and the man appeared to be but slightly injured.

Charles Durfee of Fall River, saw an embankment on the line of the Old Colony and Fall River railroad fall recently, completely covering and blocking the track. He at once notified the managers of the road of the accident, and they were enabled to clear the track, and prevent disaster or delay. A free ticket for life is the reward given Mr. Durfee for the important service he rendered.

ALMSHOUSE ESTABLISHMENT. Mr. Charles Spear for a number of years the popular Superintendent of the Poor Farm in this town has received an invitation to take charge of the Dorchester Almshouse, at a salary of $600 dollars per year; he town of Quincy paid him $350. We learn that he has accepted the invitation and will leave here about the first of next month. We learn that Mr. Andrew B. Morse recently from Worcester, has been hired to succeed Mr. Spear.

Our readers should not fail to read Jackman & Merrill's advertisement in to-day's paper.

FIRE IN DORCHESTER. The alarm in Dorchester at about four o'clock Thursday morning, was caused by fire in the barn of Mr. T. V. Shaw, situated on Harrison Square. The barn was full of combustible material, and in spite of the energetic efforts of the Dorchester firemen, and the citizens in the neighborhood, it was in a short space of time totally destroyed. It contained a large quantity of hay, a cow, two valuable horses, two carriages, and a number of harnesses. These were all consumed in the flames with the exception of the horses which were rescued. The loss was about $2000, on which there was an insurance of $1200. It was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

The key board of the organ in Grace Church, Chicago, is in a corner of the centre aisle, twenty feet from the instrument. This is linked sweetness long drawn out.

In a mile of the Atlantic cable now being made, there are, besides the Manila which holds the composition, seven miles of copper wire, four miles of gutta-percha, ten miles of galvanized wire, and fifty miles of Manila spun yarn. That is to say, again excluding the loose Manila which laps the gutta-percha, in every mile of cable there are seventy-one miles of material.

The value of the foreign goods imported into New York, during the month of March reached sixteen millions of dollars.

A widow lady of Danville, Ky., took an orphan boy to raise, quite small, and when arrived at the age of 18 years she married him, she then being in her 50th year. They lived many years together happy as any couple. Ten years ago they took an orphan girl to raise. Last fall the old lady died, being 96 years of age, and in seven weeks after, the old man married the girl they had raised, he being 68 years old, and she 18.

Miss Ann R. Adams, an ancient maiden, sixty-eight years of age, residing in Danville, Va., is cutting her fourth set of teeth and growing a new crop of dark hair. Mrs. Elizabeth Christy, a widow lady sixty-five years of age, living in Winchester, is cutting a new set of teeth, after being toothless for years.

The New Albany, Indiana Commercial remarks that houses are so scarce and rents so high in that city, that several men are building flat-boats, intending to anchor them out in front of the city and move their families into them. Several of these marine dwellings are now in course of construction at the city wharves.

A spot, or rather cluster of spots, of very unusual size, may be seen on the Sun's disc. It is so large as to be conspicuously visible to the naked eye when the sun is looked at through a colored or smoky glass; or, as happened recently, through a fog of suitable density.

The readers of newspapers have doubtless noticed the many advertisements—generally emanating from the cities—of twenty-five cents.

An honest farmer saw an advertised receipt to prevent wells and cisterns from freezing. He sent his money and received this as answer: "Take in your well or cistern on cold nights, and keep it by the fire."

CURRANTS AND GOOSEBERRIES.

Among the smaller fruits, none possess greater value, in our humble opinion than

the currant, and yet none have less atten tion at the hands of cultivators. It is pre sented that not one person in a hundred understands the simple process of cultiva

ting either currants or gooseberries, al though it has been detailed in all the hor ticultural publications with which the world abounds. Thousands of persons with every appliance for success are still

content to live without a plentiful supply of these delicious, healthy and cheap lux

uries, merely because they have not paid

any attention or thought to the matter.

They have a few stunted bushes set in the grass, with three-fourths of the stock

dead, and then wonder why they do not harvest in abundance.

There is not a more beautiful shrub

growing than the currant, properly propa

gated; and the same may be said of the gooseberry. Cultivators who pay any attention to the subject, never allow the root to make but one stock, thus forming a beautiful miniature tree. To do this it will be necessary to take sprouts of last year's growth, and cut out all the eyes or buds in the wood, leaving only two or three at the top; then push them about half the length of the cutting into mellow

soil, where they will take root and run up

a single stalk, forming a beautiful symme trical tree. If you wish it higher you have only to cut the eyes out again the second year. They have been known to attain six feet in height. This places the fruit out of the way of fowls, and prevents the gooseberries from mildewing, which often happens when the fruit lies on or near the ground, and is shaded by a super abundance of leaves and sprouts. It changes an unsightly bush, which cumber

s and disfigures the garden, into an ornamental dwarf tree. The fruit is lar ger and ripens better, and will last on the bushes by growing in perfection until in the fall.

Many people suppose that the roots make out from the lower buds. It is not so; they start from between the bark and wood at the place where it was cut from the parent root.

The white and red Dutch currants

have been cultivated for a great length of time, and have not, until within a few years, been displaced by any new varie ties. The currant requires to be severely pruned when the object is large and hand

some bunches and berries. It is useless to expect fine fruit unless this is attended to. At the spring pruning, every new shoot should be headed back to four or five eyes, and the old wood wholly cut out, or as much of it as possible, as it is only on the young and vigorous wood that the best fruit is produced. By attending to these suggestions, the cultivator may have the best fruit.—Country Gentleman.

TREES, VS. RABBITS.

Mix a little snuff or pulverized tobacco

with common soft soap, and rub your trees with it as high as a rabbit can reach,

and they are safe.

The washing of the soap to the roots of the trees, is highly beneficial to them, and will pay for the application alone. The soap will destroy the insects on the bark

of the tree, and give the bark a glossy appearance. The liver or flesh of an animal rubbed on the bark of the tree,

will also save it from destruction by rabbits. Now is the time to make the appli cation.—Rural World.

Anecdotes.

A young lady recently entered a shop

of a fashionable milliner, for the purpose of making some trifling purchase.

"How is your mother, miss?" politely

enquired the lady.

"She is not very well," replied Affec tionate.

"Ah! what is the matter with her?"

"She fell down stairs and hurt her country-bender very much."

"Her what?"

"Her country-bender."

"Courtsey-lender! what is that?" en

quired the puzzled milliner.

"Why, her knee," said the blushing damsel.

"A man dinner don't agree with me," said

a man to his wife, after an extraordinary

heavy meal.

"I don't blame it, my dear, I saw you gawking it so hard."

GENERAL AGENCY FOR THE

AMMONIATED

PACIFIC GUANO.

THE AMMONIATED PACIFIC GUANO resembles Peruvian Guano in appearance,

odor and composition, and contains all the elements of fertility. That which renders the PACIFIC GUANO superior to Peruvian is, that while it possesses sufficient animal matter and ammonia for all immediate stimulus, it also contains nearly double the amount of soluble

and bone phosphate, which affords the crops

ample nourishment, and leaves the soil enriched by the same for successive crops, which is not the case with the Peruvian Guano.

We can assure the public that the Pacific

Guano is superior in point of actual value and economy to either Peruvian Guano or Superphosphate of Lime, and commend it confidently to Farmers and Gardeners, containing more

AMMONIA, SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE, and BONE

PHOSPHATE of Lime than any other.

we can give our customers every satisfaction.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

MAY DAY FESTIVAL. The Sunday School Teachers' Association of the Unitarian Church of this town, are already making arrangements, (as will be seen by their card in another column,) to welcome this time-honored festival with suitable demonstrations, at the Town Hall, commencing on the morning of Tuesday next, and continuing for three days. The bill presented is a very attractive one—besides floral exhibitions, fancy and refreshment stands, etc., etc., the Braintree Glee Club will be present to enliven the occasion with its melody and sweet songs—and on Thursday evening, a dramatic entertainment is to be introduced, which promises a rich, intellectual treat.

SABBATH SCHOOL EXHIBITION. The School connected with the First Universalist Society of this town, is to give an exhibition of an interesting character at the Church of the Society, on Monday evening next. The order of the programme is as follows:

First: Singing by the School, declamation, etc., etc., followed by a Drama, entitled "The Morning of Peace,"—an advent, it is hoped, all may realize to be succeeded by a long day of prosperity and happiness.

In such matters, the Society have always met the public expectation; and on this occasion, the entertainment promises to be one of more than usual interest.

By their card, which appears in another column, it will be seen that a universal invitation is extended.

SALES OF REAL ESTATE. We would call the attention of our readers to the sale of the house and land formerly occupied by Bartholomew Donahoe on Edwards' Plain. The sale is at three o'clock on Monday afternoon next. At four o'clock on the same day, the premises formerly owned and occupied by Leonard S. Perry on South street. Also, on Monday at four o'clock about three-fourths of an acre of land on Cemetery street, West Quincy.

On Wednesday at three o'clock P. M., the estate of the late Wm. V. Lincoln, at Quincy Point. Also at three and a half o'clock on the same day a large two-story building, fitted for a dwelling house and store belonging to Nathaniel White, and situated nearly opposite the old Toll House at Quincy Point. For further particulars see advertisements in to-day's paper.

DISCONTINUANCE OF THE SALE OF LIQUOR. The hotel at Neponset Village has been closed for two or three weeks. Also the bar at the Railroad House just this side of the Neponset river.

The bar at the Hancock House in this town has been closed within a day or two and there is some talk of closing the house. The sale of liquors has been discontinued in over one hundred places in Boston during the last ten days.

COLORADO. On Thursday last, two young men of this town Messrs. Alonzo Farnall and Daniel F. French left for the gold mines in Colorado. They go in company with several hundred, and in crossing the plains are to act as drivers of the mule teams, receiving pay for the same. They are both used to hardships, the former having served in the army throughout the war, and the latter a part of the time. May good success attend them, and the prospects anticipated be fully realized.

ASSIGNMENT OF THE SALE. We would call the attention of our readers to the sale of Cloth, Clothing, &c., on Tuesday, at the office of W. M. French, Esq. For particulars see notice.

PROMOTED. Col. Samuel M. Quincy, 81st United States Colored Infantry, formerly of the Second Massachusetts Infantry, has been brevetted Brigadier-General for gallant and meritorious services during the war. General Quincy was the last military mayor of New Orleans and is now on duty as president of the United States Claims Commission for the Department of Louisiana.

PHOTOGRAPHS. Our readers will find Mr. Swain at his Saloon, nearly opposite the Hancock House, ready to take their likenesses in the most satisfactory manner. He has taken some excellent pictures during the past week; good enough to please a President. Those in want will do well to give him a call.

HIGH PRICES OF REAL ESTATE. The desirable lot of land on the corner of Hancock and School Streets in this town, has been purchased by our enterprising fellow townsman, Charles R. Mitchell, for the sum of eighteen hundred dollars, this being a small fraction less than 20 cents per foot.

SUNDAY TRAVEL. A hearing took place on Wednesday evening, at the State House, in relation to the prohibition of the running of horse cars on Sunday.—Counsel for the several horse railroads considered it a matter of indifference to them, except so far as it accommodated the public, not regarding Sunday travel generally as profitable, but were unwilling to take the responsibility of stopping it. Mr. Peabody of the Lynn Horse Railroad, Zebias Southard of South Boston, and Sydney Homer of Brookline, advocated the running of cars on Sunday, as beneficial to the people physically, in getting to the country.

Ladies can find a good assortment of choice flower seeds by calling at Mrs. E. Mayden's. She has also for sale all kinds of garden seeds.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

BOSTON, APRIL 26, 1866.

LOCALS.

General business since the first instant has been on a steady march of improvement. The money market is quiet and easy; calls at a lower rate of interest than have been asked for many months past. Mechanics are in great demand and are receiving high wages. The city government is resorting to sanitary measures, in anticipation of the approach of the cholera. Among other things, the city fathers are taking vigorous steps to secure large numbers of free bathing houses by the water side during the coming warm weather. The rush for tenements continues unabated; and rents are higher than ever known before. As an evidence how Bostonians live, it has been ascertained that there are 12,238 houses occupied by one family only; 4,765 by two families; 1,554 houses by three families; 794 by four; 501 by five; 360 by six, and 198 houses by seven families; the whole number of dwelling houses in Boston being now 22,410.

Boston will soon become famous for its monuments or statues. Mr. Lee, the noble benefactor of the statue of Alexander Hamilton to Boston, proposes now to honor the discovery of ether as an anesthetic agent by the erection of a fountain in the Public Garden opposite Commonwealth Avenue, which shall be three feet high, and surmounted by a statuesque group. The plans have been executed.

THE CHOLERA. This scourge is likely to become epidemic in the United States. It certainly is in N. Y. harbor, and the disease increasing at a fearful rate. I think the public mind is very uneasy with Bostonians in apprehension of its approach here. There is no disguising the fact that the disease is contagious; it would be wrong for the public safety to assume any other premises.

What are the prophylactics? The ablest medical authority assures us that cheerfulness and fearlessness are the best preventatives; next a well-regulated diet, not so sparing taken at intervals of five hours apart; the evening meal to be as light as possible. Our homes to be constantly well ventilated—pure air being vital to health under any circumstances. Great attention to cleanliness of person, and cleanliness in everything around our premises. The disease never approaches us without precaution. Attention to this timely warning will render the Asiatic cholera a very curable malady. On the first attack, the patient should surrender with all discretion, not to an indiscriminate resort to the Materia Medica, but to that great haven for the sick and weary—a state of perfect quietude. The incipient stages of cholera are marked by a disturbance of the biliary organs, more especially diarrhoea. A few days entire rest in a horizontal position, under the direction of the physician, with mild medicine, will result in a large proportion of choleric cases with success.

CONGRESS. The Reconstruction Committee present the following propositions for the restoration of the Southern States:

First. That the Constitution be so amended that hereafter no State shall make any discrimination in its laws or constitution on account of color or race.

Second. After July 4, 1876, negroes shall have the right to vote.

Third. There shall be no representation between 1866 and 1876 for colored persons not allowed to vote.

Fourth. Southern States to be represented on these terms and conditions on their representatives taking the test oath prescribed by Congress.

It is understood that President Johnson disapproves of all these propositions. "Perley," of the Boston Journal, thus laconically speaks of matters before Congress: the consideration "of resolutions which embraced the eight hours' movement; the disposition of compromise money obtained from Boston importers; the transportation of Nitro-glycerine; the speedy trial of Jeff Davis; the modification of the test oath; the distribution of seeds and plants; the cholera—upon none of which was there any decisive action."

THE LEGISLATURE. As the spring opens, the desire evidently increases with the members of the State Legislature to bring the business of the session to a speedy close. The House now holds two sessions a day. The question of equalization of bounties is still under consideration, and will, doubtless, be further discussed. Mr. Adams, of Quincy, has addressed the House on this important subject, ably and eloquently. He has a good command of language, and is a fine debater.

BOSTON HERALD. We had the pleasure a few days since of giving a greeting of welcome to E. C. Bailey, Esq., the able and popular editor of the Boston Herald on the occasion of his return home safe and sound from a trip of some seven weeks to Cuba; thence to New Orleans, thence up the Mississippi River home. Mr. Bailey's editorial correspondence while journeying, which appeared from time to time in the Herald, was exceedingly spirited and interesting, giving us graphic touches of Southern life. The Boston Herald has the largest circulation of any other newspaper in New England. It is independent of party, but a bold advocate of popular rights. Its specialty is moderation in parvo. The original matter and the selections from day to day, give evidence as "strong as holy writ" that the editorial corps belonging to the establishment are talented and industrious.

The next meeting of the Quincy Social Science Association will be next Thursday evening. A full attendance is requested.

JURORS. Messrs. Henry Hayden and Philip Curver, have been drawn to serve as Petit Jurors, in the Superior Court, Norfolk County, April Term.

It is reported that large quantities of petroleum have been discovered in Nevada.

For the Patriot.

REVIVALS.

I have not seen in the Patriot any notice of the great revival in religious matters which is certainly taking place in the country. Be assured, it is real. Who will not rejoice? Strong men, women and children, the aged and the middle aged, are turning from their sins, and give promise of much usefulness hereafter. In Chelsea, recently, a father, and little child were together converted,—both children in the Lord. Affecting incidents might be related of the wonderful workings of this influence in our midst. The press, hitherto, hostile, or at least neutral, upon the subject of religion, is turning its attention to the subject, believing there is something in it. Why need there be only professedly religious papers which come out in favor of the cause of religion and revivals? Sectarianism is fast melting away. One sect only can ultimately triumph, and that will be right over error. Wherever wrong doing may show itself, truth must take its place, if at the cost of loosening any tie which may bind us to party or to church. There is virtue in forsaking evil. There is none in allowing our sins to control us, and at the same time confess their wrongs, is dead. God is not pleased with frequent heart complaints. He is only pleased when the heart is at once offered to him and his service. We must not live on our experiences. They will not save us. To wait that something wonderful may transpire before our hearts can be changed, is mocking Him who made us. The conversion may be instantaneous. To him who never has been converted, the expression will seem impossible. It is enough to know that once we were blind, and that now we see. By what power the change was wrought, it is needless to explain. Seemingly only are interested to know the causes which operate to change a person's life from the path of sin to that of holiness. They will always be found ready to investigate the case, to produce arguments, and will perhaps satisfy themselves why such uprisings of the people in religious things should take place; but can they hope for a reversion of the sentiment, and that no good may arise from this feeling?

If I rightly interpret the announcement given in your paper, one church, at least, in Quincy, is attempting to "photograph" the revival interest now in progress at the Park street church, Boston. If the picture is faithfully drawn, it will adorn the walls of the old Church, and make its pastor and people unusually conspicuous as artists, and save their souls. I hope to hear from other churches, as my interest is not exclusively given to the Park street church; though, in common with many warm friends, my sympathy and support go with it. If we have been deceived in the manner in which good influences have been exerted upon the hearts of the people attending that Church, it is a very harmless deception; and we are willing to bear the present belief, which is interesting, so long as no outside offer is sufficient to neutralize that conviction, and able criticisms fail to establish us in a wrong place.

Let the faithful remember, that opposition, reproach, and scorn, come only by the promptings of the evil one, and that he is being rapidly dethroned. Trials, persecutions, must be met; but, because of them, and complexity of experiences, we cannot justify any deviation from the course of justice. They are only things which accompany salvation—but toys on the wave which bears us over life's tempestuous ocean.

OUR TOWN CLOCK.—Special enquiry. There are quite a number of persons who would like to know the cause of the Town Clock striking the hours so irregularly and that no one seems to try to correct it. There are men competent to make such machines, and one would naturally suppose they could ascertain the cause of the difficulty and put it right.

Snow. They had a snow storm between Albany and Syracuse most of the day Tuesday, while at Buffalo and on the lakes there was a gale, powerful enough to break up the ice and restore navigation.

Southern Agriculture. The Griffin (Ga.) Sentinel predicts the best crop of wheat in that vicinity for ten years. The demand on the merchants of Wilmington, N. C., for guano and other improved fertilizers is so great that the agents in Wadesboro' find it difficult to supply the orders.

THE CASE OF "SCRATCH GRAVEL." Since the public announcement of the statements made by Charles A. Dodge alias "Scratch Gravel" in regard to his complicity in the murder of the Joyce children, the Government have spared no efforts to test the accuracy of his statements, and the result is that District Attorney Harris has in his possession evidence of the most satisfactory character that Dodge's story was untrue, and that he was not in this Commonwealth when the murder was committed.

Our readers should not forget the new confectionery store opened by Mr. Grover on Washington Street. A better assortment of candies cannot be found at any place in this town.

Those wishing to purchase valuable real estate in Quincy, will do well to read the advertisement headed "Proposals Wanted" and govern themselves accordingly.

WHEAT CROP. The Alton, Illinois, Democrat, of the 18th inst., says: "Never was there a better prospect for an abundant wheat crop in this vicinity than at this time." The Telegraph anticipates a heavier crop in Illinois this year than ever before. Good accounts come from other directions.

Summary Intelligence.

A large quantity of goods from the steamer Norwich, recently burned on the Sound, has within a few days been picked up along shore. It is thought that about $30,000 worth has been saved. Twenty or thirty vessels have been engaged in picking up floating goods.

The widow of Joseph Smith is still alive, in Nauvoo, Ill., and still believes in Mormonism, although she has been remarried to a Gentile.

It is estimated that there are from 12,000 to 15,000 lobsters daily brought into Portland. These are furnished to the lobster depot proprietors for boiling, by the catchers, for seven dollars per hundred—large and small; and no lobster will be taken unless weighing over two pounds.

A fifteen-cent postage stamp, bearing Lincoln's portrait, has been issued for convenience in paying foreign postage.

The first moving in San Francisco occurred early in March; and green peas, new potatoes, asparagus and rhubarb were in the markets.

It costs the Treasury Department from fifty to a hundred thousand dollars daily for printing.

The public libraries of the United States comprise more than 5,000,000 volumes.

There were 247 new post-offices opened (or reopened) in the Southern States during the month of March.

An armless soldier in Haverhill has executed some fine oriental paintings, by means of a stick held in the mouth.

Twenty-five thousand dollars in conscience money has been received in the Treasury during the past year.

Barnum is building his own monument in the Bridgeport graveyard; 25 feet high; at a cost of $6000.

Among the foreign imports at Boston last week were dry goods of the value of $325,000; wool, 492,228; sugar $122,342, and tea $143,739.

It is estimated at the Treasury Department that the receipts for the present year will be over five hundred millions of dollars.

The payment of interest on the gold bearing coupons, known as five-twentieths, will be made on the 1st of May, the period it falls due. Twenty-three million dollars is about the amount to be paid.

Four maiden sisters, whose united ages amount to 313 years, averaging 78 1/4 dwell in the house of their nativity at Marlboro', Mass. They probably will not marry now.

The Mobile papers have most tantalizing accounts of the abundance of vegetables in the city markets. Green peas were plenty—some brought from New Orleans—but the most of them home grown. The finest of carrots, celery, cabbages, rutabagas, radishes, lettuce &c., were displayed. New potatoes were also in abundance.

A young lady in California broke her neck while resisting the attempt of a young man to kiss her. A fearful warning.

Among the projects which are suggested for the restoration of a specie currency, the coinage of a new five cent piece is to be enumerated. The proposition is to coin the new piece of copper and nickel, of which seventy-five per cent. will be copper. It will not be intrinsically worth five cents.

On Virginia River, Arizona, twenty miles above the point of navigation, is a ledge of pure rock salt, one hundred feet high, sparkling and clear as crystal.

LITERARY DEPT. We are gratified to learn that our young and enterprising fellow townsman, Mr. Marshall P. Wright has succeeded to the proprietorship of that old and fashionable receptacle of news
and literature, recently kept by his father.
Our young friend Marshall brings to the business all the requisites for success—
experience, industry, never failing patience, and a will and disposition to devote his undivided attention to the best interests of his patrons. At his room
all the principal daily and weekly newspapers may be found—the illustrated and higher class journals, and the most popular magazines of the day; in fact,
Mr. W.'s facilities are such, that any work may be obtained through him by handing in your order. He has connected, also,
with his establishment a circulating library
containing five hundred volumes, affording a vast amount of valuable reading, which will be appreciated by the community.
Such a Centre for the reception and distribution of early intelligence, is not only
a great convenience but a public benefit.
We wish him every success; and as he has begun right, we feel sure he will come out

VALIDITY OF LEGAL INSTRUMENTS.
UNSTAMPED. In a case before the Supreme Judicial Court, in Taunton, the question of the validity of a deed to which no revenue stamp was affixed, was raised.
Judge Hoar unhesitatingly decided that the absence of the stamp does not invalidate
the deed. He questioned, whether Congress so intended in framing the internal revenue law; but was clear in the opinion,
that a statute of the United States, under which to invalidate an instrument, which
by the laws of a State, is valid, would be unconstitutional. The government may exact a penalty for failure to affix the stamp, but cannot make void the instru-

THE GALAXY. We have received the first number of this new fortnightly periodical; it is elegantly and tastefully printed, and illustrated in the best style. The literary contents are divided between articles of English and American authorship. Several of the best American writers are announced as contributors in future numbers. The magazine is published by the American News Company
for the proprietors, and is sold for 25 cents a copy or $6 a year. A. Williams & Co.,

WESTERN FREIGHTS. The popular agitation at the West in regard to railroad
freights has had the effect to materially reduce the rates on some of the lines. The LaCrosse and Milwaukee road has reduced its rail and river freights from St.
Paul to Milwaukee to nineteen cents for grain, against thirty-five cents last spring and twenty-eight cents last fall; and one pound freights in proportion.

ANXIUS FOR OFFICE. There are already at least five thousand applicants for appointment as United States Commissioners to the Paris Exposition, and not one of them are able to understand or speak the French language.

SERVE THEM RIGHT. A Machias paper says skedaddlers, who so ignominiously left their country in her time of need, and went into the British Provinces to escape duty, are now called upon to pay a tax of three dollars to the crown and become liable to military duty if they do not, or to leave the country.

MANUFACTURING CHEMIST

IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmhold, he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character
and enterprise.
Wm. WRIGHTMAN,

Manufacturing Chemist,
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th]

We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T.
Helmhold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 25 feet front, 230 feet
deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly
a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of
the merit of his articles. He retains his Office
and Laboratory in this city, which are also modest establishments of his class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this
statement from the fact that his remedies, although
advertised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS.

And knowing that the intelligent refrain from
using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription,
much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical
preparations.

THESE PARTIES RESORT

To various means of effecting cures, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates.
The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE,
PURE and MAJESTIC—having Fact for its Basis, Induction for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or unless they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

PACIFIC GUANO.

GENERAL AGENCY FOR THE AMMONIATED

PACIFIC GUANO.

THE AMMONIATED PACIFIC GUANO resembles Peruvian Guano in appearance and composition, and contains all the elements of fertility. That which renders the Pacific Guano superior to Peruvian is, that while it possesses sufficient animal matter and ammonia for all immediate stimulus, it also contains nearly double the amount of soluble and bone phosphate, which affords the crop ample nourishment, and leaves the soil enriched by the same for successive crops, which is not the case with the Peruvian Guano. We can assure the public that the Pacific Guano is superior in point of actual value and economy to either Peruvian Guano or Super Phosphate of Lime, and commands it confidently as the best and cheapest fertilizer now offered to Farmers and Gardeners, containing more AMMONIA, SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE, and BONE PHOSPHATE of Lime than any other. Pamphlets containing testimonials, &c., furnished on application.

EXHIBITION. One of those beautiful and interesting entertainments—given by the young Masters and Misses, connected with the Sabbath School—was held at the Universalist Church, on Monday evening last. The performers had learned their parts admirably, and every thing passed off pleasantly. The "Morning of Peace" was an excellent drama and well performed. We learn that there is some talk of repeating the exhibition in a few weeks, with some changes in the programme; we think it would be well received.

THE MAY FESTIVAL. The Fair held at the Town Hall, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday by the Teachers' Association, of the First Church of this town, was a complete success. Most of the useful and fancy articles, books, flowers, candies &c., were well disposed of. The dramatic entertainment Thursday evening was listened to by a very attentive and appreciative audience, although not quite so large as on some other occasions. It is a fact, that cannot be well denied, that we have some excellent performers in our midst; equal to many more experienced and professional actors. The music by Messrs. Morrison, Crane and Gomez, was excellent. The reputation of these gentlemen as good performers, must be well established in this place.

ACCIDENT. Yesterday morning as a train of cars on the Milton Branch Railroad was passing through Neponset Village, it came in collision with a horse and buggy, owned by Mr. Preston. The horse was killed and the buggy badly injured.

THE NORFOLK CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE. Representing about thirty churches, met at Milton on Thursday, and was largely attended. Rev. Messrs. Ballard and Mears addressed the Sabbath School Society. Revivals in the churches, and 200 conversions in 28 Sabbath Schools were reported. The subject of "ministerial support" was fully discussed and action thereon indefinitely postponed.

SALES. Our readers should not forget the sale of the homestead of the late E. A. Shaw, at Quincy Point, on Thursday next, at 3 o'clock. Also, to the sale of furniture at the same time and place. We would also call their attention to the sale of a valuable piece of land opposite Mr. Albert Holt's residence. See advertisements.

ANNUAL MEETING. At the annual meeting of the Weymouth and Braintree Mutual Fire Insurance Company held on the 16th ult., the following Board of Directors were elected for the year ensuing:—

Elliot L. White of Braintree; Appleton Howe of Weymouth; Freeman P. Howland of Abington; Elias Richards, Thomas B. Porter, Charles E. Hunt, Quincy L. Reed, Elias S. Beals of Weymouth, and N. L. White of Braintree.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Elliot L. White was elected President, and Elias Richards, Secretary and Treasurer.

MARRIED AND SINGLE. About a year ago a daughter of Major Daniel Perry, of Abington, who is somewhat deranged, disappeared and wandering off, was at last lodged in the Sullivan County Almshouse, New York, as a vagrant. Here she met another monomaniac by the name of Lucy Slater, and the two, becoming very much attached to each other, decided to become man and wife. They left the Almshouse last summer and returned to Abington, where they have lived in the bonds of wedlock, as supposed by the neighbors; Lucy, alias, James Slater, wearing male attire up to the present time. She was arrested last Monday, and brought before Justice Hersey, of Abington, for this offence, and sentenced to the Plymouth House of Correction. It would be more proper to send them both to the Asylum at Taunton.—New Bedford Mercury.

THE PUBLIC DEBT. The following is a statement of the public debt on the 1st of May:

The total debt bearing coin interest is $1,186,092,841 80; total debt bearing currency interest, $1,188,813,544 62; matured debt not presented for payment, $877,729 64; total debt bearing no interest, $452,232,755 54; grand total debt, $2,877,676,871 60; amount in the treasury, $187,987,028 82—of which, $76,676,470 20 is in coin; amount of debt less cash in the treasury $2,689,689,842 78.

A VALUABLE WORK. We have received from Dr. Lawrence, recently of this town, an excellent work entitled:—"Wenks Lung and how to Make them Strong, or Disease of the organs of the Chest, with the home treatment by the Movement Cure;" published by Dio Lewis, M. D., proprietor of the Essex Street Gymnasium, Boston. It treats on symptoms and causes of consumption; climate, food, dress, occupation, exercises, bathing, &c., and should be in the hands of every young man and woman. It is profusely illustrated and contains a large amount of useful information, that is but little known or thought of by the young or old, but which is of vital importance to health and happiness.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

BOSTON, MAY 3, 1866.

RECONSTRUCTION.

The Congressional Committee of fifteen members have at last reported on a plan of reconstruction. The President is earnest in opposition to the Report, and declares himself against all conditions precedent to the admission of loyal Representatives from the Southern States in the shape of amendments to the Constitution or the passage of laws. He maintains that under the Constitution no State could be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate, and Senators and Representatives ought to be admitted into the respective Houses as prescribed by the Constitution. He was for a rigid adherence to the Constitution as it is—and he has said, that having sustained ourselves under it during a terrible rebellion, he thought Government could be restored without resort to amendments. He is further of opinion that if the organic law is changed, all the States and all the people should participate in the alteration. The Cabinet is nearly a unit with the President in his views of reconstruction, while the Republican members of Congress are nearly a unit against him; and thus the antagonism continues.

THE EXCISE TAX.

It is now certain, that the Income Tax of this year will be assessed under the old rates of five per centum and ten per centum; the proposed amendments—one of which increases the exemption from $600 to $1000 will not effect this year's assessment. Watches, plate and carriages will be taxed as heretofore.

LOCALS.

The week has not been particularly active for business in Boston. The sad intelligence from Chili, of the destruction of Valparaiso by the Spanish fleet, gives another damper to enterprise. Why was it that the American, French and British fleets lying in port there did not stop this vandalism of the Spanish squadron? The property destroyed by the bombardment is set down at twenty millions of dollars. No small share of the loss will fall upon American citizens residing in Valparaiso. Notwithstanding the unstable state of business here, there is a cheerful feeling among merchants, that good times are coming. The sound condition of our national finances gives stability to every enterprise, thus imparting confidence which is the soul of business.

THE CHOLERA.

We are glad to learn from New York, that the cholera panic has subsided in that great city; there being far less alarm than in 1849. It is understood now that medical men can master the cholera, even should it break out as an epidemic, provided their efforts are aided by cleanly people—and the tendency to cleanliness is universal.

THE MT. WOLLASTON LODGE. The Lodge of Good Templars in this town have just entered upon another quarter, with the following list of officers. The office of P. W. C. T. being filled by C. W. Carter, whose term as presiding officer has just ended.

W. C. T. Rev. S. T. Aldrich.
W. F. T. S. Addie Souther.
W. S. Eliza Packard.
W. A. S. Ida Edwards.
W. F. S. J. P. Bigelow.
W. T. Oliver T. Newcomb.
W. C. Carrie A. Locke.
W. M. Walter S. Randall.
W. D. M. Susie M. Joyce.
W. R. S. Susie Newcomb.
W. L. S. Madeline Hayden.
W. I. G. S. V. Wilde.
W. O. G. W. E. Eaton.

The Membership during the last quarter has increased very rapidly, and we believe that as a temperance organization it is doing much to educate and elevate public sentiment in this community. All success to it.

PUBLIC DOCUMENT. The Adjutant General's Report of this State, for 1865, has been kindly forwarded us, for which, we take this opportunity to express our thanks. It is a voluminous work, (from the press of White & Potter,) and a faithful record of every thing of importance connected with our veterans in the service of the United States during the past year—date of enlistment, enrollment, field of operations, battles, casualties, discharges, deaths, wounds, etc. There is one pleasing circumstance to which the Report refers—the united testimony from numerous sources of the unexceptionable deportment of the returned soldiers since their discharge; instances are mentioned where the service has even been a school of reform to many an opportunity offered, which they improved, to sow their wild oats—rub off the rough edges of their characters, and by dear bought experience, learned to appreciate more highly the blessings of civil life, and their duty to live up to all its requirements.

LONGEVITY. A correspondent writes to the Lowell Courier from Westford, (Mass.) giving a list of thirty-five persons resident in that town, whose ages are not less than eighty-four years, nor more than ninety-four years, severally. It includes nineteen males and sixteen females. Of the nineteen males, all but five are now or have been widowers, and but one of the number has remained unmarried—showing that marriage is conducive to longevity, and that grief for the loss of a partner does not kill. All but two or three of them use tobacco in some way; some of them to a great extent, showing opposers of the weed that its use is not so injurious as they would make us believe. Of the females, fourteen are widows, and all but one have been married; and the correspondent hints that about half of them have no objection to a pipe of tobacco or a pinch of snuff.

Valparaiso, in the year 1854, had a population of about 52,000. It has probably now close on to 70,000.

FOR THE PATRIOT.

OBITUARY.

Died in this town, on the 28th ult., Mrs. Harriet, lamented wife of Deacon William Pratt, in the 60th year of her age.

In all that adorns and renders lovely the Christian character, this saint excelled. Retiring in her disposition and habits—her family constituted the chosen object—the great centre of her earthly joy and delight. Here she lived and loved, and thus made her home, the abode of constant happiness and peace. She served God with cheerfulness, and was never happier than when contributing to the happiness of others. If of any human being, then of her it may be said, she had not one particle of selfishness in her being.

Of most even temperament, she passed quietly through those scenes in which others were tossed and tried; and even in her last brief illness, during which her sufferings were very great, she bore them all with the same calm and quiet spirit which had marked her daily life. In this heavenly frame she awaited her translation, and when the messenger came, he found her ready to depart. Sweetly "looking unto Jesus," she sank to her rest, leaving to those she had so loved in life, the precious memory of her virtues, as a well-spring of comfort and consolation.

More than twice as many ships have arrived at Boston from foreign ports since the commencement of this year as during a similar length of time last year. Most of the vessels have been from Great Britain, and they all come richly laden with goods.

The impression has got abroad that the time for making returns of incomes, &c., under the Internal Revenue Laws has been extended. This is a mistake, as Congress has taken no action to this effect. Returns are to be made by the 10th of May to avoid the penalty.

THE FEMALE EXPEDITION. The expedition, consisting of some seventy-five New England females, which sailed from New York for Washington Territory, has at last been heard from. After a pleasant voyage, diversified only by the usual incidents of sea-sickness, the steamer Continental reached Rio on the 10th of February. The friends of the young ladies who have ventured on this expedition will be glad to learn that they were all well and in good spirits.

THE NEW FRACTIONAL CURRENCY. The United States Treasury, having received thousands of applications from curiosity seekers who desire to have copies of each of the fractional currency issues, has decided to print several thousand of each, in order to supply the great demand. The faces and backs of the notes will be printed on different sheets of paper, and will be sold at half price; as, for instance, the face of the fifty cent note, according to the programme, will cost twenty-five cents. None of these notes can be redeemed, and consequently, providing a sufficient number is issued to cover the amount, the Government will realize some thirty thousand dollars by the speculation.

THE CAPTURE OF THE LINCOLN ASSASSINS. The list of awards to the captors of the assassins of Mr. Lincoln and the reward paid for the arrest of Jefferson Davis have been laid before the House of Representatives. Col. L. C. Baker, receives $3,750; Lieut. Baker, $4,000; Boston Corbett, $4,000; Lieut. Dougherty, $7,500; Col. Prichard receives $10,000 for the capture of Jeff Davis.

LARGE DAY'S BUSINESS AT THE CUSTOM HOUSE. We understand that the amount of duties received at the Boston Custom House Tuesday, principally upon goods imported by steamers Africa and Bosphorus from Liverpool, exceeded $100,000 in gold.

WHEN TO FATTEN BEEF CHEAPEST. A farmer of large experience says he feds his beef in summer, and only calculates to have them hold their own, and be ready for sale when the market suits him; and he calculates that four quarters of meat with good pasturage in summer and early autumn, will make as much beef as eight quarters of new corn-meal, with the best of hay in cold weather.

To lead people by the nose, place under that sensitive organ, a handkerchief perfumed with Phaloo's "Night-Blooming Cereus." They will thereby be led to the just conclusion that its fragrance cannot be matched among the sweets of the earth.—Sunbury American.

Quincy, May 5, 1866.

Cured in Ten Minutes.

I have the prescription used by Dr. EREN in the Ninth Ward, New York, in his extraordinary treatment of Cholera during the fatal ravages of that disease in 1832. During 3 years in the Potomac Army, and 5 mos. in Andersonville Prison, I administered it to over 1,000 Cholera-morbus, Dysentery, and Diarrhoea cases. It never failed to cure I could have saved every man that died in that prison, if I had the material to make the medicine, and could have kept the patients warm while treating them. If the Cholera reaches Boston and New York this summer—and there is now no doubt that it will—I will let $1000 reward $1000 that I will give to every man who can reach within 5 hours after the disease shows itself in the patient.

I am not a "Doctor," and do not desire the equivalent honors of that title. No one physician in ten can make a correct diagnosis of any disease, and not one in a hundred advertising physicians is a physician at all—mere impostors, who fleece the public by a sort of legalized plunder that would not be tolerated in any other country.

I will send this medicine—sufficient to warrant a certain cure—to any address for $1. I will send the Prescription, with full printed directions how to make the medicine, for $5. Please take notice:—If I don't cure whether the disease is chronic or recent, I can cure it.

FOR OUR GREAT NATIONAL WORK,
THE STANDARD HISTORY OF THE WAR.Splendidly illustrated with over 150 fine portraits of Generals, Battles, Scenes, and Diagrams.In the selection of matter for this great work author has confined himself strictly to official data derived from the reports of Northern and Southern Generals, the report of the Committee on the Conduct of the War, National and Rebel Archives, &c.He has carefully avoided the introduction of any matter not strictly reliable and official, and has succeeded in producing what is universally demanded, a fair and impartial History of the War.
The great superiority of this work over all others is everywhere acknowledged. It is marked by a degree of thoroughness and accuracy attempted by no contemporary.Disfranchisement of soldiers, teachers, energetic young men, and all in want of profitable employment, should read once for all, and see what it will do for them. It is a book that should be read by every citizen.The police find no clue, decided on trying photography, and accordingly, on the day of the murder, with the aid of a microscope, images left on the retina of the eye of the dead were transferred to paper, and curious facts developed. A pistol, the hand, and part of the face of the man who committed the crime are perfectly delineated.Strict quarantine regulations have been ordered for Boston Harbor, and the Police Boats patrol the Harbor both day and night.A New Haven lady has a little boy about two years old, of dark complexion, who was sent into the sitting room to amuse himself. Soon his mother heard a crash, and on going into the room
found a fine mirror broken into small pieces. On being asked what he had done to it, he said he was not going to have that curly head "brack" boy making up faces at him!The Lawrence Tribune estimates that 300 families per week are emigrating to Kansas, bringing with them an average of $1000 to each family, which, if it should continue at this rate for only three months, would add to the circulating medium of the State the sum of $3,000,000.The President has addressed a circular to the heads of Departments recommending the appointment of discharged
and disabled soldiers and sailors in preference
to other applicants.Parker's Pectoral Pastilles give immediate relief in all cases of Coughs, Colds, and inflammations of the chest and lungs, and restore to Singers and Speakers, clearness of voice. They contain no opium nor any other deleterious
and are wonderful in the celerity with which they relieve the cure of all diseases of the throat. For sale by all Druggists. Price 25 cents a box. —

STANZAS.

He came a careworn weary man,
Back to his childhood home;
Back to the scenes he left in youth,
A wanderer to roam;
He stood beside the cottage hearth
Of early days; he strayed
Beside the babbling brook where oft
In childhood days he played.
But care had set its sombre seal
Upon his aching brow;
And age had bade his form erect
With youthful grace, to bow;
And 'mid the scenes once to his heart
In other days, so dear;
He wandered, bowed in thoughtfulness,
Most lonely, sad and drear.

Farmers' Department.

HOW TO RAISE EARLY CUCUMBERS.

1. A good method to produce early cucumbers is the following: Make a trench in the warmest place of the garden; in this put old manure, about three inches; on this plant the seeds, and cover them with sand, two or three inches. Cucumbers thus treated are said to come earlier, to endure rain, drought, and even a little frost, far better than those treated another way. Against severe night-frosts they should be protected by boards.

2. Take middle sized flower pots; fill them with good soil; put the seeds on this, and cover with sand; with sprinkled with warm water, and put the pots near the stove. On the appearance of the plants, place the pots near the window. Care should be taken to harden the plants before transplanting into the garden, by admitting air to them both day and night.

3. Take egg shells (the hole to be on the upper end and three-fourths of an inch) fill them with good soil, and therein plant the seeds. Plants thus raised, kept either in the house or hotbeds, are easily transplanted.

EARLY MILKING.

Cows should be milked early in the morning, so that they can be fed on the dewy grass. Two hours of such feed is worth as much as that of the rest of the day, towards getting a good flow of milk. So wake up, boys, at father's rap on the partition wall, and hurry to the yard with pail in hand, and have the cows in the pasture before anybody's else. Be sure and milk clean. A boy who will always milk clean will have a good recommendation of being faithful wherever he goes, and such recommendation always goes a great way among business men.—Maine Farmer.

PRUNING TREES.

It is a practice with many farmers to prune their trees during the winter, or in early spring months, and many probably do not stop to consider the results. A little study of tree philosophy will show the cutting away of limbs during the season of repose will give the tree an excess of growth during the coming season, because of the less number of buds to be supplied early in the season, and therefore their more rapid development and elongation of wood during early summer, or the growing season.

Trees, therefore, that are wanted to be kept in a vigorous, growing state, it is well to prune at this season; but if bringing them into bearing is the object sought, then the pruning should be delayed until July, when the evaporation is great, and the tree is forming its increased size of limb, and storing up food in the bud for another season. If the water-shoots crossing trunks, etc., are taken out, the remaining buds are supplied with the food that would have been partially absorbed by those branches cut away; and hence, are more perfectly ripened and brought to maturity or bearing condition. Cutting away large branches should never be done in the winter season, because the wound so left, hardens all next to the outer bark, and prevents the formation of new layers to cover and shield it, which, if the cut is made early in July, it will, and in a few years present no appearance of a limb ever having been there.

Inednotes.

A countryman once brought a piece of board to an artist, with the request that he would paint upon it St. Christopher as large as life.

"But," returned the artist, "the board is too small for that purpose."

The countryman looked perplexed at this unexpected discovery.

"That's a bad job," said he, but look ye here, sir, ye can let his feet hang down over the edge of the board."

"Well, Sambo, is your master a good farmer?"

"O yes, he be berry good farmer, he makes two crops in one year."

"How is that Sambo?"

"Why, he sell all his hay in de Fall, and makes money once; den in de Spring he sell all de hides ob de cattle det die for de lack ob de hay, and make money twice."

A gentleman, dining at a Broadway, New York restaurant, ordered a spring chicken broiled. It proved to be laborious work to cut up the chicken, and a tough job to eat it. Paying the bill, the gentleman asked the waiter—

"John, was that a spring chicken?"

"Yes," replied John, "a spring chicken, sure."

"But what spring, John?" queried the guest.

"Well," laughingly replied the waiter, "Saratzes Spring, I believe."

The Cholera Among Us.

If the conclusions of our scientific men prove correct the Cholera will soon visit this section of the country. Wherever it prevails it is a most fatal disease. None are safe. The strongest and most healthy are often first to fall victims.

The city and town authorities among us are looking after the sanitary affairs of their cities and towns. The physicians are educating themselves in the nature and character of the disease. With these facts plainly before us every wise man will lose no time in securing a Life Policy for as many thousand dollars as he can afford to pay. The young men at the age of 25 years, can, by paying an average of 5 cents per day secure to his family in case of his death $2000, or for 12 cents per day $8000, by the Mutual Benefit Co., which is only about $25 or $38 per year. There are but very few who cannot save this much from expenditures which are unnecessary and needless. What an inducement!

Fathers and mothers who have in your care and training the rising generation this subject invites your serious attention. You cannot discharge your duty to these little ones only by providing them with all the comforts and advantages of life in your power against all contingencies. Now is the time a company will be likely to mature when the trouble comes. As an investment there is no place where money is so sure of a large return.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmhold; he oc-

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]
We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T.
Helmhold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 23 feet front, 230 feet
deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly
a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of
the merit of his articles. He retains his Office
and Laboratory in this city, which are also modest establishments of his class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this
statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,
And knowing that the intelligent refrain from
using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription,
much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical
preparations.

Machines yet offered to the public. No other appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling, Tucking, Gathering, Gauging, Braiding, Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No other Family Sewing Machine has so much capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make our Family Sewing Machine most reliable,

and most durable, and most certain in action
at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known.
Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity,
can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in chaste and exquisite style.

The Folding Case of the Family Machine is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine, when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While some of the Cases, made out of the choicest woods, are finished in the simplest and chas-
est manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb manner.

It is absolutely necessary to see the Family Machine in operation, so as to judge of its great capacity and beauty.

It is fast becoming as popular for family sewing as our Manufacturing machines are for manufacturing purposes.

The Branch Offices are well supplied with silk, twist, thread, needles, oil, &c., of the PACIFIC GUANO.

THE ANNOTATED PACIFIC GUANO resembles Peruvian Guano in appearance and composition, and contains all the elements of fertility. That which renders the Pacific Guano superior to Peruvian is, that while it possesses sufficient animal matter and ammonia for its immediate stimulus, it also contains nearly double the amount of soluble and bone phosphate, which affords the crops ample nourishment, and leaves the soil enriched by the same for successive crops. It is not the case with the Peruvian Guano, which is deficient in phosphate.
We can assure the public that the Pacific Guano is superior in point of actual value and economy to either Peruvian Guano or Superphosphate of Lime, and commands it confidently as the best and cheapest fertilizer now offered to Farmers and Gardeners, containing more AMMONIA, SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE, and BONE PHOSPHATE of Lime than any other.
Famphlets containing testimonials, &c., furnished on application.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, MAY 12, 1866.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

MAY FESTIVAL. We give a few additional particulars with regard to the May Fair.

The "Fishing Pond" was continually surrounded by a crowd of young anglers. Older persons, too, would occasionally engage in the piscatory sport.

The "Flower and Book Table" did a good business, clearing one hundred dollars.

The "Fancy Table" was crowded with a great variety of beautiful and useful articles. The receipts at this table, we believe, were over $500.

In addition to the music before mentioned, the singing of the Braintree Glee Club, and of Mr. Whitney of Boston, and Miss Estabrook of Dorchester, greatly enhanced the enjoyment of the occasion.

The "Candy Table" was attractively arranged, and cleared over sixty dollars. The "Refreshment Table," the "Post Office," and the "Shooting Gallery," all had their fair share of attention; while the "Dramatic Entertainment" on Thursday evening was one of the best that Quincy has ever seen.

The receipts of the Fair were over $1000; and the net profits between $800 and $900.

We learn that a few articles remain unsold, and that it is proposed to offer them for sale, possibly at reduced prices, at a "Strawberry Festival," to be held some time next month.

Also that the Association has voted to introduce gas into the Church at once, in accordance with a recent vote of the Parish—and to meet the expenses of lighting the Church during the first year; putting the remainder of the money at interest.

GRANITE STREET. We are glad to perceive that this old well-beaten coach path is undergoing important improvements—which, as one of the main avenues to the West District, has long been required. Its sharp angles are being taken off—the street widened, and the sidewalks made broader—a change that pedestrians will appreciate who have to thread its narrow and winding course of a dark night. There are many fine residences on this public highway, that before have escaped observation—whose owners will now be brought into notice. The Torrey estate, for instance—which has recently been purchased by Mr. Consider A. Southworth, of Dorchester—a gentleman of ample means, who is using it liberally in additions and alterations of the house and outbuildings—improvement of the grounds, etc.; he has removed much of the dark foliage, on the lawn in front of the house—lifting the gloom, giving it a more light and airy appearance. Here is where the improvements commenced.

HOOK AND LADDER CO., No. 1.—At the Annual meeting of this Company, held last Monday evening, the following persons were elected officers for the ensuing year:

Foreman—A. M. Alphonso.
Assistant—S. B. Colby.
Clerk & Treasurer—Joseph M. Glover.

Foreman of Ladder—Geo. Venzie, 2d.
Assistant—Peter Chubbuck.
Areward—Charles Arnold, Edward A. Spear.

NIAGARA ENGINE CO. At the Annual meeting of the Niagara Engine Company on Monday evening last, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Foreman—Michael Welch.
1st Assistant—William E. Rudderham.
2d Assistant—John Williams.
Clerk & Treasurer—Lawrence Garrity.
Secretary—John Hassan.
Standing Committee—William Garrity, Michael Develin, John Hobbs.

JURORS. Messrs. Alexander Felts and Peter B. Mead have been drawn to serve as Jurors in the Supreme Judicial Court, Norfolk County.

SALES OF REAL ESTATE. The beautiful estate of Nathaniel White, on School street, was sold, on Thursday last, Francis Williams Esq., bid it off at $7,700.

The homestead of the late E. A. Shaw at Quincy Point, was sold on the same day to Capt. John Shaw, for $1750.

The lot of land opposite Mr. Albert Hold's, which was advertised to be sold on Tuesday last, was postponed one week owing to a mistake. Readers should be on hand, on Tuesday next, at 2 o'clock if they wish to procure a good bargain.

INFIDELITY, INGRATITUDE AND AGGRAVATED ASSAULT. A soldier named Archibald was found in Neponset village, yesterday morning, with his leg broken and with other injuries. In his patriotism to serve his country, Archibald risked his life, made provision for his family by investing his pay and bounty in a house, and returning to enjoy the fruits of his well-earned labors, found his wife had been unfaithful to him and had taken to her home a man named Patterson. He was driven from his house several times, and yesterday morning it is alleged, Patterson and the unfaithful wife turned him from the premises, with blows and kicks, and left him helpless in the street. Patterson has been arrested and locked up for examination.—Boston Commercial.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis, accompanied by one child and two servants, arrived at Fortress Monroe on Friday. A canteen has been assigned Mrs. Davis and she is allowed free intercourse with her husband during days.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE PATRIOT.

DEDHAM, MAY 8, 1866.

The Court and County Officers.

A ride of thirty-five minutes in the steam cars from Boston, realized our humble entrance into the pleasant and charming village of Dedham,—the shire town of Norfolk County, and whose incorporation as a town dates as far back as 1636—two hundred and thirty years ago. In common parlance it is "Court time" here, and during the Court terms the village always wears a lively appearance; more especially within the precincts of the Court House, that dread but majestic seat of justice for the trials of evil doers. The building is stately, and an ornament to the County. Quite a concourse was on the steps or in the first story as we passed in. It was evidently a day set apart for the consideration of the liquor cases; and a host of those unlucky persons complained of for violations of the Liquor Law, was awaiting their doom, or trusting by some adroit legal machinery of counsel to pass the ordeal unharmed. The Court room was crowded, and anxiety was pictured upon many countenances. We could well imagine that not a few hearts throbbed with sorrow or remorse. Judge Russell is holding the April term here of the Superior Court, and although a large amount of criminal matter is before him, he is putting the business through with his characteristic energy and ability. Among his colleagues he has no superior. The labors of the Hon. B. W. Harris, District Attorney, must be Herculean. In the prime of life, of courteous demeanor—a good constitution—gifted in the use of language, the people made a wise selection in their repeated choice of Mr. Harris as District Attorney for the Counties of Norfolk and Plymouth. His salary is $1200 a year, and he earns it. In looking round the Court room, we missed the pleasant countenance of our old friend, Ezra W. Sampson Esq., the Clerk of the Court. For many months past he has been dangerously ill, and has by no means recovered now. The best testimonials of his worth is the fact that he has filled the place of Clerk of the Courts at Dedham over a generation past. The County of Norfolk is fortunate in her officials. Let us briefly notice some of them. The Hon. George White, now of Needham, is a graduate of Yale College in 1848; he read law under the late Robert Rantoul Jr., in Boston—receiving the degree of LL. B. at Harvard University in 1850; a severe student through life—his public career has been fortunate and brilliant; one of the most learned of any of his predecessors as judges since the formation of the County in 1792; well schooled in the knowledge of chancery law,—he makes a happy application of his attainments in the wide routine as Judge. The widow, or the timid and inexperienced administrator or executor, never approaches him in vain for guidance or advice. It is a pleasure to see him.

J. H. Cobb Esq., the Register of Probate for more than a quarter of a century past, is well known to the legal profession; for forty years past he has been an highly respectable and influential citizen of Dedham; a large portion of the time, its Town Clerk or Selectman. His clerical talents are of a high order. Superior in modo to all that approaches him in the Courts or in his office. He commands the universal esteem and respect of the people of Norfolk County; the salary of the office is $1200 per annum.

In the second wing of the Court House at its western wing is the office of Register of Deeds. Every thing connected with this department is neat and well arranged. James Ford Esq., who has but just blossomed into manhood, is the efficient presiding officer. He is the only child of the late Enos Ford Esq., and succeeded his father as Register of Deeds at his decease some five years since. Mr. Ford is well "booked up" in all the duties appertaining to the office, having served many years as clerk with his late honored father. Under his able and popular administration, the Index classification for the entry of Deeds is emerging rapidly from darkness into light.

Every one having occasion to go to Dedham as a juror, witness or town collector of taxes, will meet with Chauncey C. Churchill, Esq., the County Treasurer. He is a pleasant man and good financier. He always has a very neat and gentlemanly appearance, and is prompt and courteous in the discharge of his duties. He is deservedly held in high esteem throughout the County; his salary is $1100.

In our next we propose to speak of the Sheriff, County Commissioners, &c., as our limited space in your columns will not allow us in this communication.

STATE AID. An act has just been passed by the General Court, and approved by the Governor, to provide State Aid for disabled soldiers and sailors, and for the families of the slain in the service of the United States. The Town Treasurer, under the directions of the Selectmen will pay monthly to disabled soldiers six dollars for the term of five years, from the first of January last; and to widows, &c., four dollars monthly, for the term of three years.

SPRING. The season is now so far advanced that the trees, decorated in their new spring dress begin to look beautiful. The cherry trees in this vicinity appear more vigorous and healthy, than for a number of years, and are in full blossom. Apple and pear trees look well and indicate a good crop. The season, however, up to this time, has been unusually dry, and the grass has not started quite so stout as it did the past two years, although in some rich fields it is several inches high and looks well.

A schooner just completed was very successfully launched at the Point on Saturday afternoon last.

CONFESSION OF PROBST.

A despatch from Philadelphia announces that the murderer Antoine Probst has made a full confession to his priest of all the murders of the Deering family, commencing with Cornelius Carey, the hired boy. He had no accomplice in his bloody work.

After describing the murder of the boy Carey, he says:

"The sight of the blood of the boy produced in me a devilish blood-thirsty feeling, and I determined at once to murder the whole family."

He disposed of the body of the boy, as described before, and then deliberately walked over to the house. He entered and told "Charlie," the cattle boy, next in years to "Willie," who was absent, that he wanted him to help him do some work in the barn. The little fellow followed him, and as soon as he got him inside the barn door, he despatched him with a small axe he had secured.

He then went back to the house and told Mrs. Deering there was something the matter with one of the cows, and he wanted her to come to the barn. She went and he followed, and as soon as she entered inside he struck her on the head and killed her.

He then went back to the house and brought the children out one at a time, and taking them inside of the barn despatched them, one by one, with the same axe. In each instance he cut their throats and placed their bodies in the corn crib himself, just in the position they were found. He then covered the bodies up, and proceeded to wipe out all evidence of his guilt.

He then went back to the house and awaited the arrival of Mr. Deering, not expecting that Miss Dolan would accompany him.

As soon as Mr. Deering arrived in the carriage he got out, and Probst told him that something was wrong with one of the cows, and asked him to go over to the barn with him.

Mr. Deering went along with him and Miss Dolan went into the house and took off her bonnet and furs. Mr. Deering did not even take off his gloves before going to the barn, but proceeded there at once, followed by Probst who had the axe concealed ready for use. As soon as Mr. Deering entered the door Probst states that he struck him in the head and felled him to the earth, and then chopped at his neck with the edge of the axe.

Miss Dolan was the next and last victim. She proceeded to the barn, after coming down stairs and not finding any of the family in the house, and Probst who was in waiting for her, treated her as he had done the rest of the family.

After laying out the bodies and covering them up with hay, the murderer went into the house and commenced searching for valuables. He states he got no money, but he did get a watch and a ring.

He saw nothing whatever of the two fifty dollar compound interest notes, and the twenty dollar bill, of the same character, that are missing.

He remained about the house for some time, picked up the articles found in the black valise, and left about dark.

His further movements were pretty much as brought out on trial.

Probst states that he would have confessed to all of the murders before, but he feared that if he did so, he would be torn to pieces by the mob.

The death warrant for the execution of Probst on Friday, the 8th of June, has been issued.

GRAND OPENING OF SPRING GOODS. Shepard, Norwell & Co., 30 and 34 Winter street, Boston, opened on Tuesday last, an immense stock of dry goods, comprising, in great variety, every description of ladies' and gentlemen's wear; table linen, sun shades, umbrellas, etc.—Everything has been marked down in price and many goods are to be sold at much lower prices than the cost of importation. EVENING.

How sweet, when day is done,
And all the jarring strife
Is hushed to calm, within
The busy marts of life;
To wander 'neath the stars—
To dream of life's career—
To sit and muse for hours
By the broad, boundless sea.
And sitting thus awhile, forget
The dark and dreary array
Of cares that gathered o'er
The just departing day;
And muse upon that brighter life,
Within the courts above;
Where sombre sorrow cometh not,
To dim our dreams of love.

Farmers' Department.

MAY ON THE FARM.

Busy indeed is the month of May. The caterpillars need looking after. Follow them up with a sharp stick. They were out and laid at work earlier this year than usual.

Corn for fodder should also be put in this month, for early cutting. Sow in drills, and cultivate by ploughing and with the cultivator. You want to sow rather thick, at least at the rate of two and a half or three bushels an acre, so as to get small and slender stalks. It is far better to sow in drills than broadcast, as you have less trouble from weeds. A farmer makes a great mistake who neglects to sow a good breadth of corn for fodder.

This is the month for grafting. See to the careful selection of varieties. A few are more desirable than many. You want a good market fruit, and it is better to have it come at about the same time and have done with it. A few pears should be raised for family use, but for a market crop let the farmer stick chiefly to apples. Pears need great care, and almost require the skill of a professional horticulturist to get much on them in the market. Look to the fences before turning the cattle out to pasture. In setting new posts it is a good plan to dip them in gas tar, and a good deal better in crude petroleum—either is better than the old plan of charring the bottoms. Bean-poles, in many sections, that is where they cost anything, should be treated in the same way, and pen-stakes, too, if you want them to last the length of a natural lifetime. It costs but a trifle, with crude petroleum at 25 cents per gallon.—Massachusetts Ploughman.

SEED POTATOES.

I was brought up in a section where we were taught that the seed ends of potatoes were the best for seed; the earliest and largest. I took medium sized potatoes, cut off the seed ends and planted together in one place, and the body of the potato in another—ground being equal—and the result was, that the seed potatoes were the first out of ground, and more in number of tubs, while the body potatoes were later in coming up, but larger tubs. The result at digging was more potatoes from the seed ends, but not so large, nor so many bushels from the same number of hills.

Again, take whole potatoes and plant the same of equal size and cut into two pieces—meaning fair sized—and the result will be in favor of the cut potatoes. This season, being short of seed, I planted a bushel or so of very small "Oronots" too small to eat—and they are equal in size to whole potatoes of larger dimensions, and turn out as well also. Therefore, if small potatoes will produce as well as the larger ones, and will not bring one-fourth as much, it is a result worth knowing.

MOSS ON FLOWER POTS.

Ladies who are fond of cultivating flowers in the house, will find great benefit to the plants by spreading a coating of moss over the earth in their flower pots. This keeps the water from evaporating and the temperature more uniform. Tea grounds are often used for the same purpose. Where a flower pot sets in a saucer, with a hole in the bottom of the pot, put a little sand in the saucer, and cover it with moss, and you have a simple and admirable arrangement.

Incidents.

A stoical Scotchman was addressed by his sick wife:
"Oh! John, I shan't leave this bed alive."
"Please yourself, Betty, and they'll please me," returned John, with great equanimity.
"I have been a good wife to you John," persisted the dying woman.
"Middlin', Betty, middlin'," responded the matter-of-fact husband.

"Is anything new waiting upon you?" said a police dry goods clerk to a girl from the country.
"Yes, sir," said the blushing damsel, "that's my feller outside. He wouldn't come in."

Two old men swapped horses with the agreement that the one who, at the end of the week, should think he had the best of the bargain should give the other two bushels of wheat. The day came, and the two met on the road between their homes.
"Where are you going?" said one.
"To your house with the wheat. Where are you going?"

"To your house with the wheat." "Where are the descendants of such men?" we admirably ask.

The Cholera Among Us.

If the conclusions of our scientific men prove correct the Cholera will soon visit this section of the country. Whenever it prevails it is no respecter of persons. None are safe. The strongest and most healthy are often the first victims.

The city and town authorities among us are looking after the sanitary affairs of their cities and towns. The physicians are educating themselves in the nature and character of the disease. With these facts plainly before us every wise man will lose no time in securing a Life Policy for as many thousand dollars as he can afford to pay. The young men at the age of 25 years, say, by paying an average of 8 cents per day secure to his family in case of his death $2000, or for 12 cents per day $3000, by the Mutual Benefit Co., which is only about $25 or $38 per year. There are but very few who cannot save this much from expenditures which are unnecessary and needless. What an inducement!

Fathers and mothers who have in your care and training the rising generation this subject interests your anxious attention. You cannot discharge your duty to these little ones only by providing them with all the comforts and advantages of life in your power against all contingencies. Now is the time as no company will be likely to insure when the trouble comes. As an investment there is no place where money is so sure of so large a return.

Physicians and Others
PLEASE NOTICE.
I make no secret of ingredients. Helmhold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Culebra and Juniper Berries, selected with great care, prepared in water and according to rules of

PHARMACY AND CHEMISTRY.
These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretic afforded.

A DIURETIC
Is that which acts upon the kidneys.
Helmhold's Extract Buchu
ACTS GENTLY.

Is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its actions.

FOR THE SATISFACTION OF ALL.
See Medical Properties contained in Dispensatory of the U. S., of which the following is a correct copy:

"Buchu.—Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Diseases of the Prostate, and Retention or the Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy."

MANUFACTURING CHEMIST
IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmhold; he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. Wm. WEIGHTMAN,
(Firm of Powers & Weightman.)
Manufacturing Chemist
Ninth and Broad Streets, Philadelphia.

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]

We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmhold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 25 feet front, 230 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his articles. He retains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,
And knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.

THESE PARTIES RESORT
To various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates.

The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE, PURE and MAJESTIC—having Fact for its Basis, Induction for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.

A WORD OF CAUTION.
Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

VINELAND.
FARM AND FRUIT LANDS, in a mild and healthy climate, thirty miles south of Philadelphia by Railroad, in New Jersey, on the same line of latitude as Baltimore, Md.

The soil is rich and productive, varying from a clay to a sandy loam, suitable for Wheat, Grass, Corn, Tobacco, Fruits and Vegetables. This is a great advantage. Five hundred Vineyards and Orchards have been planted out by experienced fruit growers. Grapes, Peaches, &c., produce immense profits. Vineland is already one of the most fertile and productive of the United States. The entire territory, consisting of fifty square miles of land, is laid out upon a general system of improvements. The land is only sold to actual settlers with provision for public education. The place, on account of its great beauty, as well as other advantages, has become the resort of people of taste. It has increased five thousand people within the past three years. Churches, Schools, Academies, Societies of Art and Learning, and other elements of refinement and culture have been introduced. Hundreds of people are constantly settling. Hundreds of new houses are being constructed. Price of Farm land, twenty acres lots and upward, $25 per acre. Five and ten acre, and village lots for sale.

Fruits and Vegetables ripen earlier in this district than in any other locality north of Norfolk, Va. Improved places for sale.

Openings for all kinds of business, Lumbering, Manufacturing, Foundries, Stores, and the like, and Steam Power, with room, can be rented.

For persons who desire mild winters, a healthy climate, and a good soil, in a country beautifully improved, abounding in fruits, and possessing all other social privileges, in the heart of civilization, it is worthy of a visit.

Letters answered and the Vineland Rural, a paper giving full information, and containing Reports of Solon Robinson, sent to applicants, O. Lewis Township, New Jersey.

From Report of Solon Robinson, Agricultural Editor of The Tribune: "It is one of the most extensive fertile tracts, in an almost level position and suitable condition for pleasant farming that we know of this side of the Western Prairies."

prove correct the Cholera will soon visit
this section of the country. Wherever it prevails it is no respecter of persons. None are safe. The strongest and most healthy are often the first to fall victims.
The city and town authorities among us are looking after the sanitary affairs of their cities and towns. The physicians are educating themselves in the nature and character of the disease. With these facts plainly before us every one may with little loss of time in securing a Life Policy for as many thousand dollars as he can afford to pay. The young men at the age of 25 years, can, by paying an average of 8 cents per day secure to his family in case of his death $2000, or for 12 cents per day $3000,
by the Mutual Benefit Co., which is only about about $25 or $38 per year. There are but very few who cannot save this much from their expenditures which are unnecessary and needless. What an inducement!

Fathers and mothers who have in your care
and training the rising generation this subject invites your serious attention. You cannot discharge your duty to these little ones only by providing them with all the comforts and advantages of life in your power against all contingencies. Now is the time to company will be likely to insure when the trouble comes. As an investment there is no place where money
is so sure of so large a return.

Poetry.

CAPT. JOSEPH W. MORTON.
Written upon the death of Capt. Joseph W. Morton, son of W. S. Morton, Esq., of Quincy, who died at the house of his father, from a disease contracted while confined in a rebel prison. The following lines were suggested by the authors
learning of the energy and determination of character exhibited by him at his decease:
When wisdom, courage, worth and hoary hairs,
Combined with noble deeds and numerous
care,
Some useful service to a nation lend,
The world extols the man in whom they blend:
The plain historian chronicles his name,
And doing thus perpetuates his fame.
But when a youth upon the stage appears,
And does the service of maturer years,
The poet, seizing the historic pen,
Reiterates his virtues o'er again.
Then may I venture at this sacred time,
To follow and reiterate in rhyme,
What hath illumined oft the public sheet,
And tell thy virtues yet but incomplete.
Who is more worthy? who, young Morton, who Would do the deeds which thou hast dared to do?
What motive prompted? a nation did but ask,
And found a servant ready for the task,
Prepared to meet the foe in bloody strife,
And to the cause of freedom gave his life.
Thou' first and foremost in the hour of need,
No traitorous hand hath felt thee from thy bed;
Disease hath done what bullets failed to do—
No rebel eye could thy departure see.
Who, when he died, seemed to see thee rest,
Within a land where mortals are oppressed,
Who now shall praise? the living will forget,
The dead are with thee, and thy souls have died.
They then will praise, for they have gained by death
What we have lost by still retaining breath,
Thy company, that is, if what we say
Can be deemed and dry the weeping eye:
A happy thought, and well if it is true,
It is not, 'tis well we never knew.
Thy parents too, have lost what heaven has won.
A gallant soldier, and a worthy son;
Sorrow hath smitten, and thy father's brow
Hath worn of yore a brighter smile than now—
Affliction comes and shakes the stately form,
As shakes the oak before the wintry storm;
Is there no power on high to dry the tears
And smooth the pathway of declining years?
Ye Gods above, can you no balm impart,
And tender consolation to the heart?
Ye spirits fair who dwell in yonder skies,
Can ye descend and dry the weeping eyes?
Is there no link from heaven to earth below
No channel whence intelligence can flow?
Oh Spiritism! part of Nature's law,
Can we from thee an inspiration draw?
A wild imagination, feigned belief,
Which when we mourn will hardly give relief.
An unending faith that seems to shake,
And leaves the heart in doubt and strife to make.
Confoundment mingles circle at thy will
That they may be the more confounded still,
Where then for consolation shall we go
Or find relief while we abide below?
Return, return to the old legend taught
By Nature's law, philosophy and thought;
Peruse great Nature's book by day and night,
And be assured "what ever is, is right."
Such were thy views, young Morton, we believe.
Such were thy thoughts, we learn from those who grieve.
May Heaven award what earth could not bestow—
The honor due by services below—
For thou of nerve possessed for danger wild,
Yet kind in heart, of disposition mild;
A generous soul, which growing day by day,
Gave up the flesh to more quiescent clay—
Thine if the flesh that cramped thy greatness
Were winged its way to some celestial sphere:
Leaving its bright example to mankind,
As blazing comets leave a trail behind.

PROFESSOR WENNEL'S GHOST.
The pink chamber was the prettiest
room in Craig Cottage. Mr. Westgate,
the gentlemanly owner of Craig Cottage,
had expressed a mild approval of it when Bertrude, his bright brunette daughter called him in to see it as the furnishing was completed; but Bertrude, flushed with success was hardly satisfied.
"Why, papa, it's perfectly exquisite!
like the inside of a seashell. See the rosy tinges reflected on the white window shades by the pink damask drapery.
See the light fall in a glow on the little Xantho yonder. Oh, how pretty. Don't you think it beautiful, papa?"
"Yes, my dear. I hope Professor Wen-nel will like it."
"Professor Wennel!" screamed Ber-
trude, you don't intend to put him here?"
"Why not? it is the prettiest room in the house."
"But he is a man."
"What of that?"
"This is a lady's room. Indeed it is papa; it isn't fit for a gentleman. There are too many toilette arrangements, and no accommodations at all for cigars."
"Professor Wennel doesn't smoke, and he's a guest to whom I wish to do all possible honor. I wish him to be accommodated by the best the house affords in every way."
Mr. Westgate was mild but firm—Ber-trude pouted in vain.
"A horrible great man in that little nest!" said she to her sister Lou. "Just think of it! He'll tear every thing all to pieces, I know he will."
"Nonsense, Bert. I should think Mr.
Wennel was a wild cat."
"Lou, don't all men wear muddy boots,
dash the water about in bathing, scatter
cigar ashes, and put their feet in the chairs?"
"No my dear; papa doesn't."
"Papa's an exception to all men in
every way."
"You'd better wait and see if Professor Wennel, isn't before you get in such a passion about him."
"I'm not in a passion. I wish before he comes here to spoil that beautiful room,
that he'd blow himself up in some chemical experiments; but I'm not in a passion! I know I shall hate him though—I want the room for Nellie."
"Papa's favorite guest before yours,
my dear."
"Of course; papa would not care if Nellie slept in the attic."
"Now, Bertrude."
Bertrude rather ashamed of her last remark, was silent, and sat tying knots in her wrapper cord and jerking them out again. Just then there was a ring of the door-bell, the sound of voices in greetings
and Lou observed quickly:
"Professor Wennel has come, Bert." Bertrude sat still until she heard her father show the Professor into the pink chamber, then she threw herself upon the lounge and cried tears of vexation.
Neither of the sisters had ever seen Professor Wennel. He had been at college with Mr. Westgate, and they concluded, of course, that he was equally elderly and studious. They were not aware that he was barely forty, being eight years younger than Mr. Westgate, and though interested in literature and science,
hardly considered a bore in the best society in Europe, which he had frequented
for the last five years.
Pretty Nellie Dashton arrived that evening. There was no pink chamber for her use. She found no fault with the pretty white-draped bed room with a dressing room attached, which was assigned her, but Bertrude expressed to her indignation.
"All the girls were a little surprised when they met Professor Wennel at the tea-table. He was fine looking and agreeable. Nellie said so when they had flown back to their retreat—the bay-window in the upper hall, where Lou always slewed."
"Dear little six footer! I wonder how he likes the lace of the toilette cushion,"
said Bertrude incorrigibly.
"I'll tell you what I should do if I were you Bert," said Nellie.
"What?"
"Professor Wennel sat in his room reading. It was nearly twelve o'clock at night.
The damp night-wind blew in at the open window and made the light flicker as it shone through its alabaster shape, upon the table at its side. The room was indeed
like the heart of a rose; but if Bertrude Westgate had not been so much prejudiced she would have seen that Professor Wennel, with his classical face and slender hands did not look much out of place
there.
Suddenly something, he never knew what, made him raise his eyes from his book. In the centre of the room stood a slender figure robed in a shroud, white and glittering; and at the instant his eyes
fell upon it the town clock began to strike twelve in the distance. As the last stroke died, the figure moved silently toward the door and glided out.
The Professor sat staring at empty space, doubting his senses. He was so astonished that he never stirred in his seat for ten minutes. He sat gazing straight forward until the book, slipping from his relaxed hand, fell upon the floor and startled him.

INFLUENCE OF A TRUE WIFE. A woman, makes a man's nature all the stronger by making it more tender—puts new heart into all his strivings—and gives

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, MAY 19, 1866.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

FIRE. A double cottage house on a lane leading from the old road to South-er's mill was destroyed by fire on Wednes-day afternoon last. It belonged to Mr. John South-er of Boston, and was occu-pied by Messrs. Nathaniel Nightingale and James Erskine. It caught from a defect in the chimney and was uninsured.

LIGHTING THE CHURCH. Workmen have been engaged in laying the gas-pipe from Temple street to the Unitarian Church the past week.

SPRINKLING THE STREETS. Some of our prominent citizens have started in a good work. They have purchased, we learn, a water-cart from Boston, and secured the services of Mr. C. W. Perry to sprinkle the streets. The expenses are to be paid by subscription; the route laid out to commence with, is from Whitcomb Porter's to Charles P. Turrell's on Hancock street, the whole of Temple street, and that part of Washington street lying between the Town sedit and the Canal.

HANDSOME PRESENT. At the close of the session of the House of Representa-tives, on Tuesday afternoon last, a double case hunting gold watch, which cost about one hundred and fifty dollars, was presented to Rev. Mr. Gaylord, the Chaplain, as a mark of appreciation of his services by the members of the House. Mr. Davis of Medford presented the watch with a complimentary address, which was appropriately responded to by Mr. Gay-lord.

I. O. G. T. Mt. Wollaston Lodge, No. 62. The following Preamble and Resolutions were adopted at the last meeting of this Order:

WHEREAS, Brother Warren E. Eaton, in a great measure the organizer of our Lodge—one of our Charter members, and our first choice for the highest execu-tive gift in our power, is about to sever his connection with us for a new field of labor—

Therefore, Resolved, That by the de-parture of Brother Eaton, this Lodge loses a faithful friend and an earnest co-worker in the cause—one whom we hope to meet frequently in the future—one whom we feel the Lodge can ill afford to lose.

Resolved, That the best wishes of the Lodge accompany him in his new home, and cordial desires for success in what-ever he may undertake.

Resolved, That a copy of the Resolutions be sent to Brother Eaton, and a copy be inserted in the Quincy Patriot and The Nation.

COOL WEATHER. A slight frost was noticed on the ground in this vicinity, on Wednesday morning. Ice was also formed in the low lands.

GENEROUS. A donation of several thousand dollars was made to the inhabi-tants of this town, on Thursday last, by one who is a stranger to many of our people. Though the munificence of the donor was in the form of a genial shower of rain, it is no less worthy of note.

THE STATE LIQUOR AGENCY. The Legislative examination concerning this troublesome institution is still going on, and some queer facts slip out occasionally. On Monday, the Hon. James M. Usher, editor of the "Nation," was called and questioned in relation to certain sums of money received by him from Mr. E. F. Porter. He stated that the specified sums were given by Mr. Porter, at the witness's solicitation, in aid of his news-paper enterprise. Favorable notice of Mr. Porter and his management of the agency had appeared in his paper, but were not inserted in consequence of the contribution of Mr. Porter. No extra copies of his issue had ever been ordered by Mr. Porter. But it appeared that he was in the habit of sending extra copies of his paper to Mr. Porter. The late agent, Dr. Jackson, State Assayer, testified that the practice of adulterating al-cohol and liquors and wines was common, and in some of them the materials used for the purpose are deleterious to the human system.—Roxbury Gazette.

THE LICENSE BILL. It has been dis-posed of by the Massachusetts Legisla-ture—49 for and 146 against.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE—Arrivals and Clearances at the Point, the past week.

ARRIVED—Saturday, 12th. Schooner Mary Ann, from Bangor—Lumber, to E. Adams.

Monday, 14th. Schooner Lucy Jane, from Boston—Lime, to F. Low, Wey-mouth.

Thursday, 17th. Napoleon, from Bang-or—Lumber, to Jackson, Weymouth.

CLEARED—Sunday, 13th. Schooner Louisa, for Philadelphia—Grain.

Probate Court will be held in this town on Tuesday next.

Vegetation this season thus far has been about five days in advance of its average rate, and about the same behind the very early Spring of last year. In 1865 the cherry, pear and lilac were in bloom April 24th, April 29th and May 5th, this year April 27th, May 3d and May 11th.

We wish each one of our readers would send to us, for publication, items of interest. Readers can assist in making a paper readable.

THE GETTYSBURG MONUMENT. The contract for constructing the Gettysburg monument has been awarded to its de-signer, James Patterson, Esq. The mon-ument is to cost about fifty thousand dol-lars.

THE MILITIA LAW. The militia law, as passed by the present Legislature, has been officially published. The following are its principal features:

"The Bill provides that every able-bodied male citizen, resident within this State, of the age of eighteen years, and under the age of forty-five years, with certain exceptions, shall be enrolled in the militia. The persons exempted from en-rollment are as follows:

Justices and Clerks of Courts of Re-cord; Registers of Probate and Insol-vency; Registers of Deeds and Sheriffs.

Officers who have held or may hold commissions in the regular or volunteer army or navy of the United States:

Officers who have held, for a period of five years, commissions in the militia of this or any other State of the United States; or who have been superseded and discharged; or who held commis-sions in any corps at the time of its disbandment:

Staff officers heretofore exempted, and whose offices shall become vacant by the provisions of section fifty-nine:

Ministers of the gospel; practising phy-sicians:

The superintendents, officers, and assist-ants employed in or about either of the State Hospitals, State Almshouses, State Prison, Jails or Houses of Correction; keepers of lighthouses, telegraphic opera-tors and conductors and engine drivers of railroad trains, and seamen actually em-ployed on board of any vessel, or who have been so employed within three months next preceding the time of enrollment:

Quakers or Shakers in good standing, members of the Fire Department, crim-inals and paupers.

The enrolled militia, however, will be subject to no active duty unless they are needed in case of invasion or riot. The active militia is to consist of volunteers, and will be first ordered into service. They will be furnished with arms and equipments by the State:

The law provides that the volunteer militia shall parade by companies, unless otherwise ordered, annually, on the last Wednesday in May, for inspection com-pany drill and manoeuvre. They shall also be assembled for drill by companies, unless otherwise ordered, at least once in each month. In addition, each commander of division shall annually order an en-campment of his division by brigades or regiments, at some time between the mid-dle of July and the middle of October. Each encampment shall last three days:

The Act also provides compensation for monthly drills and other duty performed by the militia.

THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH CABLE. The new telegraph cable is now coiling at the rate of two miles an hour in the Great Eastern, and in the calm season of July another attempt will be made to lay it on the bed of the Atlantic, and reach Newfoundland. With the experience which has been gained in the two previous attempts, it is highly probable the next may be successful. The discovery that the cable may be grappled and brought up toward the surface, in the deepest parts of the ocean, is the greatest which has yet been made, and not only goes far towards ensuring the success of such an enterprise as laying the cable suc-cessfully, but what is of far greater im-portance, presents a prospect of raising it after it has been laid for the purpose of repair. It always appeared to us the most unfavorable contingency in this specula-tion, that after the cable was once down there was no remedy offered for any de-fect or accident which might happen.

TOO LATE. The favor of our "Dedham Correspondent" was received too late for this week's issue—our columns were already running over. It will ap-pear in our next.

GOODLUE. At Weymouth has a busi-ness card in our paper to-day, which sounds like other days—goods marked down to the golden standard. Look at it.

PRICES REDUCED. Look at Jackman & Merrill's advertisement, and notice the prices charged for their superior custom made suits of clothing.

This enterprising firm furnish clothes for the million at the lowest rates, and are deservedly rewarded by a constantly increasing patronage.

LIFE INSURANCE. Mr. George W. King, who died in Dorchester last week after a very brief illness, insured his life less than a year ago, for $5000 in the Home Life Insurance Co. of Brooklyn, N. Y. No man should feel safe till he has secured a policy on his life for the benefit of his family should he be taken from them. Mr. E. A. Hill, whose ad-vertisement will be found on our first page, is agent for one of the best com-panies in existence, and he will be pleased to insure your life on the most favorable terms.

JEFFERSON DAVIS has been indicted for treason by the Grand Jury of the U. S. District Court, in session at Norfolk, and the trial of the prisoner it is supposed, will take place in June.

THE COLORADO BILL VETOED. On Tuesday, President Johnson sent to the Senate a message vetoing the bill for the admission of Colorado into the Union. He says from the best information he has been able to obtain, he does not consider the establishment of a State government necessary for the welfare of the people of Colorado. He finds there have been some irregularities in the mode of pro-ceedings in obtaining the opinion of the people on the subject; also, that the popu-lation is insufficient to maintain a State government, and that it appears to have been on the decline since 1864.

THE HORSE CARS should run half-hourly on Sundays, in order to accommodate those who attend the churches; no two of which commence services at the same time. This would also obviate the over-crowding of them; that is, the cars—few churches are troubled in that way. B.

ICE CREAMS. Our readers will find excellent creams at Mr. Grover's Con-fectionery store on Washington Street. He has served an apprenticeship at Copeland's, in Boston, and understands how to make superior creams and will be happy to furnish our citizens with this delicious article either by the glass, quart or gallon.

Valuable real estate at auction.—The Thomas' farm on Adams street—valuable property, and a desirable residence, will be sold at auction, May 23. See card.

SATURDAY, MAY 26, 1866.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

VISIT TO A PASTOR. Rev. E. P. Thwing's parishioners crowded his residence on Hancock street Wednesday evening, and after a season of social and musical entertainment surprised him with another proof of their regard and attachment, in the form of a package of bank bills, which, with a gift previously tendered by a parishioner, amounted to one hundred and sixty dollars. This is all the more generous, inasmuch as his people are employing Charles H. Whitney, M. D., as an assistant in parochial labor, during the present revival. Dr. W. has served in the army and Christian Commission, and his labors are highly acceptable.

FIRE. A barn on School Street, belonging to Mr. Henry Wood, and occupied by Mr. Fletcher, was found to be on fire on Saturday afternoon. It was discovered before much headway had been made, and was extinguished by the use of blankets. The fire, we learn, was set by some boys, probably for fun, but there is a severe punishment for such acts, and the Town offers a reward of two hundred dollars for each offender.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE. We would call the attention of our readers to the sale of land and buildings on Monday next, on Walnut street, formerly belonging to William T. Osman.

Also, to the sale on Tuesday next, of house and land on Brackett street, near the Gas Works, belonging to the heirs of the late William Torrey.

For particulars see advertisements.

REPAIRING BRIDGE. Workmen have been engaged for several Sundays in repairing the railroad bridge over Granite street. This is the only place in town where the cars pass over a street; in all the other places the cars pass under the public roads, except at the depots where the streets are level with the railroad.

EWELL'S PALESTINE CREAM. This is an excellent article for the hair. It imparts gloss and fragrance seldom found in the multitude of preparations offered for sale. We have used it with great pleasure, and believe we are doing our readers a favor by calling their attention to it. It can be found at all the principal stores in town, and we think if they will give it a trial, they will be pleased with the result. It is put up very neatly and is scented with different extracts.

LARGE SALE. We would call the attention of our readers to a large sale in Braintree next Tuesday. House, Land, Stable, Horses, Cows, Shoats, Furniture, Piano, Sewing Machine, &c. &c. See advertisement.

THE NESTOR OF CLERGYMEN. A correspondent of the Norfolk Register, says that Dr. Storrs of Braintree will soon complete the fifty-third year of his ministry in that town, and although in his eightieth year, is hale in intellect and vigorous in body, and still discharges his parochial duties without the assistance of a colleague. A parallel cannot probably be found within the limits of the Commonwealth.

THE BUTTER MARKET. The St. Albans Messenger of Tuesday reports: "The most of the butter sold in town to-day brought only 35 cts. a pound. Some lots brought 35 cts. and one or two reached as high as 37 and 42. But the first named was the ruling price."

Our foreign news is exciting. A financial panic in England has caused the suspension of several of the leading firms, with liabilities varying from $1,000,000 to $600,000,000. The panic exceeded in intensity anything of the kind since 1825, and was only allayed by the removal of the legal restrictions on the Bank of England. The rate of discount has been raised to 10 per cent, and even at that rate the pressure for loans were enormous.

By referring to our columns it will be seen that Mr. Whitney gives an exhibition of the results of his labors in teaching Singing during the past winter and spring, at the Town Hall, next Tuesday evening. He and his lady will also favor the public with some choice selections of vocal music, during the evening; and as those who attended were so much pleased with the last Concert given at the close of the winter school, we are certain that this entertainment will be one worth attending.

DEATH OF JUDGE CUSHING. Hon. Abel Cushing, for several years one of the Justices of the Boston Police Court, died at his residence in Dorchester on Saturday at the age of eighty-two years. In his earlier life he was an active and influential politician—was Senator from Norfolk County and held other offices.

COUNTERFEIT twenty dollar notes of the First National Bank of Boston are in circulation—a close imitation of the genuine notes, and well calculated to deceive. The back of the bill is rather coarse. The place is liable to be altered to any of the national banks.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE PATRIOT.

The Sheriff of Norfolk County.

DEDHAM, May 17, 1866.
JOHN W. THOMAS, Esq., by the popular voice is the incumbent of this post of care and responsibility; which, indeed, few men among the sovereign people of the County have any desire to occupy; inasmuch as the "High" Sheriff is heavily bound with conditions faithfully to perform all his duty, and is responsible for the acts of his Deputies. Besides the service of warrants, writs, &c., and the presiding at trials by jury in highway cases, he is the custodian of the Jail and House of Correction, and of all the prisoners therein—good, bad and doubtful, at Dedham. For this motley family, he is responsible for their safe-keeping, comfort, care, and cleanliness. During nearly all of the last decennial period of mutations in political parties, Mr. Thomas has filled the office of sheriff with great fidelity and a happy adaptation. As Jailor, he combines discipline with kindness; and this seems his specialty. Strict and systematic in the discharge of every duty, he is worthy of the noble compliment of being called the "prisoner's friend." Mr. Thomas is a native of Weymouth, about fifty years of age, but looking much younger. He comes from the old Puritan stock, and from a family of more than ordinary talents for enterprise and energy. Mr. Thomas and one or more of his brothers, has represented Weymouth in years gone by, in the State Legislature. He holds his present office by the votes of the people for a triennial term, which expires in January, 1869. Salary $1000 per annum.

The present able and efficient Board are N. S. Safford, Esq., of Dorchester, Hon. Milton M. Fisher, of Medway, and Colonel David H. Bates, of Braintree. Special Commissioners—The Hon. Otis Carey, of Foxborough, and Amos H. Holbrook, Esq., of Bellingham. The yearly compensation of the whole, is $2500. The duties of this office have a wide scope, and are both honorable and responsible. They are ably performed, and the County is fortunate in its selection of gentlemen so prominently known for faithful services in other positions of public life. Mr. Safford, who for many years has been Chairman of the Board, has represented Dorchester in the popular branch of the State Legislature, and was one of its ablest members. Messrs. Fisher and Carey, we believe, have been in the Senate, and Colonel Bates, of Weymouth, richly wears the laurels of fame for his gallantry and good deeds in the field of Mars, for suppressing the late unholy rebellion.

Norfolk County Officers in 1844. Let us look back and see who these officers were fifty-five years since. Then there were Justices of the Common Pleas, which Court has been abolished, and County Commissioners substituted. The Justices of the Common Pleas, were Samuel Haven, of Dedham, Chief Justice, Ebenezer Warren, of Foxborough, and Moses Everett, of Dorchester.

Special Justices—Horatio Townsend, of Dedham, Thomas Greenleaf, of Quincy, Samuel Bass, of Randolph, David S. Greenough and Thomas Williams, Jr., of Roxbury.

Clerk of the Courts, Horatio Townsend, of Dedham; Judge of Probate, William Heath of Roxbury; Register of Probate, Samuel Haven, of Dedham; County Treasurer, John Bullard, of Dedham; Sheriff, Elijah Crane, of Canton.

All have passed to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveller returns."

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.—Arrivals and Clearances at the Point, the past week. ARRIVED. Monday, 21st. Schooner Golden Rule, from Bangor—Lumber, to F. Lord, Weymouth.

Wednesday, 23d. Sch'r. E. G. Irwin, from Philadelphia—Coal to O. Adams.

Thursday, 24th. Sch'r. Espray, from Bangor—Lumber, to Weymouth.

Clearance. Thursday, 24th. Schooner (new) Abbie Walton, 321 tons. James H. Rich, Master. Built at this place, and pronounced by good judges to be the finest vessel of her class ever before built here. Owned by Thomas & Taylor, Master, and others.

NEW STORE IN BOSTON. The late Auction Room of Leonard & Co., 45 and 47 Tremont street, has been remodelled, and arranged for a dry goods store, and is one of the most desirable in town, both as regards location and internal convenience. It is occupied by S. S. Houghton & Co., a business firm of energy and character, who have shown excellent judgment in securing it, and whose business tact will develop all of its advantages to themselves and to the public. It is upon the busiest street in town, so airy and well lighted, and presents every attraction to trade. A new vestibule is a prominent feature, that in a manner indicates the spacious comfort within, and the expectation is not disappointed. The business of the store is systematized in such a manner as to avoid confusion, and the small army of feminine clerks move through their respective parts with almost military precision in waiting upon customers. Houghton's will now be, more than ever, a leading place of resort for lady shoppers.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A HORSE. Mr. Isaiah P. White lost on Sunday last, a good horse. The animal appeared perfectly well in the morning and died in the afternoon. It is quite a loss to Mr. White, and he will be obliged to sell many hundred lobsters to return him the value of the same.

THE CURRENCY. The banks in Boston voted on Thursday last week, that on and after the first of July next, bills of the old State banks will not be received on deposit by them. Under this arrangement the national bank currency and greenbacks will soon be the only circulating medium.

PROMOTION OF ADJUTANT-GENERAL SCHOLER.

Adjutant-General Scholer, by an order just issued by Governor Bullock, has been promoted from Brigadier-General to the rank of Major-General. By the same order the Aid-de-Camp of the Governor will hereafter have the rank of Colonel.

TO THE LADIES. We would refer our fair readers to the card of Miss S. H. Hussey, to be found in another column. At her establishment—in the Post Office building—as rich and fine an assortment of Spring Millinery Goods are offered, as can be found either in this place, or the "great emporium" of fashion. We saw "A Love of a Bonnet" there last week, and our lady friends who have patronized to bestow, would do well to give Miss Hussey a call.

GROCERIES. If our readers could discover some means to remove quickly and easily some evening next week, the store of W. B. Mendum at South Boston, to our village, we think there would be fun to watch the throng rushing in, the next morning, for their molasses, tea and sugar. His prices are remarkably low as will be seen by an advertisement in today's paper, and many of our readers will find some way to give him a call.

MILITIA. All persons interested in military matters, should read General Order No. 11, which will be found in our advertising columns. There is a chance now for the young men of Quincy to form a volunteer company, and turn out at May training and musters, the same as in former times.

CHURCHES STRUCK BY LIGHTNING. We learn that Dr. Storrs' church at No. Braintree was struck by lightning on Tuesday night last, the Orthodox Church at So. Braintree was also struck the same night. But little damage was done to either—the lightning rods were shattered in some places.

Gen. Benj. F. Butler has been elected Major General of the State Militia.

Paper manufacturers tell us that one reason of the continued high price of this article is because of the new uses to which it is applied. It is a low estimate to say that thirty tons of paper material is used every day in this country, for collars alone.

The Paterson Press reports that an unusually large apple crop is expected in New Jersey this year.

There are seventeen manufacturers of paper collars in New England, and each girl employed makes about one thousand of them daily.

BUTTER SIXTY-FIVE PER POUND.

An—"Who will care for Mother now?"

See the kite so sleek and hairy,

Calmly chewing at their cud;

Features green around them growing,

And gad flies buzzing in the wood;

Tell them that you'd know their answer,

As you question every cow—

"Muley, tell me, tell me truly,

Who can pay for butter now?"

CHORUS:

Around the markets I am marling,

Asking who will tell me how,

In the issue of all that's fearful

Who can pay for butter now?

The farmers tell us, to our sorrow,

That cows are very dry this year,

But who from this can comfort borrow,

While butter is so extremely dear?

Should you offer them but forty,

They'd kick up a precious row,

So I insist on loudly bawling—

Who can pay for butter now?"

CHORUS—Around the markets, &c.,

Oh, I will soak my bread in gravy!

Or any other kind of grease,

Thus making all the greedy farmers,

Gladly sue for terms of peace;

But will they keep up their prices?

To imposition I'll ne'er bow,

And tell them plainly to their faces,

"I'm blowed if I buy butter now!"

CHORUS—Around the markets, &c.

Farmers' Department.

SELECTING SEED CORN.

"When seed corn has not been saved in autumn," writes an experienced person, "it should be selected from the crib with much care. Choose the long ears, with large kernels and small cob. Let every ear be broken into before shelling. If the pith and cob be bright, the seed will vegetate; but if they appear to have been water-soaked and are dark-colored and somewhat mouldy, the vitality of the germs have been injured if not entirely destroyed. Then with an axe cut off an inch of the top end of the ears selected, and all the irregular kernels at the large end. They can be cut off quicker than shelled off. The small kernels on the tip, and irregular ones on the butt of the ear will not produce as much, nor as handsome grain as those that grow on the middle of the cob. By continuing to plant the small kernels on the little ends of ears, for a few years in succession, the ears will be shorter and the kernels of the butt end will produce ears destitute of kernels in rows.

KEEPING FOWLS.

The most important requisite for keeping fowls, on a large scale, is to begin with a moderate number, and feed one's way, and increase as the business will warrant. To commence with any business on a large scale one does not understand is almost sure to result in failure. It requires some time and experience for any one to discover the various avenues to money-making, which are likely to lead to the best profits, and to be most free from losses.

How to Prepare a Strawberry Bed.

To prepare a strawberry bed well, it is necessary to commence some time previous to planting by applying a good coat of lime, to kill all the larva that may be in the soil, mixing it thoroughly to the depth of at least eighteen inches; then allow it to rest for a month or more. When ready to plant, manure with well-decomposed stable manure, leaf mould, wood ashes and charcoal, if easily obtained. The old-fashioned theory that manure was injurious has well nigh exploded. We have tried the experiment of growing strawberries without manure, but quickly found that it did not pay. Now we manure highly with well-decomposed horse or cow manure and leaf mould. After several years' experience, we have observed that some varieties require a peculiar adaption of soil for their perfect development. For instance, that class of which the old Scotch runner is a fair representative, thrive well in a sandy soil, while the foreign varieties, like a moist clay soil, where they will not suffer from the effects of drought during summer. In selecting plants for planting, the young runners are always the best.

Inednotes.

"What lake is this?" said a freshly arrived countryman to another who had been in the country some time.

"Why, it is the Lake Uron."

"I know it is the lake I'm on, but what's the name of it?"

"Lake Uron, that's the name of it."

"Ah, ah, yes, Lake Uron—but do they call it that when you are not on it?"

His companion gave him a look of pity, and explained.

In the city resides William S—, a transier, who is noted for his jollity, and also for keeping late hours, as he usually goes home at two o'clock in the morning. Well, one stormy night, about a year ago, William concluded to go home early and accordingly, he arrived at his house at just midnight. In answer to his knock, his mother opened a window, and inquired, "Who is there?"

"William," was the reply.

"No," said she, "You can't come that over me; my William won't be home for two hours yet." Poor Bill had to wait till his usual time.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmhold; he oc-

have been favorably impressed with his character
and enterprise.

Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]
We are gratified to hear of the continued successes, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T.
Helmhold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 25 feet front, 230 feet
deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly
a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of
the merit of his articles. He retains his Office
and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this
statement from the fact that his remedies, although
advised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,
And knowing that the intelligent refrain from
using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription,
much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical
preparations.

THESE PARTIES RESORT
To various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates.
The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE,
PURE and MAJESTIC—having Faith for its

INCREASE OF RATS.—The Farmer's
Gazette (English) asserts and proves by figures that one pair of RATS will have a progeny and descendants no less than 631,050 in

ily can be kept down, they would consume
more food than would sustain 63,000 human beings.

Miscellany.
THE GUAVA TART.

It was a gay scene. Flags draped the room from ceiling to floor. In the centre of the hall was a pole wreathed with flowers; a band was stationed upon a raised platform, and before them a bower
of roses, where blushed and shed their fragrance all nature's richest blossoms,
from the first spring bud to the creamy
tea-rose and odoriferous orange. Around the hall were ranged tables, containing all varieties of articles, and behind them fair girls and stately matrons, in the full excitement of selling their various wares.

It was a fancy bazaar,—that institution,
which has become, apparently, a part of the charity and religion of the country,— always talked against, yet always resorted to, as the easiest means of raising any sum required for benevolent objects—
that much abused institution, since it is made to pander to the fast growing taste
for gambling in our community; the young ladies who are employed to sell the tickets for some valuable article, not dreaming that they are violating the law as much as the keeper of the hell in Ann street, and fostering, in their brothers and lovers, the taste for ruinous speculation and gaming. Were this plea presented to them, they would say, O, but it cannot be; this is for a good object, to clothe the naked, feed the hungry. We can do it in no other way so well or easily. This may be so, but it is violating the holy law which forbids doing evil that good may come. Better give up some of the profits, than gain them in such a questionable business. But this is a digression from the gay scene, which was calling forth all the talent and playfulness of the sellers, and
the admiration and money of the buyers.

Ensconced behind one of the tables, and shaded from observation by the falling draperies of lace and cambric, which dropped in tempting array, sat a fair young Quakeress. She took no part in the selling, her home-education forbidding
it; but she looked out upon the motley scene with wonder, and watched the shifting panorama,—now groups of gay
and noisy children, disturbing every one
by their boisterous and ill-timed noise;
now a mother and her petted child; and
then ladies, looking at this, then at that,
sometimes buying largely, then again
passing on. The cake and refreshment
table, perhaps afforded her as much food
for amusement and wonder as anything.

The innumerable number of jellies, that came and disappeared in the twinkling of an eye; the pies and tarts, that were not suffered to remain a moment
upon the dish; the piles of golden sponge;
the large slices of loaf cake, fragrant
as gales from the spice islands. Where did they all go? Why was it that these hosts of people preferred spending their money
on things of mere momentary gratification, to buy something that would be of use or beauty? It is a fact that the American people are an eating people,
in cars or bazaars,—it makes but little difference where. They seem to live to eat, instead of eating only to give themselves the strength and vitality to enable them to perform rightly the duties of the day and the hour. As these thoughts, or something like them, passed through Ruth Garney's mind, she was attracted by a group, so entirely unlike any others
present, she could not help following them with her eyes. They were little ragmuffins, not like Murillo's tatterdemalions, round, rosy and mischievous, with a certain grace lingering around even their tattered garments; but these were sharp,
angular and graceless, evidently feeling themselves out of place, among the silks
and velvets which rustled around them,
but still determined to make themselves at home. They glanced about here and there, and finally approached the table by which Ruth was sitting. They looked at this thing, then the other, and Mrs. O., the matron of the table, grew uneasy.

"What can they want?" she said, "I wish they would go away. Do help me keep a watch, Ruth. I am afraid they will steal something."

The poor lady was wholly under the impression that she was judging unfairly, and did not remember that she

Summary Intelligence.

A young lady in Rockland, Maine, the other night, in a fit of somnambulism, arose and cut off one half of her flowing hair. In the morning she was greatly astonished and grieved, and of course the barber had to complete the work she had unwittingly begun.

The Maine Farmer states that the manufacture of printing paper from poplar wood is being carried on very extensively in that State.

Since 1862 the boot manufacturing business of Chicago has increased from one small establishment to fifteen, which turns out nine hundred cases per week, consuming three hundred dozen sides of upper leather, sixteen hundred sides of sole leather, and fifty dozen calf skins. About twelve hundred hands are employed in the business.

The Clinch Islands do not exceed in extent two and a half square miles, yet for years past they have supplied guano to an average of four hundred ships per annum, the value of such cargoes in Europe being upward of £50,000.

They manage things funny in California; military funerals for instance. After burying the deceased the band comes back and serenades the widow.

One pound of green copperas, dissolved in one quart of water, and poured down a sink drain, will effectually destroy the foulest smells.

A gentleman now living in Norwich, New York, had his pocket picked thirty-three years ago, of three hundred and sixty dollars. At intervals of thirteen, seventeen and three years, he has received the whole amount back in mysterious instalments by mail, with requests to forgive the theft. The robbed gentleman is now eighty-seven years old.

The little tax of one cent upon each box of matches produced last year throughout the United States about $1,500,000, or enough to arm, transport and keep in the field 1,500 men.

A lot of mutilated currency was received lately at the Treasury Department, with the following note: "To the Secretary of the Treasury, Sir: I have sent herewith some old veterans, who have done the country some service, and are ready to be mustered out."

In Birmingham, England, a woman accidentally killed her infant by pressing its head against the front of her dress, in which a needle was sticking. The needle entered the child's head and caused fatal injuries.

Mrs. Johnson Hatch, of Wells, Maine, some years ago made a series of curious experiments, to find how long the germinating principle in corn would continue. She selected a sound ear of corn, and placed a few kernels of every year for thirty years. Every year for twenty-nine years the corn grew and flourished, but the thirtieth year it failed to sprout.

Within five months the farmers of England have lost sixty-five thousand head of cattle, valued at £900,000, by the rinderpest. The loss is a very serious one to the great dairy interests of that country.

GOLD

BAILEY'S PATENT SPRING ROLL AND COG WHEEL
Washing and Wringing Machine,
ALL IN ONE MACHINE!

Awarded the only Gold Medal ever given for a Washing and Wringing Machine; also received the highest awards over all competitors at the State Fair of 1865.

The superiority of this machine over all others, for family use, is apparent at a glance. The following are its leading merits:—
1. COG WHEELS. The public now know that Wringing Machines without Cog Wheels, are kindred to the cloth.

2. ITS PATENT SPRING ROLL. These rolls are made with a powerful and elastic spring, which has an inner packing of rubber, and also a thick outer casing of rubber, forming a roll three inches in diameter, and giving equal pressure on single folds or thick bunches of clothes. Bunches, which destroy the common wringers, and cause the grinding of the rubber on the cloth, are no obstruction to the movements of these efficient rolls, and cause no friction on the cloth or the rolls.

3. ITS PATENT OSCILLATING BOARD, by which the water is conveyed into a tub on either side of the machine, at pleasure. Passing the clothes through the rolls a few times, and conveying the suds, with the clothes, from tub to tub, gives the most thorough washing to every single fibre of the cloth,—much more thorough than any washing by hand can possibly accomplish, while the wear and labor of the hard rubbing is saved.

4. It is the only Machine fastened to the Wash-Bench, and not working on the Tub. All other Machines are restricted to operation on the Tub, by licenses granted by the Proprietors of this Machine, who reserve to themselves the manufacture of this Bench Machine.

Machines also adapted to soapstone or set tubs constantly on hand. For this purpose this is the only suitable Machine.

Large Rolls for all kinds of Wringing Machines, Laundrys, Dry-Houses, Manufactories, &c., to order. Price of usual Family Machine, $15.

PATENT
Cog Wheel Champion
Clothes Wringer!

The Best of the Small Wringers. Price $9.

The only Wringer in use with PATENT SELF-ADJUSTING COG WHEELS, which allow the Rollers to separate without separating the Cores; and the PATENT CURVED CLAMP, which has an equal bearing on the Tub the whole length of the Wringer.

Awarded First Premiums at several State Fairs of 1865, over all other small Wringers used on the Tub.

REPAIRING

done on all kinds of Wringers. But THE BEST MACHINE IS THE CHEAPEST. Get the Best, and do not waste time, patience, and money, on repairing an inferior Wringer, when the BEST will speedily PAY FOR ITSELF BY SAVING CLOTH, as well as time and labor.

PATENT

the clothes in half the time required when spread on ordinary clothes lines; besides, the clothes cannot be torn and worn out by shaking and switching. The Machine can be put up and the line spread ready for use in less than one minute.

At many of the great Fairs held in this country for several years past, it has been awarded FIVE PREMIUMS, DIPLOMAS, and MEDALS; at the World's Fair, London, and at Hamburg, it made quite a sensation; and at the great Sanitary Fairs at Chicago, Brooklyn, New York, and St. Louis, it attracted great attention, and many were sold for the benefit of the Sanitary Cause. Many thousands have been sold in London.

The Dryers are suitably packed in matting for transportation to any part of the world. To place the socket for this machine in the ground, or on a roof, is a very simple piece of work, and can be done by a laborer or carpenter in less than one hour's time.

PRICES.—Size No. 1, including 150 feet of clothes-line and socket, $7.50. Size No. 2, including 120 feet of clothes-line and socket, $6.50.

State and County Rights for sale; also Dryers at wholesale and retail.

PATENT
Window Clothes Dryer!

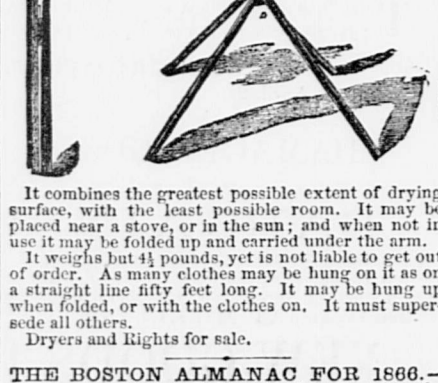

Clothes put on in the house, and run out of the window in one minute!

42- No standing out in the cold!
42- No digging of labor in the snow!
42- A great Labor-Saving and Health-Saving Invention for every household.

State and County Rights for sale!
Patented March 7, 1865.

Fairy Clothes Horse!

Patented February 17, 1863.
Sold for $2.25. Needed in every Family.

It combines the greatest possible extent of drying surface, with the least possible room. It may be placed near a stove, or in the sun, and when not in use it may be folded up and carried under the arm.

It weighs but 41 pounds, yet is not liable to get out of order. As many clothes may be hung on it as on a straight line fifty feet long. It may be hung up when folded, or with the clothes on. It must supersede all other Dryers and Hangers for sale.

SEWING MACHINES.

OUR LETTER A Family Sewing Machine

Is fast gaining a world wide reputation.

It is beyond doubt the

BEST AND CHEAPEST

And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling, Tucking, Gathering, Gusing, Braiding, Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No other Family Sewing Machine has so much capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make our Family Sewing Machine most reliable, and most durable, and most certain in action at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known.

Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity, can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in chaste and exquisite style.

The Folding Case of the Family Machine is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While some of the Cases, made out of the choicest woods, are finished in the simplest and chaste manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb manner.

It is absolutely necessary to see the Family Machine in operation, so as to judge of its great capacity and beauty.

It is fast becoming so popular for family sewing as our Manufacturing machines are for manufacturing purposes.

The Branch Offices are well supplied with silk, twist, thread, needles, oil, &c., of the very best quality.

TO FEMALES IN DELICATE HEALTH
DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No. 7 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system.—Prolapsus Uteri or Flare Albus, Suppression, and other Menstrual Derangements, are all treated on new pathological principles, and speedily relieved in a very few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon resumes in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding, accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States. N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.

MILITARY. President Johnson, after consultation with Lieut. Gen. Grant, has decided to muster out all the white volunteer troops now in service, as they are practically valueless from dissatisfaction at being held now that the war is over. It is believed that large numbers of those in the volunteer service will enlist in the regular army, upon being discharged, or after they have had a short period of relaxation.

CARPETINGS. We recommend to our friends in need of carpeting to call at the well known carpet store of John H. Pray, Sons & Co., 192 Washington St., Boston, and examine their stock, which embraces a large variety of patterns of excellent quality, and which will be sold at fair prices. All customers will receive polite attention at this house, and there is no place in the city where they will be sure of more liberal and honorable dealing. See their column in this issue.

The Rochester (N. H.) Courier says that Charles A. Cook of Milton entered the army as a volunteer, and of course passed muster, before he was twelve years of age. He served about one year, was wounded four times and now at fourteen years he draws a pension of ninety-six dollars a year.

Parker's Pectoral Pastilles give immediate relief in all cases of Coughs, Colds and Affections of the chest and lungs, and rest the Singers and Speakers, clearness of voice. They contain no opium nor any thing deleterious, and are wonderful in the efficacy with which they effect the cure of all diseases of the throat. For sale by all Druggists. Price 25 cents a box. Selected Poetry.

THE PRESENT.

Why do we heap huge mounds of years
Before us and behind,
And scorn the little days that pass
Like angels on the wind?
Each turning round a small sweet face
As beautiful as near;
Because it is so small a face,
We will not see it clear.
We will not clasp it as it flies,
And kiss its lips and brow;
We will not bathe our wearied souls
In its delicious Now.
And so it turns from us, and goes Away in sad disdain;
Though we would give our lives for it,
It never comes again.

Farmers' Department.

EDUCATED FARMERS.

H. W. Beecher says "There is no reason why men of the very highest education should not go to the farm for their living. If a son of mine were brought up on purpose to be a farmer, if that were the calling which he preferred, I still would educate him, if he had common sense to begin with. He would be as much better for a farmer as he would be as a lawyer. There is no reason why a thoroughly scientific education should not be given to every farmer and to every mechanic. A beginning must be made at the common school. Every neighborhood ought to have one. But they do not grow of themselves like toadstools. And no decent man would teach school on wages that a canal boy or hostler would turn up his nose at. You may as well put your money into the fire as to send it to a 'make believe' teacher—a great noodle head who teaches school because he is fit for nothing else! Lay out to get a good teacher. Be willing to pay enough to make it worth while for smart men to become your teachers. And when your boys show an awakening taste for books, see that they have good histories, travels, and scientific tracts and treatises. Above all, do not let the boy get a notion that if he is educated, he must of course quit the farm. Let him get an education that he may make a better farmer. I do not want it to be understood that learning is detrimental to the owners and tillers of the soil. The intelligent farmer, other things being equal, succeeds better than the one who is ignorant.

HINTS FOR THE FLOWER GARDEN.

Preparing ground is, of course, the first thing in order. If flowers have been growing in the ground for many years, new soil does wonders. Rich manure makes plants grow, but they do not always flower well with vigorous growth. If new soil is not to be had, a wheelbarrow of manure to about every fifty square feet will be enough. If the garden earth looks gray or yellow, rotten leaves—quite rotten leaves—will improve it. If heavy, add sand. If very sandy, add salt—about half a pint to fifty square feet. If about black or rich from previous year's manuring, use a little lime, about a pint slacked to fifty square feet. If the garden be full of hardy perennial flowers, do not dig it, but use a fork, and that not deeply. Dig garden ground only when the soil is warm and dry. Do not be in a hurry, or you may get behind. When a clod of earth will crush to powder as you step on it, it is time to dig—not before. If perennial plants have stood three years in one place, separate the stools, replanting one third, and give the balance to your neighbor who has none.

Set out the annuals you have got forward in windows or frames—that is hardly one. The plan used to be set out in a shower; but that plan is barbarous. No wonder with such old foggy rules our handsome young ladies are disgusted with gardening. Let the girls lift the seedlings carefully from the soil in the pots, set the roots in a saucer of water, take them to their assigned places in the garden, and from the water dabble them at once in. Cover for twenty-four hours with an inverted flower-pot, next day cover only six hours during the middle of the day—next but an hour or so, during the hot sun, if there be any; and the plant is safe. Study the difference between hardy and tender annuals. The latter must be set out only in April. In the North—extreme north—also of course, our rules are too early.—Maryland Farmer.

Anecdotes.

An Irish officer upon seeing a beautiful picture sketched upon a wall in America, exclaimed—
"It is a fine painting, but it never was done in America."
"Oh, sir," says his friend, "don't you see it on the solid wall, and therefore must have been done in this country."
"Ah," replied he, "I see that plain enough, but I only meant that the man who done it, was never in America."

"Hello, Sharp, you hobbler, my boy, what is the matter?"
"Oh, I had my foot crushed between the railroad cars."
"And don't you mean to sue for damages?"
"Damages, no, no—I have had damages enough, already. Hadn't I better sue for repairs?"

"Pompey," said a good-natured gentleman, to his colored man, "I did not know till to-day, you had been whipped last week."
"Didn't you, massa?" replied Pompey, "I knowed it at do time."

Southworth's

Vegetable Canker Destroyer.

"I'm all eaten up with canker."

"My mouth and throat are so sore I can hardly swallow."

"Such a burning in my stomach, I wish I could get rid of it."

These signs of the canker are continually coming on, and the afflicted are continually suffering from this awful destroyer of the health, unaware of a good and genuine remedy. The "Canker Destroyer" not only cures a cure, but entirely eradicates it from the system.

Prepared and put up only by A. C. SOUTH-WORTH, Druggist and Apothecary, Newport, Mass.

Sold at Mrs. E. HAYDEN'S, Quincy, Mass. Nov. 25

Cured in Ten Minutes.

I have the prescription used by Dr. BEECH in the North Ward, New York, in his extraordinary treatment of Cholera during the fearful ravages of that disease in 1832. During 3 years in the Potomac Army, and 5 mos. in Andover Prison, I administered it to over 1,000 Cholera-morbus, Dysentery, and Diarrhea cases. It never failed to cure. I could have saved every man that died in that prison during that time, if I had the material to make the medicine, and could have kept the patients warm while treating them. If the Cholera reaches Boston and New York this summer—and there is no reason to doubt that it will—I will bet $100 against $10 that I cure 7 out of every 10 cases I can reach within 5 hours after the disease shows itself in the patient.

I am not a "Doctor," and do not desire the equivocal honors of that title. Not one physician in ten can make a correct diagnosis of any disease, and not one in a hundred can give a reliable prognosis. I will send this Prescription, with full printed directions how to make the medicine, for $5. Please take notice:—I don't care whether the disease is chronic or recent, I can cure it. Address

Poetry.

THE FARMER.

Saw ye the Farmer at his plough,
As you were riding by,
Or, wearied 'neath his noon-day toil
When Summer suns were high?
And thought you that his lot was hard,
And did you thank your God
That you and yours were not condemn'd,
Thus like a slave to plod.

Come see him at his harvest home,
When garden, field and tree,
Conspire with flowing stores to fill
His barn and granary.
His healthful children gaily sport
Amid the new-mown hay,
Or, proudly aid with vigorous arm,
His task as best they may.

The dog partakes his master's joy,
And guards the loaded wain;
The faithful people clap their wings
And lead their youngling train—
Perchance the hoary grandsire's eye,
The glowing scene surveys,
And breathes a blessing on his race,
Or, guides their evening praise.

The Harvest Giver is their friend,
The maker of their soil;
And earth their mother gives them bread,
And cheers their patient toil.
Come join them round their wintry hearth.
There heart-felt pleasures see,
And you can better judge how best
The Farmer's life may be.

RYE DROP CAKES. To one pint of sour or butter-milk, add two eggs, a small teaspoon of soda, a little salt and rye-meal, sufficient to make a batter that will spread
a little, but not run. Drop in muffinrings with a spoon. For baking they will require twice the time of common griddlecakes. They are also nice baked in cups about fifteen minutes.

I am astonished, my dear young

THE DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION.

Not long ago Governor Gilmore, in a note to a friend reminding him that a collection was to be taken up at the close of a religious service for a charitable object, added the X-pressive hint—"See that you have a saw-horse in your pocket."
Saw-horses are not only good for the collection-box, but are also good for medicine.

Some years ago our neighbor Mr. —
found his health failing. For some days he shut himself in his house, using such means as were recommended by his friends,
but all to no purpose; it was not, however,
until after much persuasion of anxious friends that a physician was called in.
His case was stated. The doctor did not seem to be very hasty in making up his mind, but promised to send him some medicine which would no doubt cure him.
Hour after hour elapsed, and no message arrived. In fact there had been but one rap at the door during the forenoon, and that by an awkward boy who was reprimanded for bringing a wood-saw, horse and axe to the front door, and directed to take them round to the gate. The Doctor was again sent for.

"Well," says the Doctor, "how does the medicine work?"

"The medicine, dear sir, I have seen none."

"Ah, I see, you don't know how to take it."

"But sir, there is some error—I have received no medicine whatever."

"Didn't a boy bring you a saw-horse,
saw and axe?"

"There was, Doctor, something of the kind brought to the door—but if that is your prescription, how under the sun can
a sick man take such indigestible articles?
I don't understand, Doctor."

"Well, then, I will tell you; and in a low voice slowly proceeded: "To-morrow morning, about ten o'clock put on your jacket, go into the wood-house, place the stick of wood on the horse, and play the saw, as slowly as you please, for an hour.
Then go to your room, and without removing your outer garments, sit by the fire until your perspiration subsides. Follow this daily, and you will soon be your own man again."

The prescription was strictly followed,
the medicine was taken, and the patient was cured. Strength and powers of digestion returned. The medicine was continued for some years, and no other was taken with so good effect.

It has been suggested, that if to the nostrums of the day saw-dust pills be added,
to be taken in the wood-shed and digested
over the wood-horse, they would produce as wonderful cures for dyspepsia as any pills now extant.

MAKE THE HOMESTEAD ATTRACTIVE.

It need not cost much money to adorn
the place one lives in. Begin by digging out the briars and thistles of the door-yard. Plant a few trees; then add several flowering shrubs. Perhaps that will answer for one year. Next year make a gravel walk or two, and set a few flowering plants by their sides. Your wife and daughter will sow some flower seeds, if you will prepare a neat border for them.
Look at these few improvements, some bright morning in June, and we guarantee you will be glad you made them.
And these labors, so rewarding, will lead
on to others. The fences and buildings will be kept in repair. Trees will be set out along the roadside. The house will have window blinds, the rooms will be papered and painted; good furniture will be provided, and books and papers will not be missing. All these things will be regulated according to one's ability. And as a general rule, whatever our means, it is better to make improvements by degrees, from year to year, than to do them
all up at once "by the job." Be assured this is the way to find the most happiness in house adorning. And remember, the influence of such improvements does not end with the individual family. They tell silently, but with great effect, upon society. Every neighbor and every passer by feels them, and many are led by such examples to go and do likewise.

SATURDAY NIGHT.

How many a kiss has been given, how many a curse, how many a look of hate,
how many a promise has been wrecked,
how many a loved one lowered to the narrow chamber, how many a babe has gone from earth to Heaven, how many a little crib or cradle stands silent now, which last Saturday night held the rarest of all treasures of the heart! A week marks the events of sorrow or of gladness, which people never heed. Go home to your family, man of business. Go home thou heart-erring wanderer. Go home to the cheer that awaits you, wronged wife on life's breakers. Go home to those you love, man of toil, and give one night to the joys and comforts fast flying by.— Leave your books with complex figures, your busy store. Rest with those you love; for God alone knows what next Saturday night will bring you. Forget the world of care and the battles with life which have furrowed the week. Draw the close around the family hearth. Saturday night has awaited your coming in sadness, in tears and in silence. Go home to those you love, and as you bask in the loved presence, and meet to return the loved embrace of your heart's pet, strive to be a better man, and bless God for giving his weary children so dear a stepping stone in the river to the ETERNAL,

as Saturday Night.

THE DOCTOR AND COALMAN.

Some fifteen years ago old Sam H—
had a coal pit up in the backwoods of Rhode Island, several miles from any human habitation. Once a week he would load up his cart with charcoal, and with his old blind horse would go to the city,
some twenty miles or so, peddle out his
coal, and the next morning by daylight,
with his peck of oats for his nag, and a stock of cold victuals for himself, laid aside in a box under the seat, would return on his journey through the woods.

After getting a few miles out of the city,
old Sam would settle himself for a nap.
Knowing full well that his old nag knew
the road as well, if not better than himself. One day, on his return from the city, old Sam, as usual, half asleep, and his horse going about the same gait as a yoke of old oxen attached to a plow, he was awakened by some one shouting out to him to hold up, and "cursing him high and dry." Sam soon ascertained that it was the voice of Dr. B—, a young physician from a neighboring village, who spotted one of the most fancy teams in that part of the country, and when he came to look out he found himself in a bad fix. He was on a part of the road where there was only one track, and a deep ravine on each side,

words and actions should make you gentle. I never heard your mother—your dear, good mother—say a hard or hasty thing to any body in my life. Endeavor to imitate her. I am quick and hasty in my temper; but, my darling, it is a misfortune which I have not having been sufficiently restrained in my youth, has caused inexpressible pain. It has given me more trouble to subdue this impetuosity than anything I ever undertook."

SUDDEN DEATH. Capt. John S. Packard of this town, after eating his dinner on Sunday last, complained of a severe pain in the stomach, but as he had been subject to these spells for some years not much was thought of it. His wife applied some hops to relieve him and he laid down and fell asleep. On awaking, he did not feel so well, but still nothing serious was apprehended, but in the evening his wife fearing that he might be taken worse in the night, thought best to send for a physician. He sat on the bedside when the doctor arrived, and conversed with him telling how he felt and how he had been during the day. The doctor stepped into an adjoining room with Mrs. Packard to prepare some medicine, when Mr. P. gave a loud groan and threw himself back on the bed. The doctor immediately entered the room, and found him apparently lifeless, but after applying restoratives he rallied, but was unable to converse any and expired at a quarter of two o'clock on Monday morning. The doctor pronounced it heart disease. Mr. Packard was a good neighbor, a devoted husband and an affectionate father and leaves a large circle of friends to mourn his sudden death.

THAT COMICAL BROWN. If the old couplet be true, that

"Care to our coffin adds a nail no doubt, While mirth with busy fingers pulls one out,"
"Everybody and his wife" should go to hear that favorite son of the muses, popularly known as "That Comical Brown," who is to give one of his mirth-provoking musical treats, at the Town Hall, Quincy, next Saturday evening, June 16, when we anticipate a crowded house and a jolly time; for Brown always draws a full house, and keeps his large audiences in roars of laughter.

Miss Marsh, the fascinating and popular contralto will assist, as will also Miss Mattie A. Brown, the dramatic reader; and Mr. E. M. Eustis will exhibit the wonderful sagacity of the celebrated trained dogs, "Scottie" and "Prince Charlie." The entertainments given by this Company are among the most successful of any now before the Quincy people, those who wish seats must go early.

PERSONAL. We take pleasure in copying from the Poughkeepsie Daily Eagle, of the 17th ult., the following notice of a presentation made to one of our Quincy boys, of a gold headed cane. It speaks well for one so young, and we hope it will stimulate him to higher and nobler positions:—

"We were invited to a most pleasing and interesting incident occurring a few days since, which certainly was a gratifying evidence of the popularity of Mr. Albert Merritt, Professor of Mathematics and teacher in the Senior Department of Eastman National Business College. He was made the recipient of a beautiful gold headed cane, valued at fifty dollars, presented to him by the students of the college, as a testimonial of their respect and esteem for him as an instructor and friend. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Gorton, as follows:

Mr. Merritt: It has been thought proper by the students of this College to present you with some token of their friendship. They have instructed me to ask that you accept this cane, as a slight testimonial of their high regard for you. In presenting it you need not be told that it expresses but little of the feelings which we hold toward you. Representing as we do, nearly every State in this Union, we only ask that you will consider that in whatever portion of this land you may be, you will find a friend whenever you meet one who has been a student of Eastman College. If in the future you should notice the name of any one of us, as one who has made his life a success, please consider that to you in a great measure it is success due, for we shall then feel as we do now, that through the efforts of our teachers here, we have acquired the discipline necessary to battle with the billows of the business world.

MR. MERRITT'S REPLY.
Mr. Gorton and Dear Friends: I am too much overwhelmed by this unexpected coming, to be able to express to you my thanks for this most beautiful present. I shall prize this gift—not so much on account of its worth, as the kindly feeling which prompted it. I shall always keep it, and a glance at the inscription and date will call to mind the happiest days of my life—for kind friends I never expect to spend happier hours than those I have passed while associated with you here as teacher. . . . I have never during my connection with this Institution had but one object in view, and that adopted as my motto, "Kind words cost nothing." When in the unseen bygone scenes and associations, fond memory will not neglect this hour and these faces. . . . I return you my testimonial of esteem, and ask that you will always in prosperity or adversity consider me your friend."

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

BOSTON, JUNE 7, 1866.

THE FENIAN MOVEMENT.

On the Canada border, is likely to culminate most seriously to Great Britain. All is excitement here about the Fenian invasion of Canada. President Johnson has issued a Proclamation, declaring the Fenian expedition and enterprise unlawful, warning all good citizens against aiding and abetting it; and ordering the civil and military authorities to prevent, defend and arrest all persons engaged in violating the neutrality laws. Matters are taking a momentous issue. The tocsin of war is indeed sounded, and the sun-burst flag is flying upon British soil. The blow has been struck, and the Irish heart is upraised for the green flag and liberation of Ireland. Our government will of course do its duty in enforcing the neutrality laws. But the sympathy of the American people is for Ireland; and none for the British Lion. Mr. John Bull, we remember your sacred regard to neutrality laws, through the late rebellion. The tables are now turned against you. It is not long since, the Southern rebels were the chivalrous lions in the Canadian cities, where they organized predatory bands of cut-throats to make raids upon the peaceful and defenceless border towns of the United States. The challenge which was pressed upon us only a few months ago is now commended to the lips of those Provincials who so earnestly hoped that the great Republic would go down under the blows administered by our domestic enemies. The tardy and inefficient action of the Canadian authorities, and the legal mockeries of Justice Counsel, have not been forgotten by the people of this country. Nor will the perfidious course of Great Britain toward us during the late rebellion ever be forgotten by loyal Americans.

BUSINESS MATTERS.—POLITICAL.

The extraordinary Fenian excitement, with the continued unfavorable news from Europe as to financial matters; and the prospects of a general war over Continental Europe, have an unfavorable influence on business. Gold yesterday touched 146. The shipments have continued large, and there are rumors of large amounts of Government securities soon to be sent back from Germany.—If our bonds come back from Europe, there can be no means of relief except the further advance of the premium on gold sufficient to check importations. The great amount of paper money in circulation, makes the market easy, and money in State street is loaning this week at 4 per cent. The only remedy for this uncertainty in money matters, is Congressional action for a gradual but sure contraction of paper issues. In this, Congress so far, has failed in an important duty to the country. The under current at Washington is too much of a political character—and the warfare between the President and Congress is any thing but salutary to the prosperity of the Country. The Re-construction Committee have been re-elected of the States. The President continues firm, and we believe honest in his views on re-construction, and yet he daily receives the condemnation of the radical portion of the Republican Party, simply for a difference in opinion. The great Union Republican party, the skillful pilot that weathered the storm of the rebellion should hold together. The President belongs to that party and should receive the support of every loyal man in his efforts to harmonize all conflicting political elements, that our glorious Union may be made perfect and perpetual. Stand by the President, for these objects. Union, harmony, conciliation for our country—nothing for party.

THE NEW POSTAGE BILL provides that after June 1st, 1866, prepaid and free letters shall be forwarded, at the request of the party addressed, from one post office to another without additional postage charge, and returned dead letters shall be restored to the writers thereof free of charge, as shall also letters indorsed with a request to be returned to their writers; that money orders may hereafter be issued as high as fifty dollars; that a money order shall be valid and payable when presented within one year after its date, but for no longer period; and in case of the loss of a money order, a duplicate thereof shall be issued without charge; and, finally, that persons wilfully and maliciously injuring, or defacing, or destroying mail matter, shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned not more than three years.

CATTLE DISEASE IN CONNECTICUT. A singular disease among cattle has made its appearance in Fairfield County, Connecticut. The animals sickened suddenly and died within thirty-six hours after they were attacked. Upon opening it was found that the brains and shoulders of the cattle were mortified, emitting a stench almost unpalatable to be borne. The disease is said to look much like the rinderpest.

BE CAREFUL OF CHLOROFORM.—George H., son of Mr. Charles R. Mitchell of this town, went to Boston on Tuesday morning last to have a piece of steel extracted from his right eye. The surgeon administered Chloroform, which caused young Mitchell to lay in an unconscious condition for many hours; and it was thought he would not recover. His father was sent for, and we are happy to say, near the close of the day he so far recovered as to return home, and is slowly convalescing.

WE would call the attention of our readers to a Guardian's sale of house and land on Copeland Street, on Thursday next, at three o'clock. For particulars see advertisement.

FIRE. A small tenement near the old toll-house, on Quincy Avenue, in this town, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. It caught from a defect in the chimney. It was owned by Mr. Joseph Richards and occupied by Mr. Joseph H. Thayer, who had considerable clothing and other articles burnt.

MIRROR AND PICTURE AND OTHER FRAMES.

Our readers and the public who may have occasion to procure mirror, picture, photograph, and other frames, will find the establishment of MESSRS. TENNEY & MARSHALL, No. 322 Washington street, Boston, one of the very best in the country. These gentlemen are noted for their skill, taste, and ingenuity, and all their articles bear the unmistakable stamp of artistic workmanship. Their judgment in the important point of furnishing frames that are adapted to pictures is well known in Boston, and they accordingly have a fine class of patronage. They also regild old frames, and perform such other work as pertains to a first-class house of this kind. Where persons cannot visit the city, orders by express will be faithfully and promptly attended to. We cordially commend Messrs. Tenney & Marshall to our readers, feeling assured that any patronage extended to them will be profitable and satisfactory.

DUTIES ON IMPORTS. On Saturday in May nearly $1,700,000. The Bonded Warehouses are all well filled. Molasses and sugar have been coming in freely.—Boston Commercial.

Summary Intelligence.

A number of cultivators in Camden County, New Jersey, have invested over ten thousand dollars in the cultivation of tomatoes, from which they intend to manufacture vinegar. Hundred of additional acres of ground will be planted this year for the purpose.

Mr. Richard Winslow, aged seventy-four years, who has lived since his boyhood within ten miles of Fall River, visited the city a few days ago for the first time since 1806, just sixty years ago. At the date of his previous visit, he was a lad of fourteen years, and there were then scarcely a dozen houses on the spot which now contains a population of nearly 20,000.

Fifty thousand dollars for Mr. Garrison. A movement has been inaugurated by the friends of William Lloyd Garrison for a national testimonial of $50,000, to be presented to him for his services in the anti-slavery cause.

On the average every morning 75,893 children—38,109 boys and 37,784 girls—go to school in Philadelphia. What an interesting procession these would make if placed in line!

Forty thousand immigrants arrived at New York in the month of May.

A colored man who was refused cabin passage by two steamboats, from Duval's Bluff to Memphis, has sued the captains for $4,000 damages each. He insists upon having his "civil rights."

Some of the Franklin county farmers who refused $1 a pound for their wool a year ago, now carry it to the mills at So. Adams, and are glad to get 55 cents a pound.

A very patient New Yorker has been counting the different styles of hats that appear on Broadway, and reports the number of varieties at 175.

The weight of small matter received and sent out from the New York Post Office each twenty-four hours is ninety tons.

The State House at Concord, (N. H.), is finished and was occupied by the Legislature on Wednesday last.

Boston realizes $96,000 for rent of stalls and cellars of Quincy and Faneuil Hall markets.

Massachusetts pays a tax on more gold watches and pianos than any other State of equal population in the Union. The amount paid last year was about $50,000.

Judge Charles P. Huntington has been removed from the collectorship in the 2d Mass. District, and District Attorney Benjamin W. Harris has been appointed.

It is believed that Congress will adjourn about the middle of July, although some of the members are opposed to any adjournment, desiring to have a succession of short recesses through the summer, in order that the President may not make removals from office.

THE LIQUOR LAW. Legal gentlemen who have examined the law passed at the session of the Legislature, modifying the penalties for violating the Liquor Law, are of the opinion that it does not affect the cases now pending in Court. This question will be argued in the Supreme Court on the 28th of June.

DELICACIES. Our friend Carver, on Temple Street, has opened his Ice Cream Saloon in a very tasteful manner this season, and is now prepared to offer his choice creams to those who may favor him with a call. We doubt not that a warm day will soon come that will give us all a desire to indulge.

STATE BANK CURRENCY. On the 1st of July the new tax on all bank currency, not national goes into effect. All bills of State banks issued after that time are to be taxed ten per cent. Of course this will result in the withdrawal of the State bank currency.

McKellar's Patent BEE POWDER advertised in another column, is highly recommended as an excellent article for making Small Beer. It makes a rich, delicious and sparkling drink at a cost of only a cent a quart, and is easily made. It is sold by all Dealers.

The income tax has finally been fixed by Congress at five per cent, on all incomes under five thousand, and ten per cent on all over five thousand. One thousand dollars is to be exempted, instead of six hundred, as at present.

Miscellany.
THE BEST FUN.
“Now, boys, I’ll tell you how we can have some fun,” said Freddie B—, to his companions, who had assembled on a beautiful moon-light evening, for sliding,
snow-balling, and fun generally.
“How?” “Where?” “What is it?”
asked several eager voices all at once.
“I heard widow M—, tell a man a little while ago,” replied Freddie, “that she would go over and sit up with a sick child to-night. She said she would be over about eight o’clock. Now, as soon as she is gone, let’s go and make a big snow man on her door step, so that when she comes back in the morning she cannot get into her house, without first knocking him down.”
“Capital,” “First-rate,” “Hoors,” shouted some of the boys.
“See here,” said Charlie N—, “I’ll tell you the best fun.”
“What is it?” again inquired several voices at once.
“Wait a while,” said Charlie, “Who’s got a wood-saw?”
“I have,”—“So have I,”—“And I,” answered three of the boys; but what in the world do you want a wood-saw for?”
“You shall see,” replied Charlie. “It is almost eight o’clock now, so go and get your saws. You, Freddie and Nathan, get each an axe, and I will get a shovel.
Let us all be back here in fifteen minutes,
and then I’ll show you the fun.”
The boys separated to go on their several errands, each wondering what the fun
could be, and what possible use could be made of wood-saws and axes in their play.
But Charlie was not only a great favorite with them all, but also, an acknowledged leader and they fully believed in him and in his promise. Their curiosity gave elasticity to their steps, and they were soon assembled.
“Now,” said Charlie, “Mrs. M— is gone, for I met her when I was coming back, so let’s be off at once.”
“But what are you going to do?” enquired several impatient members of the party.
“You shall see directly,” replied the leader, as they approached the humble residence of Mrs. M—.
“Now, boys,” said Charlie, “you see that pile of wood; a man hauled it here
this afternoon, and I heard Mrs. M— tell him that unless she got some one to saw it to-night, she should have hardly anything to make a fire of in the morning.”
Now we can saw and split that pile of wood just about as easy as we could build a great snow man, and when Mrs. M—comes home from her watching, she will be full as much surprised to find her wood sawed, as she would to find a snow man
on her doorstep, and a great deal more pleasantly surprised, too. What say you?
Will you do it?”
One or two of the boys rather demurred
at first. They didn’t like to saw wood,
they said. But the majority were in favor of Charlie’s project, so they finally joined in, and went to work with a will.
“I’ll go around to the back of the shed,”
said Charlie, “and crawl through the window and unfasten the door. Then we’ll take turns in sawing, splitting and carrying in the wood; and I want to pile it up real nice, and to shovel all the snow away
from the door; and a good, wide path,
too, from the door to the street—won’t it be fun, when she comes home and sees
it?”
The boys began to appreciate the fun,
for they felt that they were doing a good deed, and individually experienced that self-satisfaction and joy which always results from well doing.
It was not a long or wearisome job for seven robust and healthy boys, to saw,
split and pile up the poor widow’s half-
cord of wood, and to shovel a good path.
And when it was done, so great was their pleasure and satisfaction, that one of the boys who objected to the work at first,
proposed that they should go to a neighboring carpenter’s shop, (where plenty of shavings could be had for the carrying away,) and each bring an armful of kind-ling wood. The proposition was readily accepted to, and this done they repaired
to their several homes, all of them more than satisfied with the “fun” of the evening. And next morning, when the weary widow returned from watching by the sick-bed, and saw what was done, was pleasantly surprised; and afterwards,
when a neighbor, (who had, unobserved, witnessed the labors of the boys,) told her

it was done, her fervent invocation—“God bless the boys,” was, of itself, if they could but have heard it, an abundant reward
for their labors.
Ah, boys and girls, the best fun is always found in doing something that is kind and useful. This is the deliberate opinion of a gray headed old man; but if you doubt it, in the least, just try it for yourselves, and you will be convinced.

TOOTHACHE
The great causes of toothache are cold and decay. The first is more easily guarded against than the second. All important as is the subject on account of the ever-recurring and constant pain it occasions, it has not received so much attention as it should, because it is not thought dangerous. It is however a greater evil than many dangerous maladies. From what we have read and heard, we attribute the decay of the teeth chiefly to acidity. This is counteracted by cleaning the teeth every night with magnesia. This is a prevention. A cure for a fit of toothache is not so easily given; a few drops of eau de cologne in the mouth and on the side affected often give relief. Another remedy is of a homely nature, but no less effectual.— Take a piece of coarse brown paper
about the size of the cheek; steep it in Janniet rum; then grate a thick layer of ginger over the saturated brown paper; apply it to the side of the face affected, and lie down for half an hour. This application will bring out a great deal of redness, but leaves no mark whatever.

TAKE THESE.
Some twenty years ago, a farmer’s barn
in the vicinity of Worcester, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground.
Many of the citizens had gone to the fire,
when a top, well strapped and dicked, with his cap on one side of his head, met a celebrated doctor and accosted him in this wise:—
“Can you, ah, tell me, doctah, how far they have succeeded in extinguishing the conflagration of the ah, unfortunate yea-man’s barn?”
The doctor eyed the individual attentively, dropped his head as usual for a moment, and then slipped his thumb and fingers in his vest pocket took out a couple of pills and handed them to him saying:— “Take these, sje, and go to bed; and if you do not feel any better in the morning, call at my office.”

Fault-Finding with your Children.
It is at times necessary to censure and punish; but very much more may be done
by encouraging children when they do well. Be, therefore, more careful to express your approbation of good conduct than your disapprobation of bad. Nothing can more discourage a child than a spirit of incessant fault-finding on the part of its parents; and hardly anything can exert a more injurious influence upon the disposition both of the parent and child. There are two great motives influencing human action—hope and fear.
Both of these are at times necessary.
But who would not prefer to have her child influenced to good conduct by a desire of pleasing rather than by the fear of offending? If a mother never expresses her gratification when her children do well, and is always censuring them when she sees anything amiss, they are discouraged and unhappy; their dispositions become hardened and soured by this ceaseless fretting; and, at last, finding that, whether they do well or ill, they are equally found fault with, they relinquish all efforts to please, and become heedless of reproaches.—N. Y. Dispatch.

WHY SAM NEVER MARRIED.
Sam—, a colored man, residing somewhere in Berkshire County, (Mass.)
by good luck, received a fine start in the world, and soon acquired a handsome property. When he had reached middle life, a friend asked him, one day, why he did not marry, as a man in his circumstances was abundantly able to support a wife.
“Oh! I consider myself too good to marry a nigger-wench,” returned Sam,
with a frown to turn up his flat nose.
“Marry a white woman, then,” continued his friend, “the laws of Massachusetts allow it, I think.”
“I’ll be hanged if I’d have a white woman that was mean enough to marry a nigger, replied Sam, with a huge yuffaw.

Patriot Supplement.

HOW COAL WAS DISCOVERED IN PENNSYLVANIA. A writer in the New York Observer asserts that Col. George Shoemaker, a gentleman of Teutonic origin, was the discoverer of Pennsylvania coal. He lived on the Schuylkill and owned extensive tracts. The writer goes on to say:

"It chanced one day that in constructing a line of the canal, the workmen discovered some of the black stones that were lying about the place. 'Mine Got! mine Got! des stonnes pe all on fire!' exclaimed the astonished Dutchman, when the rich glow of the ignited anthracite met his gaze. The neighbors, who, of course, were few and far between, were, after much ado, assembled to witness the marvel. This happened in 1812. Shortly after, mine host loaded a Pennsylvania team with the black stones, and journeyed slowly to Philadelphia, a distance of ninety-three miles. There unforeseen difficulties were presented. The grates and stoves then in use were not constructed to facilitate the combustion of anthracite, and burn it would not! After many ineffectual efforts to ignite the product, it was thrown aside as worthless, and our discomfited German, who had beguiled his tedious way to the metropolis with dreams of ingots, returned to digest his disappointment in his mountain solitude."

A SHREWD FEMALE SPECULATOR. The Amador (Cal.) Ledger tells the subjoined: "A short time ago a widow lady residing in a village not a thousand miles from here, put her house up at a raffle, and very soon disposed of the tickets—all feeling disposed to assist her. The evening arrived for the raffle to come off, and the house was won by a gentleman who thought himself fortunate in obtaining a homestead so cheap. The next day he applied for possession, and a title to the property. What was his surprise when he was coolly informed that it was unnecessary to give any written title to the house—that there it was, and to take it; and the sooner the better, as she was anxious to build another on the spot where it stood. The winner discovered that he had drawn an elephant—he had a house, but no lot."

RURAL INNOCENCE. Gas is being introduced into Webster, (Mass.) and a lady into whose residence the fitters were putting the pipes inquired how often she must put in new wicks.

THE LARGEST HORSE IN CONNECTICUT. Richard T. Merwin of New Haven has a horse that weighs 1720 pounds! Her shoes appear as though one would cover a peck measure, and her strength is in proportion to her size. She is about eight years old, and has gained two hundred pounds in the year and a half that Mr. M. has owned her.

New Orleans papers tell of an old colored preacher at Port Gibson who recently baptized thirty colored converts and charged them a dollar a piece. On the following Sunday he only succeeded in inducing two to present themselves who were willing to pay. Becoming indignant at the parsimony of his congregation, he refused to baptize the two candidates for glory, saying he wasn't gwine to sloss hisself up for no two dollars of anybody's money.

THERE are in all, including steamboats and railway stations, fifty-two inlets to the city of London, through which in the course of each twenty-four hours no fewer than 706,621 persons enter, a number equal to one-fourth of the entire metropolitan population—or, added to the sleeping population, to more than the entire population of Dublin, Edinburgh, and Glasgow put together.

The journals of Berlin state that a Hungarian girl, born at Ogdensburg, without hands, now twenty years of age, has been giving some curious representations in the Prussian capital. She performs with her mouth the functions of hands. She sews, embroiders, executes the most delicate work with pearls, even threads her needles and makes knots, all with her tongue, apparently without difficulty, and certainly without the assistance of any one.

A BUSINESS firm in Memphis detected a thief quite adroitly recently. They missed money from the till for some days, amounting to two hundred and fifty dollars, but could not detect the guilty party. The cashier, as an experiment, emptied into the drawer some nitrate of silver. The thief went to the till to make his evening capital, and in abstracting the money covered his hands with the nitrate, which he was unable to get off. An examination of his paws in the morning proved the fact, and the guilty party was arrested.

TEA. Dates from China, a little over two months old, say that the tea season was nearly over, and that the total export for 1865-6 to America and Great Britain were about sixteen millions of pounds more than in 1864-5.

For the Patriot.
THE TYPOGRAPHIC ART.

We are all interested in the growth and development of the arts and sciences; and in no great science, perhaps, is so little interest manifested as that which we have selected for consideration at the present time. We know that the newspaper is the proper medium through which to discuss this subject; for intelligent people engaged in the typographic art are emphatically a newspaper-reading people. A few simple suggestions, therefore, as to how the work may be more neatly executed, especially in book printing establishments, may be beneficial to those whom our paper may reach, and who may be needing enlightenment in the difficult but important art. Old men, who have been employed their lifetimes in making books after they have been written, are not too old to learn some new thing connected with the business every day, and consider they have never mastered the trade, any more than an accomplished violinist can produce all the music which is in his instrument by constant fiddling. On the contrary, we behold young men, and girls, in our book-printing offices, who have mastered, or are mistresses of the art! A few boys work two or three weeks at the business of type-setting, and retire, sorry that they ever learned the trade, while by far too many continue at the business, who have broad hands and chests which might, perhaps, be suitably employed in a blacksmith's shop, or on a farm. It requires talent and a good degree of neatness to be a blacksmith; but no one would think of employing blacksmith's tools, or exercising his horse-shoeing ingenuity in setting the type for a neat book. That many persons are employed at the printer's "case" who are totally unfit for the task, is made manifest by circulating through some of the large houses where books are printed. Of course it is expected that all are not equal as workmen, but it is not expected that all are to be equal in the compensation for labor. Such is the case in many places. Good workmen are paid the same price as poor workmen, and what is lost on one class is made up on the other. Will good workmen longer allow themselves to be thus humiliated? If the stupid compositor is allowed to remain, we will always show him by example how to "justify" and "space" his "matter"—not to employ a thin space between perpendicular letters and after an f, or before a j, and thick space the line in every other place; not to increase the spacing every where but after periods, semi-colons, or colons, but equalize the spacing there, so that the space may be greater, as it ought to be; not to thin space a line in narrow measure, nor make small divisions of words. Many rules might be given, which, if they were not original with us, have served us to advantage. The poorest grammarian we have always found to be opposed to any treatise on punctuation; and will set up his own authority as the best, and ridicule any other which differs from it. It is the result of an ignorant habit. He says so many commas, semi-colons, and colons are unnecessary; and, in composition, he will make use of them instead of periods when they are in their proper places. In book-printing, a punctuation mark is as important as a letter, and should be as carefully inserted. It is as hard, too, to learn some compositors how to capitalize, as it is to beat grammar into them. They are, in fact, sent to the printing office to learn grammar, and receive fifteen dollars per week while being taught! We would capitalize and compound the following names, or societies: South-street Congregational Church; Trinity Church, Summer Street; or the horse-car drivers on Washington Street. While the salaries of the officers of those churches, and the salaries of the drivers of those horse-cars nowhere correspond as they ought to, it is unjust to give capital letters to the announcement that "Dr. So-and-So is receiving at the hands of a benevolent society, for spiritual advice and consolation, the sum of Fifteen Thousand Dollars per annum," and the young Jesu-like administrator of horse-flesh, who holds the "ribbons," and applies the "brake," till his arm almost breaks, walks up to the office to settle his bill of two dollars per diem, Sundays included!

Poor is he who cannot receive the teachings of his own little Testament, if perchance, he catches a word as he rides on the track on Sunday!

Our subject was typography, and we must be excused if we have wandered from it in illustrating a few points of interest. The typographic art is one we love; and we desire to see it still more successful, so that the humblest publication may be a specimen of neatness, if the orthography and grammar of its author was never so rude and bungling

ures that one pair of RATS will have a progeny

more food than would sustain 65,000 human

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]
We are gratified to hear of the continued success in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T.
Helmbold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 23 feet front, 230 feet
deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly
a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of
the merit of his articles. He retains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also most establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this advertisement from the fact that his remedies, although advised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS.
And knowing that the intelligent refrain from
using anything pertaining to Quackery or the

much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.

GOLD

to the Bailey Washing &
Wringing Machine Co.
for the Best WASHING AND Machine.
BY THE
NEW ENGLAND Agricultural Society
(1865)

BAILEY'S PATENT SPRING ROLL AND COG WHEEL
Washing and Wringing Machine,
ALL IN ONE MACHINE!

Awarded the only Gold Medal ever given for a Washing and Wringing Machine; also received the highest awards over all competitors at six State Fairs of 1865.

The superiority of this machine over all others, for family use, is apparent at a glance. The following are its leading merits:—
1. COG WHEELS. The public now know that Wringing Machines without Cog Wheels grind up Cloth and Rolls. Cog Wheels save all friction on the cloth.

2. ITS PATENT SPRING ROLLS. These rolls are made with a powerful and elastic spring, which has an inner packing of rubber, and also a thick outer casing of rubber, forming a roll three inches in diameter, and giving equal pressure on single folds or thick bunches of clothes. Bunches, which destroy the common wringers, and cause the grinding of the rubber on the cloth, are no obstruction to the movements of these efficient rolls, and cause no friction
on the cloth or the rolls.

3. ITS PATENT OSCILLATING BOARD, by which the water is conveyed into a tub on either side of the machine, at pleasure. Passing the clothes between the rolls a few times, and conveying the suds,
with the clothes, from tub to tub, gives the most thorough washing to every single fibre of the cloth,
—much more thorough than any washing by hand
can possibly accomplish,—while the wear and labor
of the hard rubbing is saved.

4. It is the only Machine fastened to the Wash-Board, and not working on the Tub. All other Machines are restricted to operation on the Tub, by reasons granted by the Proprietors of this Machine,
who reserve to themselves the manufacture of this Bench Machine.

Machines also adapted to soapstone or set tubs constantly on hand. For this purpose this is the only suitable Machine.
Large Rolls for all kinds of Wringing Machines,
Lumbers, Dry-Houses, Manufactories, &c., to order.
Price of usual Family Machine, $15.

PATENT
Cog Wheel Champion
Clothes Wringer!
The Best of the Small Wringers. Price $9.

The only Wringer in use with PATENT SELF-ADJUSTING COG WHEELS, which allow the Rollers to meet the clothes, and adjust the Cog;
and the PATENT CURVED CLAMP, which has an equal bearing on the Tub the whole length of the Wringer.
Awarded First Premiums at several State Fairs of 1865, over all other small Wringers used on the Tub.

REPAIRING
done on all kinds of Wringers. BUT THE BEST MACHINE IS THE CHEAPEST. Get the Best,
and do not waste time, patience, and money, on repairing an inferior Wringer, when the BEST will specify PAY FOR ITSELF BY SAVING CLOTH,
as well as time and labor.

PATENT
World's Clothes Dryer!

This is one of the most useful and time-saving household articles ever offered to the public. The machines are elevating, revolving, folding, and portable. They are particularly desirable in winter, as they save the trouble and expense of clearing away
snow from the clothes-yard; and are equally desirable in summer, as they avoid the necessity of travelling over the grass-plate and flower beds. They dry

the clothes in half the time required when spread on ordinary clothes-lines; besides, the clothes cannot be torn and worn out by shaking and switching. The Machine can be put up and the line spread ready for use in less than one minute.
At many of the great Fairs held in this country
for several years past, it has been awarded FIRST PREMIUMS, DIPLOMAS, and MEDALS: at the World's Fair, London, and at Hamburg, it made quite a sensation; and at the great Sanitary Fairs at Chicago, Brooklyn, New York, and St. Louis, it attracted great attention, and many were sold for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission. Many thousands have been sold in London.
The Dryers are suitably packed in matting for transportation, and are ready for use in less than one hour's time.
To place the socket for this machine in the ground,
or on a roof, is a very simple piece of work, and can be done by a laborer or carpenter in less than one
hour's time.
PRICES.—Size No. 1, including 150 feet of clothesline and socket, $7.50. Size No. 2, including 120 feet of clothes-line and socket, $6.50.
State and County Rights for sale; also Dryers at wholesale and retail.

PATENT
Window Clothes Dryer!
Clothes put on in the house, and run out of the window in one minute!
No standing out in the cold!
No digging out of the snow!
Another great Labor-Saving and Health-Saving Invention for every household. For sale by State and County Rights for sale!
Patented March 7, 1865.

Fairy Clothes Horse!
Patented February 17, 1863.
Sold for $2.25. Needed in every Family.

It combines the greatest possible extent of drying surface, with the least possible room. It may be placed near a stove, or in a closet, and when not in use it may be folded up and carried under the arm.
It weighs but 45 pounds, yet is not liable to get out of order. As many clothes may be hung on it as on a straight line fifty feet long. It may be hung up when folded, with the clothes on. It must supercede all others.
Dyers and Rights for sale.

AMERICAN WHEAT RETURNED FROM EUROPE. It may interest flour buyers who pay $20 to $22 per barrel for that article to know that the State Department at Washington, on Tuesday last, received under date of the 4th ult. from the United States Consul at Liverpool a dispatch, stating that the steamer City of Dublin would sail for New York from that port on the ensuing day, laden with 15,000 bushels of wheat, which, he was informed had been imported from the United States and was now being returned for sale in this country. This, a Washington paper says, furnishes an illustration of the difference in the price of cereals in the United States, and England, and serves to exhibit the complete control held over American markets by unprincipled speculators.

USEFUL LITERATURE. The Boston publishing firm of TICKNOR & FIELDS justly rank among the most useful as well as enterprising and successful of their profession. The Atlantic Monthly and The Young Folks, long since passed the point of assured success and now enjoy a measure of solid popularity rarely accorded to even good publications. As we have often said, we have nothing in America comparable to The Young Folks for quality and completeness. The Atlantic has so long spoken for itself that commendation is not needed. The weekly paper, Every Saturday, commenced well and has steadily improved with the progress of time. See Messrs. T. & F.'s column in this issue.

Selected Poetry.

LEARNING TO WALK.

Only beginning the journey,
Many a mile to go;
Little feet, how they patter,
Wandering to and fro.

Trying again, so bravely,
Laughing in baby glee;
Hiding its face in mother's lap,
Proud as a baby can be.

Talking the oddest language,
Ever before was heard;
But Mother (you'd hardly think so)
Understands every word.

Tottering now and falling,
Eyes that are going to cry;
Kisses and plenty of love words,
Willing again to try.

Father of all, O' guide them,
The patter little feet;
While they are treading the up-hill road,
Braving the dust and heat.

Aid them when they grow weary,
Keep them in pathway blest;
And when the journey's ended,
Saviour, O' give them rest.

Farmers' Department.

JUNE ON THE FARM.

Up early and down late is the rule for June. Let the farmer be on his "taps," then if ever. Work is unusually pressing. Many a farmer has not yet finished planting corn, and those who have will soon have to stick in the hoe. Plan to do all the work you can with the horse and cultivator, or horse-hoe. In this work of cleaning up the growing crops one good horse ought to be equal to ten men. The horse-hoe is an excellent implement, and few good farmers would know how to do without it.

Sow corn for fodder any time this month. You can hardly get too much of it, for if it is not all needed to help out short and dry pastures, it may be cured for winter fodder. Besides it is a convenient crop to fill up any vacant ground with. The roots that remain in the soil, after this crop is removed, constantly enrich the land and improve the soil. The land for corn ought to be in a clean condition, and if it is weedy, or full of twigs and grass it will give you an endless amount of work to keep it free. The weeds must be kept down at all events, you know. It won't pay to have them sapping the ground, and if they are likely to get ahead of you the only alternative is to put on more labor, and keep them down.

The soil about young trees, in fact about most trees in the orchard, ought to be kept mellow and free from weeds. If the land cannot be cultivated to advantage, you may mulch the trees with manure or straw hay, one of the best uses you can put it to. The best mulching is, of course, the fine and mealy earth that is constantly kept soft and mellow by cultivation—but there are many cases where this is impracticable. In such cases the straw hay may come in to great advantage.

A good deal may be done at this season, to shape young trees, by a little timely clipping and thinning out of unsightly branches. The fruit may need thinning too, where it has set too thickly, so as not to let a young tree overbear.

Those who have set vineyards will have to work in them nearly the whole of the month, in pinching back, tying up, cultivating and general care. June is a busy month in the vineyard, and you can't afford to be idle if you look to the grape as a money crop.—Mass. Ploughman.

OVERSTOCKING. Many farmers are apt to overstock their pastures. It is a bad way. It is as poor economy to overstock a pasture, as to keep cattle short in winter. They are obliged to work hard all day in the hot sun, and do not get enough then. Besides this, too close feeding does not give the plants time to throw out new leaves, which soon kills them. Three cows kept on a good pasture, will be more productive than four obliged to run where the feed is scarce.

Inednotes.

Lord Cockburn was sitting on a hill-side at Bonally with a shepherd, and observing the sheep reposing in the coldest situation, remarked to him:

"John, if I were a sheep, I would lie on the other side of the hill."

The shepherd answered:

"Ah, my lord, if ye had been a sheep ye'd have had more sense."

An Irish recruit was asked by his officer:

"What's your height?"

To which he replied:

"The man that measured me, told me it was five foot ten, or ten foot five; I am not exactly sure which—but it was either one or the other."

A little girl after having been to church, was very fond of preaching to her dolls. Her mother overheard her one day, reproving one for being so wicked. "Oh, you naughty, sinful child," she said, shaking its waxen limbs, "You'll just go to that place of brimstone and molasses, and you won't burn up—you'll just sizzle!"

"Look here, Jim, there's a hole knocked out of the bottle you gave me."

"Why, not at all; there's the hole in it now. If it was knocked out how could it be there?"

CAPITAL NEW BOOKS!

St. Martin's Summer.

BY ANNE H. M. BREWSTER,
Author of "Compensation," etc.
1 vol. 16mo. Price, $2.25.
"St. Martin's Summer" is the journal of a residence in Italy, and of a voyage through the Mediterranean. It is more concerned, however, with inner experiences than outward observation. The sights and sounds encountered, the love-making of certain young people in the party, various rides in the country—in short, all little incidents which fall out in daily life, serve but to suggest some original reflection, or to recall some apt utterance of the masters of literature.—Philadelphia Press.

HONOR MAY.

1 vol. 16mo. Price, $2.

"Honor May" may be called a musical story. Written by one who has an intense appreciation of music, not only as a means of enjoyment, but as a means of education and spiritual growth, the narrative cannot be disconnected from the art it celebrates. . . . The style of the book is singularly pure and sweet, and at times rises to earnest eloquence. The picture of domestic life is true and vivid, and will be found to answer to the experience of many happy homes.—Boston Transcript.

THE MASQUERADE.

—AND—

OTHER POEMS.

By JOHN G. SAXE.

1 vol. 16mo. Price, $1.75.

SAXE is very droll here, and this is not all—the very same also. He has more rhyme and philosophy in these easily-turned verses than we often see in a volume of poetry. He comes in with a sharp tilt at Folly as she flies, and the feathers fall at every stretch of his bow and twang of his string. . . . Drop Saxe out of our literature, and we should go about waiting for something to have a solid laugh at.—Boston Post.

LEIGHTON COURT:

A Country-House Story.

By H. KINGSLEY, author of "Ravenshoe," etc.

1 vol. 16mo. Price, $1.50.

The style is wonderfully fresh and vigorous, the plot is ingenious and interesting, and the characters are drawn with a sharpness of outline and a dramatic discrimination, that show the hand of a master. The landscape painting in the volume is as fine as any Kingley could have made it.—Boston Advertiser.

ASPHODEL:

AN AMERICAN STORY.

1 vol. 16mo. Price, $1.50.

The author has a poet's nature, and there is a remarkable grace, beauty and refinement in its conception, the sketching and development of character, and the genius of thought and expression in which it abounds.—New York County Journal.

One of the most interesting and tenderly sad novels of the day. The plot of the tale is not striking or unusual, but the manner in which the story is worked up is at once masterly and elegant.—Hartford Courant.

SNOW-BOUND:

A Winter Idyl.

By JOHN G. WHITTIER.

1 vol. 16mo. Price, $1.25.

"This poem is founded on the recollections of a Massachusetts winter in the freshness of his boyhood. The plain old homestead, the driving snow-storm, the cattle in the barn, the fowls on the roost, the genial circle before the cozy fire-side, are all revived to the imagination in faithful pictures. . . . It forms a gem of price among New-England pastorals."—N. Y. Tribune.

The South Since the War:

AS SHOWN BY

Fourteen Weeks of Travel and Observation in Georgia and the Carolinas.

BY SIDNEY ANDREWS.

1 vol. 16mo. Price, $2.00.

The writer had very favorable facilities for learning the true state of feeling among the people of Georgia and the Carolinas, and has presented the information he gained in a very interesting manner.—Boston Journal.

There is no false bias observable in the writer's statements or descriptions. . . . The soldiers and their families will want this book.—Providence Press.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

AUCTIONS. Henry H. Faxon, Esq., sells at auction, at four o'clock this afternoon, the estate of the late John J. Carr, on Adams Street. This is a small but good farm, and well worth the attention of those desiring to purchase, and men of capital generally.

Also, On Wednesday next, at 6 1-2 o'clock, the building occupied by Messrs. Reed, corner of Hancock and School streets.

We would also call the attention of our readers to a large Administrator's Sale, in South Braintree, on Thursday next, boot and shoe stock, sewing machines, horses, carriages, harnesses, furniture, &c., &c.

For particulars of the above sales, see advertisements in to-day's paper.

LOOK TO YOUR COMFORT. The rural districts are fast adopting many of the improvements which science and art have contributed for the health, comfort and convenience of man. It has long been the practice, at this season of the year, with our more affluent and aristocratic neighbors in the great mansions of the city, when nature failed them with refreshing showers, to cleanse their streets and thoroughfares, cool the heated air, imparting to it its lost humidity and vitality, thereby rendering it more healthy for respiration, to supply the omission, by artificial means.

The "Street Sprinkler" (its baptismal name) has most admirably answered this purpose; and its introduction into this community, by our esteemed and enterprising fellow-townsmen, C. W. Perry, we hail with pleasure, as another source of enjoyment in reserve for our citizens. But the enterprise cannot be sustained—nor is it right that it should be, by individual sacrifice, what must be acknowledged as a common benefit. Our merchants, and those who would have their property escape the blighting effects of clouds of summer dust and dirt, are particularly interested, and knowing their liberality, we believe they are willing to support it.

AN INTERESTING DISCOURSE. Rev. S. T. Aldrich, pastor of the Universalist Society in this town, preached a very interesting, and we believe, beneficial, discourse to the children connected with that Society, on Sunday morning last. He endeavored them in the first place, by telling how well the children were educated in this State. Those of eight, ten or twelve years of age, as a body, were much better scholars than in any State he ever was in; still they would find children as far advanced in other States as themselves, but not as a majority. He then spoke of their conduct—he said, to be candid with them, that he thought the children of Massachusetts were the sanest he ever saw; which many of our readers will think is about true. He tried to impress upon their minds that it was their duty to obey their parents. They should honor their father and mother that their days might be long and happy. He told several interesting stories to illustrate his remarks, and to command their attention—one was about Daniel Webster and the woodchuck; another about Isaac Newton and his favorite cat and kitten; another about the good boys who saved, split and piled up the poor woman's wood.

His discourse was attractive, and we believe it must have a good effect on the children. We think more of a like stamp should be delivered; and, if possible, elevate the moral standard of our children, which from all accounts is rather a disgrace to old Massachusetts.

IMPROVEMENTS. The improvements on Granite street are progressing finely. Both public and private will add much to the beauty and convenience of the street. The feeling has extended itself to School street. Mr. Charles R. Mitchell, has recently improved his beautiful estate, by an additional extension of the area of its grounds; and he has also purchased the building, formerly occupied by Mr. John Dinegan, on Quincy Avenue—and removed it to a corner of his grounds on Hancock street—to be fitted up for our young and enterprising fellow-townsmen. The Messrs. Reed, for a dry goods establishment; it is commodious, and will afford our superior accommodations. Further on, Dr. Pattee is laying the foundation to enlarge his domestic conveniences, by adding another wing to the main body of his house. School street has many fine residences; its scenery is soft and luxurious—strangely in contrast with the hard features of many others in the vicinity.

The building at the corner of Washington and Coddington streets, has also been much improved by several coats of paint and some handsome green blinds. We feel pleased to see these improvements—it looks prosperous.

CLOTHES WRINGERS. Ladies if you want a good machine purchase the Universal Clothes Wringer, which has cog wheels, then you will have one of the best that is manufactured. Nathaniel M. Bean of this town is the authorized agent for Weymouth, Braintree and Quincy.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE. Arrivals and Clearances at the Point, the past week. Arrived, Thursday June 14—Schr. Lope Star, from Cow Bay, (N. S.)—Coal, for Weymouth.

Friday, June 15—Schr. Addie Walton, from Bangor, Master, to ballast.

On Saturday, June 9. Schr. South-creeper, from Boston, to load with stone for Philadelphia.

BURGLARS. An attempt was made on Monday night, of last week, to rob the residence of Josiah P. Quincy, Esq., in this town. They entered by breaking one of the large squares of glass in the front room. The breaking of glass aroused the nursery-maid who went to Mrs. Quincy's room and informed her of the fact. (Mr. Quincy being absent at the time.) Mrs. Quincy and the maid commenced searching the back part of the house, but found no one; they then went towards the front room and heard a noise in the parlor, which rather frightened the ladies and they retired to the chamber over the parlor got a six shooter and a large rattle; locked the door and opened the window, one made the rattle go and the other discharged the pistol out of the window, which so frightened the rogues, that they took leg bail for their carriage, which was in the road near by. They did not succeed in carrying off anything, and the ladies were in hopes to have had a shot at the rascals as they were leaving the house, but they skulked off among the trees in front of the house and thus escaped their vigilance. Mrs. Quincy and her maid showed their bravery in driving away the thieves, otherwise they might have carried off a thousand dollars worth of silver ware.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVALS. It will be seen by a notice in another column, that the Sunday School Teachers' Association of the First Church, will hold a Strawberry festival on Friday next. Those who enjoy good strawberries and cream should be on hand, as this will be an excellent opportunity for enjoying the same.

The Universalist Sabbath School intends also to give a strawberry festival and entertainment at the Town Hall, on Wednesday evening, June 27th. For particulars see posters, and notice in our next issue.

A NEW MOTIVE POWER was exemplified to our citizens on Sunday last. Some mischievous urchins, at East Stoughton, not having the fear of the day before their eyes, and inclined for a little Sunday sport, removed the checks before a burden car, heavily laden with iron, and "let it slide." The road having a declivity to the northward, at this point, the car yielded to its influence, made a bolt for the city, and in a moderate way, passed through Braintree, to the north village, where the declivity increasing, fifty-four feet in less than two miles; its speed was accelerated to such a degree, that it shot through our town, at a fearful rate—and continued its course in like manner, over the winding and marshy road toward Neponset; but before reaching the bridge (the draw of which was up) its power was spent, and it was taken into custody, for a breach of the law for too fast driving. The distance run was about ten miles. There are three things established by this incident: First—that our neighbors south of us have the advantage of an elevated position; second—that the Newtonian system is a fixed fact, and third—that the Directors of the Old Colony and Newport Railroad, with steam, horse, and their new motive power, can do some things which it is hard to beat.

SEVENTEENTH OF JUNE. As this day, which for several years has been generally observed as a holiday, comes this year on Sunday, Monday the eighteenth will be observed instead. The Banks of Boston and of this town will be closed and appearances indicate that business generally will be suspended.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE. The weather in England, up to the 2d inst., continued cold for the season, a long course of easterly winds having been experienced.—The grain markets were full, and the cold weather was not deemed unfavorable for the growing crops.

Failures continued among the cotton speculators and financiers, who had expended their means in unavailable shares of joint stock companies and too large advance to the speculators.

On the evening of the 29th ult., a tremendous explosion took place at Paris, in the workshops of M. Aubin, pyrotechnic manufacturer to the Emperor.—Seventeen corpses have already been discovered amid the ruins—that is, eleven men and six women. Nine wounded have died, and several others are in a hopeless condition. The Emperor visited the scene the next day, and gave five thousand francs to be distributed among the relations of the dead.

There are still in Ireland 445,231 tenants whose holdings only average 12 acres of land.

The apple trees which bloomed profusely in England, have suffered by the cold, wet weather, and the crop will be much smaller than was anticipated. Last year's cider had in consequence advanced 10s a 15s per hog-head.

FASHIONABLE CLOTHING. The well known firm of BENNETT & CO., 14 and 15 Dock Square, Boston, present their claims to public patronage through our columns. Their stock has been selected with great care by persons well qualified to choose such goods as are calculated to suit their customers; and their facilities for manufacturing fashionable garments are unsurpassed. Their prices are reasonable, and we believe will give the best of satisfaction.

WORLDLINESS. The Old South Chapel, in Spring Lane, which has been used for a long time for the daily morning prayer meetings, is advertised to be let for a term of years for business purposes. The Boston Commercial says, "we would as soon think of seeing the Old Dutch Church in New York, where the Fulton Street, daily prayer meetings are held, turned into an old junk shop, as to see this spacious and convenient chapel changed from its sacred uses. The 'Old South' is almost as well known throughout the country as Faneuil Hall, and when it is announced that the Old South Chapel is in the market for bidders, many will feel sad, because the thought of decay in religious interest will be suggested to them."

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

BOSTON, JUNE 14, 1866.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Since my last, advice have been received from Europe, indicating a better feeling in financial circles on account of the improved, though still small prospect of averting war on the Continent. In England the price of cotton and our Government securities had advanced. This news has given a downward tendency to gold in the American market. It cannot be denied however, that we are living with unsettled values, struggling under high taxes, with business dull in most branches, and we cannot tell how long matters will thus continue.

The Fenian invasion of Canada, has to the regret of millions, failed of success, and the excitement here has wholly subsided. On Monday last, the matter of Fenianism was brought up in Congress. Mr. Ancona offered a series of resolutions; the two first of which were these:

"WHEREAS, The Irish people and their brothers and friends in this country are moved by a patriotic purpose to assert their independence and to re-establish the nationality of Ireland, and

"Whereas, the active sympathies of the people of the United States are naturally with all men who struggle to achieve such ends, more especially when those engaged therein are known friends of our Government, and are the people of the Irish race; they having shed their blood in defence of our flag in every battle of every war in which the Republic has been engaged."

Then followed other resolves recommending the repeal of the neutrality law of 1818 between this country and England. The matter was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs. This is a striking evidence of Congressional sympathy toward the Fenian movement. The expense incurred by Canada up to this time, is said to be $250,000; the sum to be largely increased before the matter subsides into quietness.

WASHINGTON ITEMS. Congress will probably continue in session through a part of if not all of July. President Johnson very properly declines releasing Jefferson Davis on bail, and the House of Representatives passed resolutions on Monday, that Davis should not be released from prison but put upon trial. The Constitutional Amendment has passed in the Senate by a vote of thirty-three to eleven—just two thirds. It will go back to the House as amended, and there be adopted by more than a two-third vote. By examination of the details it will be found to differ materially from the proposition originally entertained by a majority of Congress, or from the scheme of the re-construction Committee. Its main feature, that which limits representation, having the right of suffrage, was voted down, when it came before Congress, but since that time there has been a great change in the minds of certain Congressmen. The great re-construction scheme is perfected at last, so far as Congress is concerned. The President has nothing to do with the proposition. It simply is to be ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, to become a part of the organic law. At least one year will have passed before the amendment can be ratified and put in force.—x.

A MAN KILLED BY A STATE CONSTABLE. Deputy State Constable George H. Morse, of East Bridgewater, was called upon, about midnight of Sunday, to quell a disturbance in the house of a man named Connors in West Bridgewater. He proceeded to the scene of the trouble, and arrested two men who came out of the house. While taking them to the lock-up, they called for help, and a crowd of their companions rushed out of the house to rescue them, attacking the constable with sticks, stones and other missiles. Mr. Morse discharged his pistol in the air, at the same time warning them that if they continued to molest him he should fire at them. Connors then came up and struck him on the head with a stick of wood, when the constable fired at random among his assailants, and Connors received the ball, killing him almost instantly. Subsequently Mr. Morse, on learning that the man was dead, went to the house of District Attorney Harris of Norfolk County and delivered himself up. Mr. Harris told him he was justified in what he had done, and his arrest would not be ordered. The constable was severely beaten, but his wounds were not considered dangerous.—Boston Herald.

The Right Rev., the Bishop of Massachusetts will preach in Christ Church to-morrow evening—services commencing at quarter before 7 o'clock. The time of Confirmation will be administered.

This ancient Society will adhere to the primitive hours of worship—10 1-2 A. M., and 2 1-2 P. M.—excepting only to-morrow, when the afternoon exercises will be omitted.

A GOOD TRIP. One of the Gloucester fishing vessels, with a crew of about ten men, arrived on Monday, with 75,000 pounds of halibut, after an absence of only three or four weeks. The fish have been sold at 5¢ per lb., for smoking, realizing nearly four thousand dollars, which will pay well for the time consumed.

The above vessel also brought in 10,000 pounds of fresh codfish.

ROBBERY IN NORTH EASTON. A bold robbery occurred in North Easton, on Saturday evening last. George W. Andrews, the depot master at that place, on leaving his office at about 10 o'clock, was knocked down by some unknown person and robbed of a valuable gold watch, about $1000 in bills and a check for $500. Mr. Andrews had just received the greater portion of the funds of which he was robbed, from the office of O. Ames & Sons, and had proceeded to the depot office to do a little writing, when assaulted and robbed. There is no clue to the robber as yet.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Can any of our readers inform us why it is that so many of the school teachers in town are so "hard up," lately. There seems to be a general rushing this way and that way for money! money! Our citizens who happen to have a little money, and some who do not, are run after by this class of persons and besieged for money. "Lend us a little money! Lend us a little money!" If the members of the Legislature were known early in the session by the dilapidated condition of their button-holes, what shall be said of the button-holes belonging to our unfortunate citizens who happen to be supposed to enjoy a comfortable allowance of this world's goods. We had supposed that after the teachers' salaries were advanced (as we believe they were a little) they would be in funds; but it seems not—Can this state of things be explained?

CITIZEN. P. S. We understand in relation to the above, that the explanation sought is found in the fact that the Selectmen suddenly refused to pay the teachers as they have been accustomed to do, (monthly,) and that the teachers as suddenly found themselves "short." We always knew the Selectmen were men of E's, but confess to some surprise that they consult their own ease to the extent of sacrificing that of so many others. We would suggest that the teachers be paid as usual, and that the Selectmen be well paid for their extra services, and thus oblige many who are compelled to "lend."

ADDITIONS TO THE NORFOLK CONSTABULARY. Major Jones has appointed twelve more State constables, and among them Thomas E. Wortman, of Randolph, Benjamin P. Eldridge, of Dorchester, Lieut. Albert H. Tirrell of Weymouth.

AN ACCIDENT. Mr. Henry A. Gay, lost one day this week, a kind and serviceable family horse, by kicks inflicted by another animal, in the stable where he was kept. The injuries received were so serious that he was obliged to have him killed.

PERSONAL. Mr. John Brummett, after eight years absence, unexpectedly, paid us a friendly visit on Wednesday last. Time appears to have dealt gently with him. He is the same Mr. Brummett—only a little older.

Summary Intelligence.

The New York Academy of Music, destroyed by fire recently, was one of the largest opera houses in the world, and was capable of seating over four thousand persons.

The committee on returns in the Grand Lodge of Masons, reported the whole number of members in the State of Maine, at ten thousand and seventy-five.

Very little rain has fallen in Cuba for the last seven months. The tobacco crop is lost. Starvation stares the poor in the face, and subscriptions are being made in Havana for their relief.

In 1860 Illinois produced only six bales of cotton. The total yield in 1866 is estimated at 10,000 bales.

An exchange says: "No one can tell what a day may bring forth; but we can tell what a night recently brought forth to a young farmer in this vicinity. Three calves, two colts, eleven pigs, nine lambs—and a baby."

The number of taxable folks in Lowell, is 8001, which shows a gain of 31 per cent. over last year.

On Friday of last week about 600 Mormons were landed at the steamboat dock, New Haven, and took the car north for Canada, whence they go west, over the Grand Trunk Road. Several more carriages are expected during the summer to arrive and take the same route. This consignment was mostly English people, and were a tidy, neat-looking lot.

Tuesday was the anniversary of the murder of the Joyce children in Roxbury, and no trace of the perpetrator of that fiendish act have as yet been discovered.

Now that the strawberry season is at hand, it might be useful to know that in Sicily it is the custom to crush the strawberries with white powdered sugar, and to squeeze the juice of an orange or two over them. This makes a most fragrant and agreeable compound, superior to strawberries and cream.

There are no watches in Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas, or Montana—according to the Assessors' returns.

The New York Tribune foots up the bank swindling and embezzlements for the last twelve months at about $8,164,000. Near Norfolk, Virginia, a large sycamore tree was cut down, and in the middle of it a lock of hair was found; probably one of "love's concealments" half a century ago.

Of twenty-two lots of kerosene oil lately tested at Providence, (R. I.) only five were safe for illuminating purposes. The rest were as explosive as gunpowder.

The whole number of clerks in the Treasury Department is fifteen hundred and sixty, of whom five hundred and forty-seven have served in the Union army.

The canker worms are reported to have appeared in great numbers at West Newton, notwithstanding the "protectors" which are placed around the apple trees.

A large number of sparrows are about to be sent from Vienna to Melbourne, Australia, for propagation, to destroy the caterpillars, which commit great ravages in that country.

Over five millions of dollars have been already expended in attempting to span the Atlantic ocean with a telegraph wire.

HORSE THIEVES. Dr. Johnson of this town purchased at auction, recently at Dedham, a horse which proved to have been stolen from Maine, and the owner came a day or two since and carried the animal off, leaving neighbor Johnson, we are sorry to say, without either horse or money.

We also learn that the same thief sold recently a horse to Mr. Lewis Wood of Boston, formerly of this place who paid a part of the money down and gave him a note for the balance. His animal proved to have been stolen from Maine.

The same rascal also sold Mr. Isaiah P. White, a horse which died a short time since. But we are happy to say the rogue who cuts up these pranks upon our citizens has been arrested and will soon have his trial in the State of Maine.

STATE AID. A circular issued from the office of the Adjutant General to the authorities of towns and cities, informs them that applicants for State aid, as disabled soldiers and sailors and the families of the slain, need employ or pay no agents, as direct application to the authorities of the places in which they reside will enable them to receive the amount of assistance provided for in the law.

THE CANKER WORM. The trees in some localities here have suffered severely by their ravages; while others appear to have escaped unharmed. We don't think their depredations have been so serious and extensive as they were last year.

COMMERCE OF BOSTON. The total value of exports from Boston for the week ending June 1st, including specie, was $237,965, against $396,000 for the corresponding week in 1865.

BEEF. The New York Times says, the price of beef cattle is again on the decline. The arrivals at the yards, at the opening of the trade for the week, numbered about 4000 head, most of which were three year old steers, and much the largest proportion consisted of Western cattle in common to good condition.

The new postage bill provides that after June 1st, 1866, prepaid and free letters shall be forwarded, at the request of the party addressed, from one post office to another without additional charge, and returned dead letters shall be restored to the writers thereof free of charge, as shall also letters indorsed with a request to be returned to their writers; that money orders may hereafter be issued as high as $50; that a money order shall be valid and payable when presented within one year after its date, but for no longer period; and in case of the loss of a money order, a duplicate thereof shall be issued without charge; and, finally, that persons wilfully and maliciously injuring, or defacing, or destroying mail matter, shall be fined not more than $500, or imprisoned not more than three years.

ORANGES AND LEMONS. The bark Sicilian arrived in Boston on Tuesday, from Messina, with two thousand boxes of oranges and fifteen hundred boxes of lemons.

LOMBARD'S COLUMN Poetry.

YOUR MISSION.
If you cannot on the ocean
Sail among the swiftest fleet;
Rocking on the highest billows,
Laughing at the storms you meet;
You can stand among the sailors,
Anchored yet within the bay;
You can lend a hand to help them,
As they launch their boats away.

If you are too weak to journey,
Up the mountains steep and high,
You can stand in the valley,
While the multitude go by;
You can chant in happy measure,
As they slowly pass along,
Though they may forget the singer,
They will not forget the song.

If you have not gold and silver,
Ever ready to command,
If you cannot toward the needy
Reach an ever open hand,
You can visit the afflicted,
Or the striver you can weep,
You can be a true disciple,
Sitting at the Saviour's feet.

If you cannot in the conflict
Prove yourself a soldier true,
If where fire and smoke are thickest,
There is no work for you to do;
When the battle field is silent,
You can go with silent tread,
You can bear away the wounded,
You can cover up the dead.

Do not then stand idly waiting,
For some greater work to do;
Fortune is a lazy goddess,
She will never come to you;
Go and toil in any vinyard,
Do not fear to do of care,
If you want a field of labor,
You can find it ANYWHERE.

Interesting Selections.
COTTAGE PUDDING. Three tablespoon-
fuls of melted butter, one cup of sugar,
one cup of sweet milk, one egg, one pint
of sifted flour, two teaspoons of cream tartar, one of soda. Boil steadily 1 1/2 hours.

LEMON CAKE. One cup of butter,
three eggs, one of milk, four of flour,
five eggs, a small teaspoon of soda, juice
and grated peel of one lemon.

A MODEST PRINCE. It is stated that Prince Humbert, eldest son of the king of Italy was recently offered the
command of a corps of the Italian army,
and declined it. "If I command a
corps," he is reported to have said, "and
am defeated, people will say this comes of
giving important commands to inexperienced
princes. If I am victorious, my
chief of the staff will get all the credit.
I prefer commanding a division, and doing
what I am ordered."

Our virtue, is resignation.
Among the written applications for office received by the new Collector of
New York, is the following:—"Sir, I am
twenty-five years of age. I served eight years in the United States army. I am willing to do anything; I am married;
in the field I assisted to support the Union
and the Constitution; at home I would like to support my wife and Andy Johnson."

To whom do all look up with reverence? Not to the smartest man, nor
the cleverest politician, nor the most brilliant talker, but he who in a long course
of years, tried by the extremes of prosperity and adversity, has proved himself
to the judgment of his neighbors, and to all who have seen his life as worthy to be called wise and good.

Our fortune, the contempt of
riches.
AN INGENIOUS DEVICE. An Irish
girl told her forbidden lover she was long-
ing to possess his portrait, and intended
to obtain it. "But how if your friends
should see it?" inquired he. "Ah but I'll tell the artist not to make it like you,
so they won't know it."

To have sixteen warts on the left
hand is a sign that you are unfortunate.
In June, 1776, a plot was discovered for the assassination of General
Washington. The Commissary-General
Curtis, in a letter on the matter closed
with, "In short the plot was a damnable
one, and I hope the Villains may receive
a punishment equal to perpetual itching
without the benefit of scratching."

It has been thought that people are
degenerating, because they do not live as long as in the days of Methuselah. But the fact is, provisions are so high that nobody can afford to live very long at the current prices.
Our happiness, the hope of another
life.
The silent accomplish more than all
the noise. The tail of the rattlesnake
makes all the noise, but the head does all
the execution.
The hidden cisterns of the soul
may be filling fast with sweet tears,
while the windows through which it looks
are undimmed by a drop or a film of moisture.

Miscellany. For the Patriot.

A SKETCH OF REAL LIFE.
Some years ago in a small town remote
from any large city there lived a young,
pleasant and virtuous girl, who had been accustomed to hardship from early youth.
Her father left his home and went forth to battle for his country in the war of the Revolution—while her mother maintained
the little ones at home by her spinning wheel and knitting needles. Many hardships and privations did they endure, and she was finally obliged to send her child from home to seek the necessities of life. In time, this young woman became acquainted with, and married, a young and enterprising sailor, who had been obliged to earn his way through his younger days far different from what many of the boys of the present age have ever dreamed. Finally, he was promoted as master of a fine ship, and was respected by men
of knowledge and worth—and all things seemed prosperous before the young couple. Time passed on; a beautiful son and daughter were given to them; they thanked heaven for their blessings—but alas, their happiness soon turned to sorrow,
for while in a distant land, away from friends, the yellow fever swept off many,
and among others, the young sea Captain.
The news came o'er the waters, and the young wife and mother was overwhelmed with grief. Her home was desolate—her children fatherless, with no means of future support. After the first great shock was over, she resolved to do the best for her children she could. Her will and hands being her only means—having received but an imperfect education. With a trust in Providence, she cheerfully went to work, doing whatever
she could find to do, with all her might;
and as her little children grew, they assisted her between school hours; for she endeavored to give them a good education—feeling the great need of it herself. Night after night did she toil, and day after day did she press on to duties which made her children comfortable and happy; reading the Holy Scriptures to them, and learning them to trust in their Heavenly Father, through all the trials of life. The young boy at an early age was sent off fishing, for he was one of the sons of the Cape—a brave, honest, noble and aspiring youth—and as he grew older he sought something a little higher; he entered the merchant service and sailed for China. A year flew by—his mother looked forward with anxiety for his safe return. He arrived, and with the earnings
he had saved, he went to school to learn the scientific principles of navigation, when with the practical knowledge he had, he obtained a situation in the navy in the last war. To gain a promotion, it was necessary for him to acquire a little more book knowledge; he accordingly devoted a few more months to study, and then received a commission. He rose from one situation to another, until he became Acting Ensign of one of our large gun boats; was off Charleston at the time
the city was taken; filled his post to the satisfaction of his superiors, and was called a splendid officer by those under his command. His mother was thankful that her son had been so prosperous, and her prayer
was for his safe return.

The young daughter won the affections of a young man, who, too, sought his fortunes on the mighty waters. He entered the merchant service about four years ago,
with a determination of gaining a little of the golden ore, before he took the daughter of the widow to be his wife. He sought the shores of China, and there his vessel was sold. Having a good opportunity of trading for himself, he remained away from all he held most dear, until about one year and a half since,
when he returned, with bright prospects and a cheerful heart. And where was the widowed mother and daughter all this time? The mother was going from house to house, taking care of the sick, and helping the needy, for a compensation barely sufficient for a livelihood; and the daughter, having received the best education the town afforded, had obtained a situation as a school teacher; but a delicate constitution obliged her to relinquish
it for some more congenial employment—
a nice work which would not call her from home. Happy—ever happy, in cheering her mother and hoping for a better time coming—they thus passed their time pleasantly, and with gratitude, that they had thus been so favored.

Soon the daily papers brought the news
that the vessels that bore the brave
young sailor from the Eastern shores
had arrived, and joyful was the meeting.
Friend after friend congratulated them.
The hour was appointed for the nuptial ceremony, and a good old fashioned wedding came off. Never were there happier beings, nor more rejoicing. The brother also returned soon after peace was declared, and brought along with him a young wife to his home.

Visits were received and calls returned;
and all "went merry as a marriage bell."
A short stay at home, and then off to the boats again. A short voyage this time—only to the West Indies and back again. About a year had elapsed and another trip is anticipated. The young wife accompanies her husband to the great metropolis to witness his departure—but something contrary to his expectations
has transpired, (providentially it proved)

another man has been promoted to the mate's office, and he is thrown out of a trip accordingly. He accompanies his young wife home. The brother has just sailed for a long voyage to foreign parts.
Having now a little leisure, the returned sailor seeks a pleasant spot of land, to erect a new house—their old home having grown old and rickety. A spot suited to their taste is selected—bought and paid for—grounds laid out, and plans made for building. But alas, for human happiness.
The young wife has looked forward with joy to the birth of a little one; the fond mother anxiously hopes to see her realize her anticipations. Every thing has passed pleasantly thus far, and high hopes are entertained by all. To-morrow comes.
The anxious moment has arrived! But in giving birth to the child, the young mother yields up her life—the infant is dead—
and mother and child are laid in fond embrace in the womb of mother earth.

Ah! now where shall that afflicted husband look for happiness? What now shall be the widow's aim, to urge her on to action? Where now shall that aspiring brother turn for consolation? Let us leave them with their God who doeth all things well. It is not in our power to offer the healing balm—but in the deep out-gushing of our souls, we will lift our prayers, while our eyes rain tear-drops of sympathy.

WHAT TO SAY IN ORDER TO LOOK.
An exchange makes the following important suggestions to those ladies to whom it may concern:
When a lady would compose her mouth
to a bland and serene character, she should, just before entering the room, say Bosom, and keep the expression into which her mouth subsides until the desired effect
upon the company is evident.
If, on the other hand, she wishes to assume a distinguished and somewhat noble bearing, not suggestive of sweetness,
she should say Brush, the result of which is infallible.

If she would make her mouth look small,
she must say Flip—but if the mouth be already too small and needs enlarging, she must say Cabbage.
If she wishes to look mournful, she must say Kerchunk.
If resigned, she must forcibly ejaculate
Scat.
Ladies when having their photographs taken may observe these rules with some advantage.

HAPPINESS.
The road to home happiness lies over small stepping stones. Slight circumstances are the stumbling blocks of families. The prick of a pin, says the proverb, is enough to make an empire insipid. The tenderest of the feelings are the most painful wound. A cold, unkind word checks and withers the blossom of the dearest love, as the most delicate rings of the vine are troubled with the faintest breeze. The misery of a life is born of a chance observation. If the true history of quarrels,
public and private, were honestly written,
it would be silenced with an uproar of derision.

A BEAUTIFUL INCIDENT.
A naval officer being at sea in a dreadful storm, his wife was sitting in the cabin near him, and filled with alarm for the safety of the vessel, was so surprised at his serenity and composure, that she cried out:
"My dear are you not afraid? How is it possible you can be so calm in such a dreadful storm?"
He rose from his chair, dashed it to the deck, drew his sword, and pointing it at the breast of his wife, exclaimed:
"Are you afraid?"
She immediately answered, "No."
"Why?" said the officer.
"Because," rejoined the wife, "I know
this sword is in the hands of my husband,
and he loves me too well to hurt me."
"Then," said he, "I know in whom I believe, and that He who holds the winds
in his fists, and the waters in the hollow
of his hands, is my Father."

TO DETERMINE WHERE WATER IS.
A gentleman related his experience in this matter. An Irishman in his employment, in order to ascertain where he ought to dig to obtain water soonest, got a stone and buried it over night in the ground, next to the hard pan. In the morning he found it quite moist, but not sufficiently so to suit his fancy. Next night he tried it in another spot, and it was found very wet on the following morning.
"There," said Patrick, "you will find water not many feet deep, and plenty of it."
Sure enough, in a few days digging,
Patrick confirmed his prediction, notwithstanding the jeers of the workmen, finding a vein which filled the well to overflowing, and rendered it exceedingly difficult to bail out the water so as to stone it.
The philosophy of the operation seems to be that as the great evaporation takes place from the surface of the earth during the night, water rises up from the depths
below to supply the loss, and accumulates
in the vicinity of the stone, often making quite a puddle.—Am. Inst. Farmer's Club.

POETRY. YOUR MISSION.

YOUR MISSION.
If you cannot on the ocean
Sail among the swiftest fleet;
Rocking on the highest billows,
Laughing at the storms you meet;
You can stand among the sailors,
Anchored yet within the bay;
You can lend a hand to help them,
As they launch their boats away.

If you are too weak to journey,
Up the mountains steep and high,
You can stand in the valley,
While the multitude go by;
You can chant in happy measure,
As they slowly pass along,
Though they may forget the singer,
They will not forget the song.

If you have not gold and silver,
Ever ready to command,
If you cannot toward the needy
Reach an ever open hand,
You can visit the afflicted,
Or the striver you can weep,
You can be a true disciple,
Sitting at the Saviour's feet.

If you cannot in the conflict
Prove yourself a soldier true,
If where fire and smoke are thickest,
There is no work for you to do;
When the battle field is silent,
You can go with silent tread,
You can bear away the wounded,
You can cover up the dead.

Do not then stand idly waiting,
For some greater work to do;
Fortune is a lazy goddess,
She will never come to you;
Go and toil in any vinyard,
Do not fear to do of care,
If you want a field of labor,
You can find it ANYWHERE.

Interesting Selections.
COTTAGE PUDDING. Three tablespoon-
fuls of melted butter, one cup of sugar,
one cup of sweet milk, one egg, one pint
of sifted flour, two teaspoons of cream tar-
tar, one of soda. Boil steadily 1 1/2 hours.

LEMON CAKE. One cup of butter,
three eggs, one of milk, four of flour,
five eggs, a small teaspoon of soda, juice
and grated peel of one lemon.

A MODEST PRINCE. It is stated that Prince Humbert, eldest son of the king of Italy was recently offered the
command of a corps of the Italian army,
and declined it. "If I command a
corps," he is reported to have said, "and
am defeated, people will say this comes of
giving important commands to inexperienced
princes. If I am victorious, my
chief of the staff will get all the credit.
I prefer commanding a division, and doing
what I am ordered."

Our virtue, is resignation.
Among the written applications for
office received by the new Collector of
New York, is the following:—"Sir, I am
twenty-five years of age. I served eight years in the United States army. I am willing to do anything; I am married;
in the field I assisted to support the Union
and the Constitution; at home I would like to support my wife and Andy John-
son."

To whom do all look up with reverence? Not to the smartest man, nor
the cleverest politician, nor the most brilliant talker, but he who in a long course
of years, tried by the extremes of prosperity and adversity, has proved himself
to the judgment of his neighbors, and to
all who have seen his life as worthy to be called wise and good.

Our fortune, the contempt of
riches.
AN INGENIOUS DEVICE. An Irish
girl told her forbidden lover she was long-
ing to possess his portrait, and intended
to obtain it. "But how if your friends
should see it?" inquired he. "Ah but
I'll tell the artist not to make it like you,
so they won't know it."

To have sixteen warts on the left
hand is a sign that you are unfortunate.
In June, 1776, a plot was discovered for the assassination of General
Washington. The Commissary-General
Curtis, in a letter on the matter closed
with, "In short the plot was a damnable
one, and I hope the Villains may receive
a punishment equal to perpetual itching
without the benefit of scratching."

It has been thought that people are
degenerating, because they do not live as long as in the days of Methuselah. But
the fact is, provisions are so high that
nobody can afford to live very long at the
current prices.
Our happiness, the hope of another
life.
The silent accomplish more than all
the noise. The tail of the rattlesnake
makes all the noise, but the head does all
the execution.
The hidden cisterns of the soul
may be filling fast with sweet tears,
while the windows through which it looks
are undimmed by a drop or a film of
moisture.

Selected Poetry.

IT IS NOT YOUR BUSINESS WHY.

Would you like to know the secrets
Of your neighbor's house and life?
How he lives and how he doesn't,
And just how he treats his wife?
How he spends his time of leisure,
Whether sorrowful or gay,
And where he goes for pleasure,
To the concert or the play?
If you wish it I will tell you—
Let me whisper to you sly—
If your neighbor is but civil,
It is not your business why.

In short, instead of prying
Into other folks' affairs,
If you do your own best justice,
You will have no time for theirs.
Be attentive to such matters
As concern yourself alone,
And whatever fortune flatters,
Let your business be your own.
One word by way of hint—
Let me whisper to you sly—
If you wish to be respected,
You must cease to be a pry.

Farmers' Department.

A CHEAP AND VALUABLE PAINT.

One of our neighbors has painted his out-houses, fences, &c., with a paint made as follows, and found it nearly as good as ordinary oil paint and vastly cheaper—
In fact the cost is scarcely anything except the labor:

"Take half a bushel of nice unslacked
lime; slack it with boiling water, cover
it during the process to keep in the steam,
and add to it a peck of clean salt, previously well dissolved in warm water; three pounds of ground rice, boiled to a thin paste, and stirred in boiling hot; half a pound of clean glue, which has been previously dissolved by first soaking it well, and then hanging it over a slow fire
in a small kettle within a large one filled with water. Add five gallons of hot water to the mixture; stir it well, and let it stand a few days covered from the dirt.
It should be put on right hot; for this purpose, it can be kept in a kettle on a portable furnace. It is said that about one pint of this mixture will cover a square yard upon the outside of a house, if properly applied.

"Brushes more or less small may be used according to the neatness of the job required. It answers as well as oil paint for wood, brick or stone, and is cheaper. It retains its brilliancy for many years. There is nothing of the kind that will compare with it, either for inside or outside walls. Coloring matters may be put in and made of any shade you like."
—Genesee Farmer.

PRESERVATION OF EGGS.

The best method I know of to preserve
eggs, is to fill the pores of the shell with fresh clean lard, so as to exclude all air.
It is my opinion that this simple and easy
method is preferable to any now in use.
Some put them in lime water; some lay them down in salt; some put them in sawdust. But the lime cooks them, so that they have a dried appearance; salt
has a similar effect, while eggs saturated with lard, as far as my experience goes,
open fresh and nice.

REMEDY FOR THE UNION MAGGOT.

In the "Practical Entomologist" for December, the fact that a small stream of boiling water poured along the drills near the roots of the onions, will destroy the maggot, it does not injure the plants, is well substantiated by different individuals.
It is very well known that vegetable organisms will often stand a degree of heat
that would destroy animal organisms.

LIME FOR GRAPES.

Dr. Kirkland, of Ohio, thinks that where lime is needed for grapes, the best form
in which to apply it is sulphate of lime, (gypsum or plaster). He would use a bushel to a bushel and a half annually per acre. The Doctor's recommendation is worthy of trial.

Incidents.

A man in this city, who had never expressed a very high opinion of "Blue Noses," married a Nova Scotia girl.
Some time after a Nova Scotia acquaintance, who knew his former opinions, said
to him:

"I suppose you have changed your mind now that you have a 'Blue Nose,'
wife."

"Not by a darned sight!" was the reply of the husband, who declined making any further explanations.

A young man who applied at the recruiting station in one of the far Western States for enlistment, was asked if he could sleep on the "point of a bayonet"
when he promptly replied by saying
"he could try it, as he had often slept on a point of whiskey, and the kind used in Lisbon would kill further than any soothing-lion he ever saw."

"Mr. R., why did you bring this suit to our court? Why did you not leave it to be decided by three honest men of the neighborhood?"

"Your honor," replied R., "I preferred that honest men shouldn't try
it."

A person in company, speaking of a gentleman not remarkable for his suavity,
said he did not like his manners.

"His manners?" cried a lady; "In-ever knew that he had any?"

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold; he oc-

have been favorably impressed with his character

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]
We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T.
Helmbold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 23 feet front, 230 feet
deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly
a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of
the merit of his articles. He retains his Office
and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this
statement from the fact that his remedies, although
advised, are
GENUINE PREPARATIONS,
And knowing that the intelligent refrain from
using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription,
much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical
preparations.

Poetry.

For the Patriot.
ODE FOR JULY 4TH, 1866.
Tune—"The Red, White and Blue."

BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WEYMOUTH.
Again to our temples are gathered,
The daughters and sons of the free,
To honor the heroes who weather'd
War's tempests by land and by sea.
The sound of the battle is over,
The victory of Freedom is won,
And men have begun to discover
That justice to man must be done.
That justice to man must be done,
That justice to man must be done;
And men have begun to discover,
That justice to man must be done.

Our Fathers their freedom defended,
But fail'd in their liberty creed;
Their sons have the charter amended,
And liberty smiles on the deed.
Then lift up our purified banner—
The Flag of the just and the brave—
No more to our nation's dishonor,
To float o'er the head of a slave.
To float o'er the head of a slave,
To float o'er the head of a slave;
No more to our nation's dishonor,
To float o'er the head of a slave.

All honor to those who contended,
To rescue our land from the foe;
The country their courage defended,
May't never ingratiate show.
Our tears for the martyrs who perished,
For freedom, for country and law;
Their memory shall ever be cherished,
And honor'd till time be no more,
And honor'd till time be no more,
And honor'd till time be no more;
Their memory shall ever be cherished,
And honor'd till time be no more.

Wave, wave in proud triumph our banner,
Alike over cottage and hall;
America's sign that her honor
Is pledged to do justice to all.
Hark, hark where our cannon's loud thunder,
And ringing bells tell from afar,
No power our nation can conquer,
Or take from our banner a star.
Or take from our banner a star,
No power our nation can star;
Or take from our banner a star.

Interesting Selections.

WEBSTER CAKE. One cup of butter,
three of sugar, five of flour, two eggs, one teaspoon of soda, spice to the taste—mix
with sour milk to the right consistency.

Hugh Peters, an English preacher
of the seventeenth century, left as a legacy to his daughter, in the year 1660, some rules of living, of which other persons would reap the benefit if they would conform to his excellent standard:

"Let thy thoughts be divine, awful,
godly; thy talk, little, honest, true; thy works profitable, holy, charitable; thy manners grave, courteous, cheerful; thy diet temperate, convenient, frugal; thy apparel sober, neat, comely; thy sleep
moderate, quiet, seasonable; thy prayers
short, devout, often, fervent; thy recreation lawful, brief, seldom; thy memory,
of death, punishment, glory."

Mrs. Smikes says the reason why the children of this generation are so bad, is owing to the wearing of balmore
boots instead of old fashioned slippers—Mothers find it too much trouble to take off their boots to whip children, so they go unpunished.

Nearly every evil has its compensation. If a man has but one foot, he never treads on his own toes.

Singleness is a mean trap, set with a mean bait, by a mean devil, to catch a mean man.

The faults and mistakes of our poor human beings are as often perpetuated by despair, as by any other one thing.

A young woman had been converted at a camp meeting. The minister had told her that if she had faith, the Lord would give her whatever she should ask in prayer. Believing implicitly in his words, she one evening retired to a grove, and fervently prayed the Lord to give her a husband. It so happened that an owl sat up in one of the trees near by,
and being disturbed gave out a "who-o-o."
She was overjoyed, and with the greatest thankfulness of spirit answered back:—
"Any body Lord, if it only be a man."

Everybody condemns scandal, yet
nothing circulates so readily.

What care high-hearted men for the sneers of men who grovel upon earth?
What would the nightingale care if the toad despised his singing? He would sing on and leave the toad to his dark shadows.

MY INDEPENDENCE DAY.

THE FOURTH OF JULY, 1866, with all the hallowed associations of the past and its promise in the throbbing present, has passed away; but it came to me so freighted with the memory of an eventful day in my life that I cannot sail smoothly on with old Tempus without first unburdening myself. Trusting that now and then some fretted traveller, as he journeys on,
may be tempted to peep into and profit by my budget, I cast it up on the highway.
I had been dining out. The meats served on the occasion were good—the wine superb, the speeches brilliant, and better than all, my own premeditated
remarks, which, by a singular coincidence,
had haunted me for the last four days,
were on the night of the 3d of July, 185—. The shop windows were gorgeous with their display of fireworks, and under the peculiar flicker and multiplicity of the gas lights, the rockets and the pin wheels,
seemed to be having a premature frolic
on their own account.

On the whole I felt peculiarly happy and amiable. A bright-eyed rosy beggar child asked me for a few pence; she was starving, she said. My heart was touched, and I threw her a handful of silver. Three young gentlemen came swaying arm in arm along the sidewalk, jostling me rather roughly. At any other time I might have been indignant; but now, were they not men and brothers? I bowed gracefully, and at the same time, I felt confident with dignity—and stepped off the curb-stone to allow them to pass. At last I reached my own door. The lock was out of order, for my key would not turn it. I rang, first the door-knob, then the bell,
violently. My next door neighbor, Mr.
Green, came to the door, in his calicowrapper.

"Ah, Mr. Green," I exclaimed, steadying the tottering door-post; "delighted to see you. Is my wife in?"
Mr. Green seized me somewhat roughly by the arm, thereby seriously inconveniencing me, (as he pinched me considerably, and led me to a neighboring door.)
"Where is your night-key, Mr. F—?" he asked gruffly.

There was about six pockets in my trousers, but I could not find the key with a polite bow.

The next instant I found myself inside,
the door closed, and the only visible link between myself and the second story swinging violently back and forward in the shape of a dying gas jet suspended from the ceiling. My effort to resuscitate the spark resulted in total darkness.

After groping about for awhile, I found
the stairway, and clutching the baluster, commenced to ascend. The feat was attended with so much difficulty that I was induced to bring the full force of my reasoning powers to bear upon the performance,
and soon discovered that I had been trying to mount the hat rack. Abandoning the enterprise with a smile of superiority over my weaker self, I proceeded
in my search, and finally planted my foot firmly upon the lowest step. Alas, step number two convinced me of my error,
and our Tommy's new velocipede toppled
over with a crash, casting me prostrate beside it. Then I saw a dash of light, and soon approaching nearer (as thought let down by a rope from the upper regions)
the graceful form of my oldest daughter Kitty. Raising and offering her arm, we ascended the stairs together. As she left the room door I turned and solemnly gave her my paternal blessing. She was visibly affected, even bursting into tears,
and exclaiming, "Oh, father!" as she turned away.

The next morning I found myself on the spare room bed with all my clothes
on, excepting my cravat and one boot.
The cravat was on the hearth, and the boot was on the mantel-piece. Guns were booming, fire-crackers were snapping, the din of powder and merry voices filled the air. I could hear my own young sters shouting out lustily in the garden,
and in the hall "first bell" was tingling
its summons through the house.

It was the 4th of July sure enough, and I as the head of the family, must present myself in suitable array at the breakfast table, and inaugurate the jollities of the day. I seized the boot in one hand and cravat in the other, and proceeded meekly
to the apartment generally used in common by Mrs. F—and myself.

"Ah, Mrs. F—," said I, bowing rather sheepishly in my attempt to pass the affair
off as a joke, "Good morning, ma'am!"

"Good morning, John," replied my wife, quietly, not a shade of crossness in her tone, "I must go down and watch the children, or they may do some mischief with their pistols and fire crackers; but come to breakfast as soon as you can."

With these words she left the room. I was almost sorry she didn't scold, or "go on," a little concerning my spree. This sad, gentle way of speaking made me uncomfortable, cough and strut about the room as I would, for I well knew the pain too frequent cause for the reproaches that never came, though I was prepared to receive them after each offence.

Cold water, however, and clean clothes braced me up somewhat, and soon after the "second bell" rang I strode majestically through the hall, severe in my dignity as the head of the household. Reaching the basement door, I paused a moment,

half dreading to meet the rows of young faces on either side of the table, and my wife's sweet pale countenance beaming so quietly over them all. The momentary weakness over, with a pompous "ahem,"
I mustered the requisite manner and entered.

There was no one at the table, and Kitty was in the room—Kitty, my usually jovious girl, now standing in a pensive attitude at the window.

It was important that my children should respect me, and I felt of course anxious to obliterate from her mind any impression of weakness I might have given her the previous night.

"This is a glorious day, Kitty!" I exclaimed, expansively—"a glorious day,
my child; the day on which we as a nation declared ourselves independent. Today we must all be jubilant, victorious!
We must not mope in the house—we must ride or sail somewhere in a great family excursion, and breathe the sunshine and the glorious air of freedom, eh?"

Kitty did not even turn her head; but I continued to speak, as I strode up and down the apartment.

Do you not enter into the spirit of the day, child? Read your history—read of George Washington, and the glorious men that suffered and died that we might be free—FREE!" I repeated, seating myself, and bringing my fist down with emphasis on the arm of the chair. "Yes, we must all celebrate this day; and now Kitty, do not be afraid to tell me where you would like to go, or how you would like to spend it."

the face, while the other members roared aloud. The boy was excused from answering any more questions.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, JUNE 30, 1866.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

FIRE. An old barn at the foot of Paines Hill belonging to Mr. Henry Hardwick of this town, was set on fire on Sunday evening last, and from scarcity of water was entirely destroyed, together with two buggies, five or six hundred of hay, a cord or more of wood, several hens, &c. One of the buggies belonged to Mr. George Floyd; the other to Mr. G. Harvey Field; the two were worth five hundred dollars. The barn and the other property were valued at as much more. There was no insurance on the property.

THE FOURTH. As time rolls on and the day approaches, the enthusiasm increases, and all hearts are uniting, under the inspiration of its associations to do reverence and honor to the occasion. We request, therefore, advertisers and others to send in their favors as early on Monday and Tuesday, as convenient, in order that those in our employ may be enabled to participate in the general jubilee, with as broad a margin for pleasure and enjoyment as circumstances will permit.

BASE BALL. There has been a BASE BALL CLUB organized in the West District under the name of the Mechanic Base Ball Club, which has elected the following officers:

President, Luther M. Bradbury.
Vice President, William Thompson.
Sec. & Treasurer, John E. Connor.
Directors, Frederick L. Jones, William Barry, James P. Jones.

HOT. We have had some pretty hot weather for the past few days—real, unmistakable summer weather; thermometer ranging from 94 to 96 in the shade. It came upon us unexpectedly, and we were taken by surprise. All encumbrances had to be thrown off for ventilation. We were steaming it at a great rate, and might have gone off in that way, but for a timely shower on Wednesday evening, which cooled the air, and revived the jaded spirits.

A BUSY SEASON. The gathering of our hay crop, which has already commenced, affords abundant employment for our farmers at present. All the appliances of modern invention are brought into requisition—and soon our fields will present as clean an appearance as the human face after it has been under the operation of Monsieur Emerson or Layton. The crop promises about an average one.

If any of our readers are about purchasing boots and shoes, we know of no better place where they can find a good fit than at Curtis's Shoe Store. See advt.

PICNICS. Out-door pleasures appear now to be the order of the day. The Spiritualists hold a social gathering at Island Grove, Abington, one day this week, and we hear of others that are on the tapis. So we go.

HOME AGAIN FROM A FOREIGN SHORE. The celebrated ALLEGHIANIANS, Vocalists and Ball Players, arrived in New York per steamer Hibernia, from their European tour, where they have been very successful.

While in England, in January last, they appeared before Her Majesty the Queen and the Royal Family, at Windsor Castle.

Our music lovers will be pleased to learn that the troupe are to appear at Tremont Temple, Boston, commencing Monday, July 2nd, and continue every evening during the month. On Saturday afternoons, they give a Grand Illuminated Matinee for families and children.

We learn that Mr. Benj. F. Bass caught three blue fish and seven striped bass the other night at Black's Creek. These are excellent fish and we congratulate our friend on his good success.

SALES. Henry H. Faxon, Esq., sold at public auction, on Monday last, the estate of John Goulding for five hundred dollars, to Eleazar Frederick.

Also—the estate of Patrick Curley, for thirty three dollars, to Henry H. Faxon.

Also—the estate of Bartholomew Donahoe, for five hundred and fifty-five dollars, to Henry H. Faxon.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK. The July number of this old favorite is at hand with its wealth of embellishments, among which, are Summer Joys, a beautiful scene and an unusually splendid double page fashion plate, and numerous other illustrations, which, together with the entertaining reading matter renders it an agreeable work. This is a good time to subscribe as it is the commencement of a new volume. For sale at the Quincy Bookstore.

The Bath Times learns that Mr. Gage, Principal of the State Normal School at Farmington, is now in Massachusetts, where it is his intention to spend a large portion of the summer vacation in visiting the State Normal Schools and other literary institutions.

ACCIDENT. We learn that William H., son of Mr. John Faxon of this town, had one of his legs badly broken on Wednesday last. He was loading lumber at Neponset, when the horse started, throwing him to the ground and the team passed over him.

GAMES. D. B. Brooks & Brothers, 55 Washington street, Boston, have a fine assortment of Croquet and other games. See advertisement.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

Boston, June 28, 1866.
POLITICAL.

An important political movement is on foot at Washington. A National Convention is proposed by the friends of the Administration; meeting to be held at Philadelphia, on the fourteenth of August next. The call is endorsed by leading conservative Republicans and war Democrats, fully advocating the views of President Johnson. Among the prime movers are Senator Doolittle and Thurlow Weed. This movement is producing no small excitement at Washington. We attribute this disruption of the union republican party, to the injudicious course of a portion of the men now holding seats in the present Congress. Early in the session they commenced a warfare upon the President, to the great injury of the material interests of the country. The Boston Traveller, a strong Republican paper says of the present Congress, "With the single exception of its general course on the subject of slavery, or rather its remains, this Thirty-Ninth Congress is a contemptible concern. It has proved itself utterly unable to deal with most matters in a statesmanlike manner. We hope to see many of the foggies who are in it condemned to stay at home after next March." The ensuing Congressional elections for the next Congress will be of a most exciting character. Johnson and anti-Johnson. In New England the radical element opposed to the President's views will prevail. But the President will gain largely in the Western and Middle States. Whether right or wrong we believe Mr. Johnson honest in his views on re-construction. His talents are of the highest order as a statesman, and with unprejudiced minds his loyalty is sound to the core. His administration should be sustained, in the early restoration of all the States to the exercise of their Constitutional power in the National Government.

FOREIGN WAR.

The European news of the week is highly exciting. The famous Austria-Prussian quarrel before this has probably culminated in war. It is hard to understand clearly what the difficulties in Central Europe are. They appear to be a struggle for disputed territory between Austria and Prussia, and the adherence of the German Confederacy to Austria. The initium is between Prussia and Austria on the Schleswig-Holstein question, but Italy and other powers are likely to be involved in a general fight all round. France and perhaps England are aiming at an "armed neutrality," but when once the war begins no one can imagine the results to all Europe. In the mean time the United States will remain neutral, and in the event of a general war in Europe will reap great commercial benefits.

LOCALS.—THE CROP SEASON.

While I am writing, the thermometer stands at ninety-five degrees, which produces in a community like the city of Boston not the most pleasant sensations; business is almost at a standstill, and large numbers of our people are suffering from the heat of the sun. For several days past the heat has been intense without any evident injury to public health. The markets are well supplied with cherries, strawberries and other fruits of the season, but the prices are awfully high. From the June Report of the Commissioner on Agriculture at Washington, the prospects of the growing crops are encouraging. With the stock of wheat on hand and the substitution of corn and buckwheat for wheat, there will probably be ample supply for all our wants and enough to spare to send to Europe twice the amount of the paltry exports of last year. From a careful analysis of statistical returns, with due regard to the usual product and present losses of each State, the prospect on the first of June was for seven-tenths of a crop. We should not be surprised if it should exceed that calculation in New England.

HOME FOR LITTLE WANDERERS.

The new Matron of this popular Institution is Mrs. Harriet M. Plummer, sister of Rev. E. P. Thwing. The Boston Journal says that she brings to her work rare personal qualifications and an experience of eleven years of City Missionary labor in Boston. She enters at once upon her work.

GENERAL ASSOCIATION OF MASSACHUSETTS. This body has been in session three days at Newburyport. It represents twenty-seven local associations of Congregational ministers, having a membership of upwards of six hundred. The meetings have been large and interesting.

HIGH PRICES. Eggs are selling at twenty-four cents per dozen, and hens from $1 to $1.25. Cows which used to sell from $30 to $50 are now held at from $80 to $150. Pigs for which five dollars were given a few years since now command from twelve to twenty. Everything in the way of family subsistence is so high, that much prized luxuries have to be dispensed with altogether, except in the families of millionaires. Mechanics with large broods of children find it tough work to make both ends meet.

LIFE INSURANCE. The paragraph in our last issue respecting the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company should have been credited the Chelsea Pioneer, where the losses mentioned were paid. Mr. Jordan the State agent of this Company has been sufficiently long in the business to have paid losses to the families of Robert Rantoul, Marshall P. Wilder, Jr., and others, but Mr. E. A. Hill is the first active agent he has had in this town.

INTERESTING TO BOOTS AND SHOEWORKERS. The fall in prices, which is to be found in another column, of findings of every description; now is your opportunity to lay in a good stock of them, and at prices which will be satisfactory to all, at Curtis's Shoe Store.

For the Patriot.

Weymouth Agricultural Industrial Society
To the Publisher of the Patriot.

Permit me to say a few words through the columns of your paper in relation to the Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial Society. As this is an Association designed to develop and improve the agricultural and industrial resources of this and the neighboring towns it may be well for the public to know about its present and future designs.

Considering the brief period of its existence it certainly can be said, it has achieved much that deserves commendation. Yet, in many, perhaps in all respects, there is room for improvement. It seems desirable at the present time to have more members in the neighboring towns interested in its welfare and prosperity. By an increase of numerical strength it would receive more financial strength, and would soon be without a rival association of its kind in this locality, perhaps in the State.

The Directors of the Society have appointed responsible agents in several of the towns in this vicinity whose business will be to solicit and receive subscriptions for stock at ten dollars per share. Thus, at a very modest sum (accessible to those even of moderate means) a person may become an owner in the property belonging to the Society, and be entitled to the privileges which the by-laws and rules of the Association allow, beside contributing for an object which cannot fail when experience shall have taught the ways of improvement, of being a great benefit to the public. The following gentlemen will act as agents in their respective towns, for the Society, by authority from the Board of Directors:

It is earnestly hoped that the efforts of these gentlemen, with the untiring labors of the officers of the Society will meet with success in increasing the number of its members. We would not be understood as being fearful of any calamity to the Society even if its present condition continues. But we do not forget the adage: "The more the merrier."

Ample provision has been made in the list of premiums and gratuities offered to contributors to all departments of the Annual Fair which will take place September 12th and 20th, 1866. They are increased a large percentage over those offered last year. Other arrangements will be in proportion, and no pains will be spared to make the exhibition satisfactory to all who may visit.

There will be a "Trial of Speed" of horses on the grounds of the Society, July 4, 1866, commencing at 1 o'clock, P. M., precisely.

PURSE OF $100.—To horses that have never beaten 2-45.

PURSE OF $50.—To horses that have never beaten 2-50.

PURSE OF $25.—To horses that have never beaten 3-10 to harness.

The best horses in this locality are now entered for these races, and those who enjoy amusement and sport on the anniversary of National Independence will do well to patronize.

Admission fee, 25 cents.
I will not occupy more space in your paper at present, but will forward notes occasionally. Yours, J. M. W.
South Weymouth, June 25th, 1866.

DIVIDENDS. The Old Colony and Newport Railway Company have declared a semi-annual dividend of four per cent., payable on and after July 2d. The Steamboat Company connected with this line pays a semi-annual dividend of five per cent.

NEW STEAMBOAT LINE. The Fall River Monitor says it is now an established fact that the steamer Empire State and her consort will form a new line from that city to New York on or about the 1st of July. They are to run in connection with the Dighton and Somerset Railroad.

We learn that the Hancock Club are making arrangements to have the Quincy Brass Band give a few out door Concerts, during the coming month, on the balcony of Goodnow's building. The first will probably be given next week.

The prompt manner in which the attempted Fenian invasion of Canada was quelled by the Federal Government has given great satisfaction in England. The London Times eulogizes the good faith, the friendliness, the sincerity and the regard for mutual obligations which have prompted these energetic and decisive measures. The American Government have acted in a manner which even exceeds anything that could reasonably have been expected from the most friendly nation.

The article then expresses gratification that such distinguished officers as Generals Grant and Meade should have been sent to the scene, and says: "These energetic acts of genuine friendship will be long and cordially remembered. The Fenians are almost entitled to thanks for having given the Americans an occasion for displaying their friendliness and good feeling."

Much misunderstanding has heretofore existed in the minds of the public in relation to the stamp duty upon a receipt for a check in payment of a debt of over twenty dollars. The letters which we print below, addressed to Deputy Collector Williamson of the 3d District will settle the point:

TO THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Office of Internal Revenue,
WASHINGTON June 18, 1866.

SIR: I reply to your letter of the 15th instant, that if a check is received as a payment of money, or in payment of a debt due, the receipt given therefor is chargeable with a stamp duty of two cents, if the amount exceeds twenty dollars.

Dr. Schroder says, "I have seen the Cholera in all its forms, and seen the effect of ice, alcohol, opium, &c., and none of them are to be relied upon. I have used this mixture with perfect success when the patient has been seen early."

Dr. Cox of New York, when the Cholera was, rife there, said, "If a person has a diarrhoea, he already has the Cholera, and a remedy should be administered immediately, not wait until he is seized

MAIDENS' EYES.

Annie's eyes are like the night,
Nell's like the morning gray,
Fanny's like the gleaming light,
Hill's are sunny as the day;
Bright—dark—blue—gray,
I could kiss them night and day;
Gray—blue—dark—bright—
Morning, evening, noon and night.

Annie's brow's arched like the sky,
Nell's is white without a spot,
Hill's is as a palace high,
Fanny's lowly like a cot;
High—arched—low—white,
I could kiss them day and night;
White—low—arched—high,
Kiss them night and day could I.

Annie's lips are warm and bright,
Fanny's free and full of play,
Hill's are sweetest out of sight,
Nell's are always in the way;
Bright—warm—sweet—play,
I could kiss them night and day;
Play—sweet—warm—bright,
All the day and all the night.

Farmers' Department.

CLOVER.

The Ploughman says, "Clover should be cut early, before it has turned brown and become hard. The mode of curing it differs essentially from that of the grasses proper. We spread and dry the natural grasses as rapidly as possible, and some farmers dry them as much as possible, and lose half their value in doing it. Not so with clover. Experience has proved that this method is not applicable to clover. It takes longer to cure it properly, and it is a positive injury to expose it long to a scorching sun, where its juicy leaves would soon turn brown and lose much of their sweetness, when loss in handling from the extreme brittleness of the dry plant would be inevitable. This loss must be guarded against with care, and the method of curing in the cock has been adopted with success and is now almost universally practiced by the best farmers."

A farmer writing from Worcester County, says, "I prefer to mow clover when it is dry, free from dew, let it wilt, and the same day it is mown, fork it into cocks which will weigh from forty to fifty pounds when fit for the barn. Do not rake and roll it, as that process will compress it too much. According to the weather and my own convenience I let it stand—it will settle, and turn the rain very well, and will answer to put into the mow while the heads and stalks are yet green and fresh. When fit to cart, the stalks, although green, will be found to be desiccated or nearly so of sap—the sap has candied and the clover will keep. On the day of carting turn the cocks over, expose the bottom to the sun an hour or so, and to a ton of hay add from four to six quarts of salt in the mow—Good clover—not rank—cured in this way, I consider to be far preferable to Timothy for milk cows. It will keep up the quantity of milk while Timothy will diminish it."

TAKE CARE OF THE CHICKENS.

It is a common thing for farmers to complain that they get but little benefit from their chickens, while on many accounts they are a positive nuisance. The truth is, any sort of domestic animals will prove a source of embarrassment unless they are properly taken care of. Chickens need shelter, clean quarters, lime, gravel, chopped feed, (meat, grain and vegetables), and water, all regularly fed to make them thrive. If so treated they will delight your ears all winter long with the music of a significant cackle and your palate with savory eggs.

Several writers in the London Field give remedies for killing fleas on dogs—Saturate a piece of flannel with common naphtha, rub the dog well with it, and the fleas will die instantly. For a rough-coated dog use a small brush—Another says try benzole, and I'll warrant it will kill every one before it has even time to make its will. A third remedy is to rub the dog all over with salt butter and then wash with soft soap. The writer has not known it to fail in thirty years.

Incidents.

A little boy had a wooden horse, and in course of time its tail, ears and legs got knocked off, and the toy presented rather a ragged appearance. Says he one day:
"God sees everything don't he mother?"
"Yes, my child."
"Well, I guess he'll laugh, then, when he sees this horse."
"I wonder how they make Lucifer matches?" said a young married lady to her husband, with whom she was always quarreling.
"The process is very simple," said the husband, "I once made one."
"How did you manage it?"
"By leading you to the altar."

A Yankee, who went over to the mother country some time ago, was asked on coming back, how he liked Great Britain.
"Well," he said, "England was a very nice country, exceedingly fertile, well cultivated, very populous and very healthy; but," said the Yankee, "I never liked to take a morning walk after breakfast, because the country is so small, that I was always afraid of walking off the edge."

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise.

Wm. WEIGHTMAN,

(Firm of Powers & Weightman),

Manufacturing Chemist,

Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]

We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 23 feet front, 230 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his articles. He retains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of his class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,

And knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.

THESE PARTIES RESORT

To various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates.

The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE, PURE AND MAJESTIC—having Fact for its Basis, Induction for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.
